House Passes Foreign Aid Bill

$590,000,000 Is Authorized By Voice Vote

Must Be Reconciled With Senate's Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The House passed by voice vote late today its hotly-debated stop-Communism bill authorizing $590,000,000 in emergency aid to France, Italy, Austria and China.

Designed to provide stopgap assistance until the long-range "Marshall Plan" for European recovery can be put into effect, if Congress adopts it, the House bill now goes to a point conference committee which will seek to reconcile it with a Senate aid bill.

Senators have served notice in advance that they will object to any changes in their bill, which authorizes $597,000,000 the full amount requested by President Truman—and leaves China off the list of countries to be helped.

The House bill, adopted after six days of debate that included a sharp political controversy earlier today, differs in several other particulars from the measure which the Senate approved last week.

Representatives added amendments making President Truman responsible for easing the impact of foreign aid shipments on United States prices and supplies, and shutting off aid to any country falling under Communist domination.

No Money Appropriated

They also forbade the distribution of relief food abroad by Communist officials or organizations.

Even after Senate and House differences are ironed out, the money required remains to be appropriated. The Appropriations Committees of both houses are working on the necessary bills now.

Virtually the last obstacle to House passage of the authorization bill was removed when a proposal to allce $60,000,000 for China from the measure was shouted down.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) named Reps. Eaton (R-NJ), Vorys (R-Ohio),Mundt (R-SD) Bloom (D-NY) and Knee (D-Va) to work with the Senate conference committee, headed by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), on differences between the two bills.

Just before passing its bill, the House rejected by voice vote a motion by Rep. Glen D. Johnson (D-Okla) to send the bill back to committee—that is, to kill it. It likewise turned down a proposal by Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) to turn the aid program over to the United Nations.

Representatives adopted, however, by a narrow 78 to 73 margin an amendment requiring the government to make sure that the wheat shipments to foreign countries do not deplete American stocks of the bread grain below a minimum level.

Would Sell Surplus Food

The House also directed, by an overwhelming voice vote, that government agencies sell for relief purposes abroad the surplus food they have bought under price-support operations. This would add an estimated $50,000,000 to the cost of the aid program.

Andrei Gromyko To Move To Park Avenue Mansion

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, is moving to a mansion on Park Avenue.

Gromyko, chief Russian delegate to the United Nations, is giving up modest quarters in a brown brick apartment on New York's upper West Side for the red-carpeted Marble home at the corner of Park Avenue and 68th Street.

Gromyko's new place is the old residence of the late Percy Pyne, financier. The Russians purchased it last June 30. The price was around $1,000,000, according to well-advised real estate circles.

10 Jews Are Slain In Arab Ambush Of Truck Convoy

Middle East Death Toll Rises To 287

JERUSALEM, Dec. 11 (AP)—Arab gunmen ambushed a five-truck convoy on the Jerusalem-Hebron road tonight and killed 10 Jewish settlers and wounded three others before Jewish policemen drove them off in a running gun battle.

Forty persons were killed in fighting throughout Palestine today—the highest single day's toll since the United Nations decision to partition the Holy Land touched off the battling November 29.

In the 12 days the strife has raged, 171 persons have been killed in Palestine and 287 in the entire Middle East, an Associated Press count showed.

Arabs Use Machine Guns

Victims of the attack on the convoy were members of the Hatoel and Hamizrachie settlements in the vicinity, endowed with American funds. The Arabs, using machine guns, were reported to have raided the group from three sides near the villages of Kfar and Zion. An official announcement said four of the 10 killed were legally armed members of the Jewish settlement police force.

Jews and Arabs shot it out today in the winding streets of Jerusalem's old walled city within sight of the Holy Sepulcher and battled each other in bloody engagements in Haifa, where the day's death toll was eight.

Haifa sources said fighting broke out again there tonight with a counterattack by the Jewish defense militia Hagana against the port city's Arab quarter, Wadi Rushmiya. These sources said a dozen Arabs were wounded by bombs and gunfire. Hagana reported it had blown up a house from which Arabs directed fire that killed two persons yesterday.

Another Hagana report said five Jews from the Mishmar Hanegev settlement in the Southern Desert, missing since they left on a water pipeline patrol last night, were found dead today.

Ring Of Steel

Accounts from the capitals of neighboring Arab nations said the welding of a ring of steel around Palestine had begun in earnest. Arab desert fighters were reported moving up to Palestine's borders and also assuming positions for the attempted encirclement of Jewish communities in the Holy Land.

Huge Scio, Ohio Pottery Plant Is Swept By Fire

SCIO, O., Dec. 11 (AP) — A multi-million dollar plant that rose from the dream of an unemployed pottery worker with 11 cents in his pocket was wrecked by fire today.

Firemen from seven towns battled the blaze that enveloped the plant of the Scio Pottery Company, extinguishing it only after resorting to emergency pumping of a nearby creek and pond.

By that time, only the outer rim of one of the plant, which claimed to the the world's largest producers of plain white pottery ware, was left standing. A company spokesman said damage might reach $1,000,000.

Scio Pottery was started by L. P. Reese in 1932 when this town was on the edge of economic collapse and Reese and some other unemployed pottery workers had come upon a broken-down plant.

Youth Convicted In Brick Slaying

BALTIMORE, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Charles F. Masek, 17-year-old high-school student, was convicted of manslaughter today by Judge Joseph Sherbow after trial for the brick-bat slaying of Mrs. Mina Taylor, 32-year-old New York divorcee.

Sentence was suspended pending filing of motions by defense attorneys.

Masek, weeping during part of his testimony, said he struck the woman after she turned and scratched him when he was walking down the street behind her last August 17.

Dr Jean Cushing, Johns Hopkins psychiatrist, testified that Masek told him under hypnosis that he killed the woman in self-defense.

Assistant State's Attorney John C. Weiss had asked a second degree verdict.

Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, court psychiatrist, said he thought Masek's act was that "of a sick individual."

Ministers Agree To Raise Ceiling Of Reich Industry

Set At 11,500,000 Ingot Tons Of Steel

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers Conference agreed conditionally tonight on a new and higher ceiling of industry for Germany subject to eventual accord on economic unification and adequate security guarantees.

The ministers fixed the ceilings at 11,500,000 ingot tons of steel production a year, conference sources said. In so doing they acceded to a demand from French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault that a definite figure be established.

The other powers had proposed placing the level at between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 tons.

France Tentatively Agrees

The present level of steel production in the economically merged British and American zones is 10,700,000 tons. The level previously agreed upon in March, 1946, for all Germany, was 5,800,000 tons. The wartime level has been estimated at about 23,000,000 to 26,000,000 tons. Steel production is the standard against which other German production is fixed.

The informants said Bidault made it clear France would agree to the new German industrial ceiling on two main conditions: That the Ruhr be placed under special international economic control, and that the Allies conclude a pact to prevent German rearmament.

France also insisted on a provision whereby definite percentages of German coal, coke and power production would be earmarked for export to Germany's neighbors. This was adopted by the ministers with the percentage figure left open, briefing officers said.

Marshall-Bevin Stand

United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin refused to commit themselves completely to any agreement on details of economic clauses of the projected German peace treaty pending agreement of the Big Four on the main issue of economic unity.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov asked the ministers to adopt

GOP Economic Plan Approved By Committee

Bill Is Inadequate, President Asserts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — President Truman today labelled Republican anti-inflation plans as inadequate but the House Banking Committee disregarded his plea for compulsion-backed controls and approved the four-point GOP voluntary program by a vote of 14 to 9.

Thus the stage was set for a showdown next week on the two conflicting theories as to the best way to curb the rising cost of living.

The President told his news conference today anything less than the 10-point administration program would fail to do the job and he wanted it adopted to the letter. This called for standby power to impose wage-price controls and rationing.

The Republican measure, introduced by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), stresses voluntary action. It provides generally that, without being held liable for violation of anti-trust laws, industry and agriculture can make agreements to share transportation, save grain in the production of livestock, divide up scarce goods, and regulate speculation on the commodity exchanges.

House Debate Due Monday

The bill also would continue the President's control powers over exports as well as his authority to allocate transportation facilities. Another provision would seek to tighten bank credits by increasing the amount of gold reserves required to be held by federal reserve banks to support currency issued and to back up deposits of commercial banks. The Wolcott bill would be effective until March 1, 1949.

Wolcott told reporters the measure probably would be given the Rules Committee for clearance tomorrow so debate can open in the House Monday.

Only by a switch in Democratic votes was the measure saved from defeat in the Banking Committee.

The bill failed on the first go-round by a 13 to 12 vote, with Democrats solidly opposing the Republican substitute.

Thereupon Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.) withdrew his vote, leaving a 12-12 tie. Rep. Hays (D-Ark.) then moved to reconsider, one Democrat explaining that the party did not want to prevent consideration of any legislation on the floor.

It was understood that two Republicans joined 10 Democrats in opposing the bill on the first go-around. But in the reconsideration, 13 Republicans and one Democrat supported the bill, with two members abstaining from voting on the final tally.

These were other highlight developments as the cost-of-living battle moved toward a climax:

1. President Truman told his news conference he will submit to Congress in a couple of days specific legislation covering proposed wage and price controls. Through Secretary of Commerce Harriman he has already pin-pointed his requests for rationing and allocation authority. He added he also expects to submit other proposals to cover all 10 points outlined in his first message to the special session.

Truman Raps GOP Proposal

The President sharply criticized the Republican proposal to relax anti-trust laws to permit voluntary industry-wide agreements aimed at curbing inflation. He said the anti-trust laws will be enforced to the limit as long as he is President.

2. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) announced the Republicans will make public a "full fledged" anti-inflation program of their own tomorrow. Taft said the Wolcott bill constitutes "only a part" of the overall GOP program which will cover the objectives of at least six of the 10 points set out in the administration program.

Pauley Asked To Explain Grain Transactions; Probe Of Stassen Charges Due

Army Dept. Official Says Deals Proper

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A congressional investigation was launched tonight into the dealings of Edwin W. Pauley, Army department official who acknowledged operating in the grain market but denied the transactions had anything to do with his official position.

Acting swiftly after Harold E. Stassen charged that government "insiders" have profited in food speculation, the Senate Appropriations Committee summoned Pauley to appear tomorrow for questioning.

A special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall, Pauley was formerly Democratic Party treasurer and figured in a hot congressional row last year when President Truman unsuccessfully sought to make him Undersecretary of the Navy.

Royall told the Senate committee today that Pauley informed him he had liquidated part of his grain holdings at "great personal loss" and would dispose of the remainder as "rapidly as possible consistent with the capital gain statute."

Royall added that Pauley has not had access to any information about Army grain buying that might be used in speculation.

Pauley Issues Statement

Pauley issued a statement tonight in which he said he has been liquidating his holdings. He described his transactions as "perfectly proper and ethical."

He struck out at what he termed "loose charges" that trading in commodities has boosted prices, saying that inflation is due to war and its economic consequences.

Duriing the day there were these other developments:

1. House Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, promised an investigation of the charges made by Stassen, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

2. Rep. MacKinnon (R-Minn) introduced a resolution authorizing the House Banking Committee to investigate officials connected with food purchases that might have affected prices. He said it was aimed at any who might have profited on specuation using inside information.

3. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) wrote Secretary Royall asking him to supply names of anyone in his department connected with a sugar buying program "who was also dealing in sugar futures." He asked that the information be turned over to the Senate Expenditures Committee. McCarthy did not explain his reference to those dealing in sugar futures.

FACES QUIZ—Edwin W. Pauley (above), special assistant to the Secretary of War, will be questioned today by the Senate Appropriations Committee regarding his grain market transactions.

3 Survivors Of Air Crash Are Rescued

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Dec. 11 (AP) — Three of the six survivors of an ATC transport plane crash which claimed the lives of 28 others at midnight Tuesday were evacuated by helicopter tonight from icy Labrador wastelands to Goose Bay, Newfoundland.

A Westover Field Army spokesman said he had no names and no report on the condition of the survivors, who were trapped in the forested wilderness north of the Royal Canadian Air Force field at Goose Bay.

The first three evacuated were admitted to a hospital at Goose Bay. Darkness caused abandonment of further helicopter ferrying. Westover officers understood the other survivors and the bodies of the 23 victims would be taken out tomorrow.

Ground rescue parties, who reported they were able to move only one mile an hour over the ice, bog and heavy brush, also will be flown out of the area.

Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, commander of the Atlantic division of Air Transport Command, who flew to Goose Bay yesterday to direct rescue operations, returned here tonight aboard a cargo plane, but had no comment.

Three doctors were flown through a snow and sleet storm to give emergency treatment before the men are evacuated by helicopter to Goose Bay.

The rough, rocky terrain made it impossible to bring the six survivors out by land and preparations were being made to fly them out to a hospital at Goose Bay.

One helicopter — sent to Labrador when the crash was first reported — has been making relay hops during the day. A B-17 dropped medical supplies and food.

Visibility was only fair and fears were expressed that bad weather, preventing further flights, might close in before the men could be evacuated.

Tension Mounts In Rome; Strike Violence Feared

20,000 Communists Reported Gathering

ROME, Friday, Dec. 12 (AP)—Hints that violence would begin soon and an unofficial police report that 20,000 Communist partisans from the north were gathering in Rome were heard early today as the capital and province's paralyzing general strike entered its second day.

Only a few disturbances were reported the first 24 hours of the leftist-led strike, the chief one occurring when 10 riot squad jeeps and two weapon carriers charged over curbs in the Plazza Colonna and dispersed a large crowd.

A well-informed source said Rome's public security forces had been bolstered by the addition of from 12,000 to 15,000, including detachments of the three military services and special riot police from Naples. The Interior Ministry would not comment on the report.

Strike-Breaking Attempt Predicted

The Communist-controlled Chamber of Labor, which called the strike, said late last night it had received information that "neo-Fascist" groups would make an attempt today to break the strike. The chamber added ominously that it would not "be responsible for the consequences."

One unconfirmed report heard in Rome today was that about 120 half-ton trucks owned by private operators would run under police protection on six strike-bound bus routes later in the day.

Partisan headquarters and the Interior Ministry said they "knew nothing" of the unofficial police report that the Communist partisans were arriving — traveling in trains running on schedule.

The reported, but unconfirmed, increase in the security forces would bring Rome's total police protection to about 67,000.

Government Terms Rejected

Day-long hopes of an early end of the strike, the first general walkout in Rome since pre-Fascist days, were thrown down yesterday by the Chamber of Labor in a strongly-worded communique which threatened "energetic methods of battle" if the government did not release all arrested strikers.

The chamber voted to reject government terms for winter unemployment relief in Rome and province, decided to continue the walk-

Big Transport Explodes Near Memphis, Tenn.

Victims Presumably Military Personnel

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 11 (AP)—Twenty persons were killed tonight when an Army C-47 plane exploded in the air, cut a swath through a small wood, and crashed in an open sage field near Municipal Airport.

Col. Donald K. Fargo, commanding officer of the 468th AAF Base Unit, announced that all 20 aboard, presumably military personnel, were killed. It was a transient plane en route from El Paso, Tex., to Memphis, he said.

The crash occurred about two miles south of the airport near the Tennessee-Mississippi state line.

All available ambulances were rushed to the scene—some three-fourths of a mile from the nearest road.

G. V. White said he saw a flash in the air, then heard an explosion and saw the plane crash within two seconds some two miles from his residence.

Cause Not Determined

The Army said the cause of the accident had not been determined. Identification of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The mutilated bodies of the victims were taken first to the morgue of Kennedy Veterans Hospital here for identification, and then were sent to private funeral homes.

Col. Fargo said the plane's home base was Aberdeen, Md., but that it made its last stop at El Paso, Tex.

Col. W. M. Prince, executive officer at Biggs Field in El Paso, said the C-47 stopped there for service this morning on a return flight from the West Coast.

Robert Hall, whose home is some two and a half miles from the scene of the crash, said he heard one of the plane's engines "laboring real loud" and looked up in time to see a "flash in the sky" as the craft smashed through the treetops on the hillside.

The crash "sounded solid—like dynamite," according to another nearby resident, David Frank, a machinist. He said it rattled the windows in his house.

Wreckage Is Scattered

Large pieces of smouldering wreckage were strewn for about a fourth of a mile. The plane took the top out of several trees in the wood and then twisted into the clearing.

Hundreds of persons flocked to the out-of-the way scene but Army personnel soon blocked them off from the field.

Fargo said names of the dead would be announced at the Adjutant General's office in Washington. He estimated it would take until about 4 p. m. (CST) tomorrow for the information to clear.

The isolated location delayed rescue work and ambulances were still hauling bodies away four hours after the crash, which the Army said occurred at 6:05 p. m. (CST).

B-29 Is Crash-Landed

MEDICAL LAKE, Wash., Dec. 11. (AP)—An Air Force B129 crash-landed in a field two miles north of here tonight but its crew of 10 escaped serious injury, the Spokane airfield reported.

Dewey Fears Truman Would Be Incompetent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (INS—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared tonight that Congress should grant President Truman powers to deal with the cost of living crisis but said he feared Mr. Truman would be incompetent to use them.

Dewey made his statement in an address to 102 Republicans members of Congress from New York and at least 20 other states gathered at a banquet in his honor.

The New York Governor, who remained unannounced as a candidate for renomination as the GOP presidential choice in 1948, covered the international situation in his address.

Actress Madge Meredith Convicted For Kidnap-Beating Of Ex-Manager

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 (INS)—Pixie-faced Film Actress Madge (The Lure) Meredith was convicted on five counts today for the kidnap-beating of her former manager, Nick (The Greek) Gianaclis.

She faces from 10 years to life in prison, but despite this the young screen player declared as she heard the guilty verdict returned:

"Well, no matter what my sentence may be, I am no worse off than I was under the influence of that domineering Greek."

The actress' three male co-defendants were found guilty on from one to four counts.

Miss Meredith and her young nurseryman friend, Albert Tucker, were convicted of kidnaping, two counts of assault with a deadly weapon, possession of a blackjack and conspiracy to commit kidnaping, robbery, and violation of the deadly weapons act.

Daon Klinkenberg, a cook, was found guilty on two counts of assault, one count of possession of a blackjack and conspiracy.

James Hatfield, a former Beverly Hills policeman, was convicted of possession of a blackjack only, but even that carries a penalty of one to five years.

The actress, Tucker and Klinkenberg face possible life sentences on the conspiracy conviction.

The state charged at her trial that she hired her three co-defendants to kidnap and beat Gianaclis because he could no longer do anything for her and that she was trying to "get rid" of him.

Atomic Plant Workers Accept 10-Cent Increase

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 11. (INS)—Settlement was reached today in the wage dispute between management and employes at the Carbon and Carbide Chemicals Corporation plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The union's acceptance of a 10-cent-an-hour increase instead of their earlier 25-cent-an-hour demand affects nearly 3,000 members of the CIO-Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers' Union.

The union had threatened to strike at midnight Tuesday on expiration of the old contract if a settlement had not been reached.

The strike was postponed when government officials stepped in to ask that there be no work interruption at the vital atomic plant.

Five Killed, One Missing In Anthracite Mine Blast

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—Two gas explosions 1,000 feet underground in an Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite mine today killed at least five men.

A sixth worker was reported missing and two others suffered critical burns in blasts at the Lehigh Coal Company's colliery three miles from the heart of Wilkes-Barre.

Some of the 200 diggers employed in other sections of the rambling workings were knocked down but walked out safely.

The company identified the dead as Stephen Sillup, 47; Frank Chudlio, 55; Ignatz Skzynecki, 57; and Roger Jones, 41. The injured were Edmund Orjeski, 42; John Gasper, 25; Casper Pulak, 24, and Casper Pulak, 24.

There was no imediate explanation as to how the gas was ignited. The United States Mines Department reported the colliery last inspected in June and several earlier recommendations repeated for improved safety. Inspectors, however, reported no particularly hazardous conditions.

Gola said he joined others scurrying for safety after the explosions but decided to return with rescue crews to the blasted section where eight or 10 men were working.

"We found the bodies of four men sprawled on the floor of the gangway." he said. "Some timbers which had been torn loose by the blast lay across the bodies. x x x

"Car rails were twisted and wires were knocked down but there didn't seem to be any fire burning."

Bomb Shelter Where Hitler Hid Out During Fall Of Berlin Is Blown Up

BERLIN, Dec. 11 (AP) — The commodious bomb shelter where Adolf Hitler hid out during the fall of Berlin was blown up today in the ruined garden of the wrecked Reichschancellory.

German police said Russian demolition squads set off a charge in the "Fuehrerbunker" as part of a program of destroying German fortifications. The Russians themselves made no announcement.

In the steel-and-concrete shelter, British intelligence reports say, Hitler and his long-time mistress, Eva Braun, wed and died as suicides on April 30, 1945. Then they were cremated, the British say.

The Russians discouraged publicity about the demolition. Richard Kasischke, Associated Press correspondent, going to the bunker in early afternoon to ask permission to photograph the explosion, was shot at by a Soviet sentry. He was not hurt.

The bunker, a postwar Berlin tourist drawing card, was about a 30-second run from the Chancellory veranda. Some 15 feet of its concrete roof showed above earth.

Three flights of steps led down into a small reception hall in the shelter. Inside were several rooms, including one for conferences, separate bedroms for Hitler and Eva Braun, a connecting bath and a sizable dining room.

There was a complicated air-conditioning system with a concrete-encased vent rising in the garden a few feet from the entrance. There also was an underground passage to the bunker from the Chancellory.

For months the shelter had been flooded with water. Thousands of Allied soldiers had scribbled their names on the walls in English, French and Russian.

Youth Convicted In Brick Slaying

BALTIMORE, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Charles F. Masek, 17-year-old high-school student, was convicted of manslaughter today by Judge Joseph Sherbow after trial for the brick-bat slaying of Mrs. Mina Taylor, 32-year-old New York divorcee.

Sentence was suspended pending filing of motions by defense attorneys.

Masek, weeping during part of his testimony, said he struck the woman after she turned and scratched him when he was walking down the street behind her last August 17.

Dr Jean Cushing, Johns Hopkins psychiatrist, testified that Masek told him under hypnosis that he killed the woman in self-defense.

Assistant State's Attorney John C. Weiss had asked a second degree verdict.

Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, court psychiatrist, said he thought Masek's act was that "of a sick individual."

Ministers Agree To Raise Ceiling Of Reich Industry

Set At 11,500,000 Ingot Tons Of Steel

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers Conference agreed conditionally tonight on a new and higher ceiling of industry for Germany subject to eventual accord on economic unification and adequate security guarantees.

The ministers fixed the ceilings at 11,500,000 ingot tons of steel production a year, conference sources said. In so doing they acceded to a demand from French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault that a definite figure be established.

The other powers had proposed placing the level at between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 tons.

France Tentatively Agrees

The present level of steel production in the economically merged British and American zones is 10,700,000 tons. The level previously agreed upon in March, 1946, for all Germany, was 5,800,000 tons. The wartime level has been estimated at about 23,000,000 to 26,000,000 tons. Steel production is the standard against which other German production is fixed.

The informants said Bidault made it clear France would agree to the new German industrial ceiling on two main conditions: That the Ruhr be placed under special international economic control, and that the Allies conclude a pact to prevent German rearmament.

France also insisted on a provision whereby definite percentages of German coal, coke and power production would be earmarked for export to Germany's neighbors. This was adopted by the ministers with the percentage figure left open, briefing officers said.

Marshall-Bevin Stand

United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin refused to commit themselves completely to any agreement on details of economic clauses of the projected German peace treaty pending agreement of the Big Four on the main issue of economic unity.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov asked the ministers to adopt

GOP Economic Plan Approved By Committee

Bill Is Inadequate, President Asserts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — President Truman today labelled Republican anti-inflation plans as inadequate but the House Banking Committee disregarded his plea for compulsion-backed controls and approved the four-point GOP voluntary program by a vote of 14 to 9.

Thus the stage was set for a showdown next week on the two conflicting theories as to the best way to curb the rising cost of living.

The President told his news conference today anything less than the 10-point administration program would fail to do the job and he wanted it adopted to the letter. This called for standby power to impose wage-price controls and rationing.

The Republican measure, introduced by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), stresses voluntary action. It provides generally that, without being held liable for violation of anti-trust laws, industry and agriculture can make agreements to share transportation, save grain in the production of livestock, divide up scarce goods, and regulate speculation on the commodity exchanges.

House Debate Due Monday

The bill also would continue the President's control powers over exports as well as his authority to allocate transportation facilities. Another provision would seek to tighten bank credits by increasing the amount of gold reserves required to be held by federal reserve banks to support currency issued and to back up deposits of commercial banks. The Wolcott bill would be effective until March 1, 1949.

Wolcott told reporters the measure probably would be given the Rules Committee for clearance tomorrow so debate can open in the House Monday.

Only by a switch in Democratic votes was the measure saved from defeat in the Banking Committee.

The bill failed on the first go-round by a 13 to 12 vote, with Democrats solidly opposing the Republican substitute.

Thereupon Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.) withdrew his vote, leaving a 12-12 tie. Rep. Hays (D-Ark.) then moved to reconsider, one Democrat explaining that the party did not want to prevent consideration of any legislation on the floor.

It was understood that two Republicans joined 10 Democrats in opposing the bill on the first go-around. But in the reconsideration, 13 Republicans and one Democrat supported the bill, with two members abstaining from voting on the final tally.

These were other highlight developments as the cost-of-living battle moved toward a climax:

1. President Truman told his news conference he will submit to Congress in a couple of days specific legislation covering proposed wage and price controls. Through Secretary of Commerce Harriman he has already pin-pointed his requests for rationing and allocation authority. He added he also expects to submit other proposals to cover all 10 points outlined in his first message to the special session.

Truman Raps GOP Proposal

The President sharply criticized the Republican proposal to relax anti-trust laws to permit voluntary industry-wide agreements aimed at curbing inflation. He said the anti-trust laws will be enforced to the limit as long as he is President.

2. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) announced the Republicans will make public a "full fledged" anti-inflation program of their own tomorrow. Taft said the Wolcott bill constitutes "only a part" of the overall GOP program which will cover the objectives of at least six of the 10 points set out in the administration program.

Atomic Plant Workers Accept 10-Cent Increase

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 11. (INS)—Settlement was reached today in the wage dispute between management and employes at the Carbon and Carbide Chemicals Corporation plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The union's acceptance of a 10-cent-an-hour increase instead of their earlier 25-cent-an-hour demand affects nearly 3,000 members of the CIO-Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers' Union.

The union had threatened to strike at midnight Tuesday on expiration of the old contract if a settlement had not been reached.

The strike was postponed when government officials stepped in to ask that there be no work interruption at the vital atomic plant.

Pauley Asked To Explain Grain Transactions; Probe Of Stassen Charges Due

Army Dept. Official Says Deals Proper

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A congressional investigation was launched tonight into the dealings of Edwin W. Pauley, Army department official who acknowledged operating in the grain market but denied the transactions had anything to do with his official position.

Acting swiftly after Harold E. Stassen charged that government "insiders" have profited in food speculation, the Senate Appropriations Committee summoned Pauley to appear tomorrow for questioning.

A special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall, Pauley was formerly Democratic Party treasurer and figured in a hot congressional row last year when President Truman unsuccessfully sought to make him Undersecretary of the Navy.

Royall told the Senate committee today that Pauley informed him he had liquidated part of his grain holdings at "great personal loss" and would dispose of the remainder as "rapidly as possible consistent with the capital gain statute."

Royall added that Pauley has not had access to any information about Army grain buying that might be used in speculation.

Pauley Issues Statement

Pauley issued a statement tonight in which he said he has been liquidating his holdings. He described his transactions as "perfectly proper and ethical."

He struck out at what he termed "loose charges" that trading in commodities has boosted prices, saying that inflation is due to war and its economic consequences.

Duriing the day there were these other developments:

1. House Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, promised an investigation of the charges made by Stassen, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

2. Rep. MacKinnon (R-Minn) introduced a resolution authorizing the House Banking Committee to investigate officials connected with food purchases that might have affected prices. He said it was aimed at any who might have profited on specuation using inside information.

3. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) wrote Secretary Royall asking him to supply names of anyone in his department connected with a sugar buying program "who was also dealing in sugar futures." He asked that the information be turned over to the Senate Expenditures Committee. McCarthy did not explain his reference to those dealing in sugar futures.

FACES QUIZ—Edwin W. Pauley (above), special assistant to the Secretary of War, will be questioned today by the Senate Appropriations Committee regarding his grain market transactions.

3 Survivors Of Air Crash Are Rescued

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Dec. 11 (AP) — Three of the six survivors of an ATC transport plane crash which claimed the lives of 28 others at midnight Tuesday were evacuated by helicopter tonight from icy Labrador wastelands to Goose Bay, Newfoundland.

A Westover Field Army spokesman said he had no names and no report on the condition of the survivors, who were trapped in the forested wilderness north of the Royal Canadian Air Force field at Goose Bay.

The first three evacuated were admitted to a hospital at Goose Bay. Darkness caused abandonment of further helicopter ferrying. Westover officers understood the other survivors and the bodies of the 23 victims would be taken out tomorrow.

Ground rescue parties, who reported they were able to move only one mile an hour over the ice, bog and heavy brush, also will be flown out of the area.

Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, commander of the Atlantic division of Air Transport Command, who flew to Goose Bay yesterday to direct rescue operations, returned here tonight aboard a cargo plane, but had no comment.

Three doctors were flown through a snow and sleet storm to give emergency treatment before the men are evacuated by helicopter to Goose Bay.

The rough, rocky terrain made it impossible to bring the six survivors out by land and preparations were being made to fly them out to a hospital at Goose Bay.

One helicopter — sent to Labrador when the crash was first reported — has been making relay hops during the day. A B-17 dropped medical supplies and food.

Visibility was only fair and fears were expressed that bad weather, preventing further flights, might close in before the men could be evacuated.

20,000 Communists Reported Gathering

ROME, Friday, Dec. 12 (AP)—Hints that violence would begin soon and an unofficial police report that 20,000 Communist partisans from the north were gathering in Rome were heard early today as the capital and province's paralyzing general strike entered its second day.

Only a few disturbances were reported the first 24 hours of the leftist-led strike, the chief one occurring when 10 riot squad jeeps and two weapon carriers charged over curbs in the Plazza Colonna and dispersed a large crowd.

A well-informed source said Rome's public security forces had been bolstered by the addition of from 12,000 to 15,000, including detachments of the three military services and special riot police from Naples. The Interior Ministry would not comment on the report.

Strike-Breaking Attempt Predicted

The Communist-controlled Chamber of Labor, which called the strike, said late last night it had received information that "neo-Fascist" groups would make an attempt today to break the strike. The chamber added ominously that it would not "be responsible for the consequences."

One unconfirmed report heard in Rome today was that about 120 half-ton trucks owned by private operators would run under police protection on six strike-bound bus routes later in the day.

Partisan headquarters and the Interior Ministry said they "knew nothing" of the unofficial police report that the Communist partisans were arriving — traveling in trains running on schedule.

The reported, but unconfirmed, increase in the security forces would bring Rome's total police protection to about 67,000.

Government Terms Rejected

Day-long hopes of an early end of the strike, the first general walkout in Rome since pre-Fascist days, were thrown down yesterday by the Chamber of Labor in a strongly-worded communique which threatened "energetic methods of battle" if the government did not release all arrested strikers.

The chamber voted to reject government terms for winter unemployment relief in Rome and province, decided to continue the walk-

Big Transport Explodes Near Memphis, Tenn.

Victims Presumably Military Personnel

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 11 (AP)—Twenty persons were killed tonight when an Army C-47 plane exploded in the air, cut a swath through a small wood, and crashed in an open sage field near Municipal Airport.

Col. Donald K. Fargo, commanding officer of the 468th AAF Base Unit, announced that all 20 aboard, presumably military personnel, were killed. It was a transient plane en route from El Paso, Tex., to Memphis, he said.

The crash occurred about two miles south of the airport near the Tennessee-Mississippi state line.

All available ambulances were rushed to the scene—some three-fourths of a mile from the nearest road.

G. V. White said he saw a flash in the air, then heard an explosion and saw the plane crash within two seconds some two miles from his residence.

Cause Not Determined

The Army said the cause of the accident had not been determined. Identification of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The mutilated bodies of the victims were taken first to the morgue of Kennedy Veterans Hospital here for identification, and then were sent to private funeral homes.

Col. Fargo said the plane's home base was Aberdeen, Md., but that it made its last stop at El Paso, Tex.

Col. W. M. Prince, executive officer at Biggs Field in El Paso, said the C-47 stopped there for service this morning on a return flight from the West Coast.

Robert Hall, whose home is some two and a half miles from the scene of the crash, said he heard one of the plane's engines "laboring real loud" and looked up in time to see a "flash in the sky" as the craft smashed through the treetops on the hillside.

The crash "sounded solid—like dynamite," according to another nearby resident, David Frank, a machinist. He said it rattled the windows in his house.

Wreckage Is Scattered

Large pieces of smouldering wreckage were strewn for about a fourth of a mile. The plane took the top out of several trees in the wood and then twisted into the clearing.

Hundreds of persons flocked to the out-of-the way scene but Army personnel soon blocked them off from the field.

Fargo said names of the dead would be announced at the Adjutant General's office in Washington. He estimated it would take until about 4 p. m. (CST) tomorrow for the information to clear.

The isolated location delayed rescue work and ambulances were still hauling bodies away four hours after the crash, which the Army said occurred at 6:05 p. m. (CST).

B-29 Is Crash-Landed

MEDICAL LAKE, Wash., Dec. 11. (AP)—An Air Force B129 crash-landed in a field two miles north of here tonight but its crew of 10 escaped serious injury, the Spokane airfield reported.

Dewey Fears Truman Would Be Incompetent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared tonight that Congress should grant President Truman powers to deal with the cost of living crisis but said he feared Mr. Truman would be incompetent to use them.

Dewey made his statement in an address to 102 Republicans members of Congress from New York and at least 20 other states gathered at a banquet in his honor.

The New York Governor, who remained unannounced as a candidate for renomination as the GOP presidential choice in 1948, covered the international situation in his address.

Actress Madge Meredith Convicted For Kidnap-Beating Of Ex-Manager

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 (INS)—Pixie-faced Film Actress Madge (The Lure) Meredith was convicted on five counts today for the kidnap-beating of her former manager, Nick (The Greek) Gianaclis.

She faces from 10 years to life in prison, but despite this the young screen player declared as she heard the guilty verdict returned:

"Well, no matter what my sentence may be, I am no worse off than I was under the influence of that domineering Greek."

The actress' three male co-defendants were found guilty on from one to four counts.

Miss Meredith and her young nurseryman friend, Albert Tucker, were convicted of kidnaping, two counts of assault with a deadly weapon, possession of a blackjack and conspiracy to commit kidnaping, robbery, and violation of the deadly weapons act.

Daon Klinkenberg, a cook, was found guilty on two counts of assault, one count of possession of a blackjack and conspiracy.

James Hatfield, a former Beverly Hills policeman, was convicted of possession of a blackjack only, but even that carries a penalty of one to five years.

The actress, Tucker and Klinkenberg face possible life sentences on the conspiracy conviction.

The state charged at her trial that she hired her three co-defendants to kidnap and beat Gianaclis because he could no longer do anything for her and that she was trying to "get rid" of him.

Five Killed, One Missing In Anthracite Mine Blast

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—Two gas explosions 1,000 feet underground in an Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite mine today killed at least five men.

A sixth worker was reported missing and two others suffered critical burns in blasts at the Lehigh Coal Company's colliery three miles from the heart of Wilkes-Barre.

Some of the 200 diggers employed in other sections of the rambling workings were knocked down but walked out safely.

The company identified the dead as Stephen Sillup, 47; Frank Chudilo, 55; Ignatz Skzynecki, 57; and Roger Jones, 41. The injured were Edmund Orjeski, 42; John Gasper, 25; Casper Pulak, 24, and Casper Pulak, 24.

There was no imediate explanation as to how the gas was ignited. The United States Mines Department reported the colliery last inspected in June and several earlier recommendations repeated for improved safety. Inspectors, however, reported no particularly hazardous conditions.

Gola said he joined others scurrying for safety after the explosions but decided to return with rescue crews to the blasted section where eight or 10 men were working.

"We found the bodies of four men sprawled on the floor of the gangway," he said. "Some timbers which had been torn loose by the blast lay across the bodies. x x x

"Car rails were twisted and wires were knocked down but there didn't seem to be any fire burning."

Bomb Shelter Where Hitler Hid Out During Fall Of Berlin Is Blown Up

BERLIN, Dec. 11 (AP) — The commodious bomb shelter where Adolf Hitler hid out during the fall of Berlin was blown up today in the ruined garden of the wrecked Reichschancellory.

German police said Russian demolition squads set off a charge in the "Fuehrerbunker" as part of a program of destroying German fortifications. The Russians themselves made no announcement.

In the steel-and-concrete shelter, British intelligence reports say, Hitler and his long-time mistress, Eva Braun, wed and died as suicides on April 30, 1945. Then they were cremated, the British say.

The Russians discouraged publicity about the demolition. Richard Kasischke, Associated Press correspondent, going to the bunker in early afternoon to ask permission to photograph the explosion, was shot at by a Soviet sentry. He was not hurt.

The bunker, a postwar Berlin tourist drawing card, was about a 30-second run from the Chancellory veranda. Some 15 feet of its concrete roof showed above earth.

Three flights of steps led down into a small reception hall in the shelter. Inside were several rooms, including one for conferences, separate bedroms for Hitler and Eva Braun, a connecting bath and a sizable dining room.

There was a complicated air-conditioning system with a concrete-encased vent rising in the garden a few feet from the entrance. There also was an underground passage to the bunker from the Chancellory.

For months the shelter had been flooded with water. Thousands of Allied soldiers had scribbled their names on the walls in English, French and Russian.

Free Economy Is Certainly No Luxury

Arnold J. Toynbee, the noted English historian, in a series of recently printed articles, argued that Soviet Russia and the United States are now so far apart, politically and economically, that another world conflict can be averted only by the intervention of a third party. Toynbee hopes that the democracies of Western Europe, led by Britain, can unite to form a third and balancing force in the world, which would work toward East-West harmony in the United Nations. He regards Sovietism as a tyranny whose triumph would mean the end of freedom of every kind. At the same time, he believes that the American system of free enterprise cannot work in European countries with urgent mass needs and meager resources.

Behind that conclusion is the familiar European assumption that the United States is uniquely able to afford the "luxury" of a free economy. It never seems to occur to these critics that America's standard of living may be largely due to that relatively free economy. It never occurs to them because they assume that capitalism in the United States is the same thing that Western Europe has tried and found wanting.

As a matter of historical fact, the capitalism of Western Europe which has been replaced by more or less planned economies differs greatly from the American economy. On the Continent, and to a large extent in Britain, capitalism developed in the form of huge combines, monopolies and international cartels. We, too, have had experience with overweening monopolies but have sought to curb them by law.

Many European critics are amazingly ignorant of the governmental economic controls in the United States.

Despite these controls, American industry and business are relatively free. Our most successful industry, the automotive, inevitably operates in big units. But the competition between them is fierce. The key to American prosperity has been high volume and high wages through mass production at declining unit costs. Europe has never understood that, or, at any rate, has not been guided by it.

If European theorists now speak of the "inevitability of Socialism" for themselves, it is because their economies have for generations been based on a false kind of capitalism. The danger in the United States is that our monopolists—and our governmental theorists and certain national labor leaders—may force our economy into a straightjacket which would compel Socialism over here as well.

In a recent poll as to why people are happy, the usual percentage had no opinion. Perhaps they are the happiest of all.

Harriman Surprised So Many People Still Eat Butter

With butter selling close to a $1 a pound in Cumberland, it is only natural that many consumers have turned to margarine, as has W. A. Harriman, Secretary of Commerce and a member of one of America's wealthiest families. He says he eats margarine and likes it.

"I recommend margarine to the American consumer," Mr. Harriman told newspapermen the other day. "I've eaten it since the war, and I can't tell the difference from butter. I'm surprised that people pay a dollar a pound for butter."

Well, a reason why people pay high prices for butter, although margarine at less than half the cost is equally tasty and nutritious, is that Federal laws —and many state laws—have been passed for the express purpose of discouraging use of margarine and giving butter-makers an undeserved advantage.

Without the discriminatory taxes, margarine could be sold to consumers at even lower prices. Without the unfair license fee you could buy yellow margarine, tinted with the same coloring matter which, at most seasons of the year, is put into butter to make it yellow.

Mr. Harriman, we venure, has never had to do the troublesome job of working coloring matter into a pound of white margarine. But most housewives who buy margarine have to do that job for themselves.

There are pure food and drug laws to prevent sale of margarine as butter. The special margarine taxes and fees are not needed. They serve no good purpose.

Here is one way Congress can do something positive to help lower the cost of living: repeal the laws that discriminate against margarine.

Hollywood announcement says old movies will be revived, indicating that ideology may be dropped from the screen for the time being.

Government's Ban On Coal Exports Will Aid Cities

The government's order banning the further export of certain grades of coal is a step taken late in the game, but not too late. It should give some measure of relief to cities which have found themselves faced with a serious coal shortage this Winter.

The ban on further export of lump and double-screened coal is not, of course, the whole answer to the coal situation. Only about 500,000 tons a month will be diverted from export to the domestic market, and this is only a small amount of what is required. But it does comprise the kind of coal most often used by domestic households in larger cities, and at this time every little bit helps.

Fortunately, Cumberland is in a better position as to coal supplies than many municipalities farther removed from coal fields. Most users of coal here have a fair supply on hand, with better than average prospects of having the bin replenished as needed. Until the government puts its export ban into effect local dealers have seen to it that domestic users were supplied with a sufficient amount to tide them over until a more plentiful supply became available.

Had the government order come several months ago, it would have been far more beneficial in that it would have permitted users to put in their entire Winter's supply at one time. The action was urged on Washington by many cities. That the Government has been responsive, even though tardily, is an encouraging and gratifying thing for those less fortunate than Cumberland.

Statesmen formerly thought of peace as license to grab a piece of another country, but Russia is never satisfied with less than the whole country.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

COMPLICATIONS IN MUMPS

MUMPS is centuries old but research workers have not given the disorder the same consideration as the more serious maladies. The cause is a filtrable virus and since this group of organisms now hold the spotlight, this disease is coming under more intensive observation.

At the present time there is much discussion about where the infection begins. Some authorities believe that it has its origin in the brain; others plug for the salivary glands. At any rate it spreads from these sites to the pancreas, reproductive organs, eyes, and ears. With such widespread involvement, the ailment should no longer be caricatured as the comical picture of a boy sitting at a window with a cloth wrapped around his swollen jowls.

The condition is most contagious during the first six days. The habitat of the virus is the saliva and from there the germs have an easy avenue of escape to the outside where they are in a position to reach others either through the air or by contamination of some article.

Susceptible individuals develop the malady from 14 to 21 days after coming into contact with a patient. The victim experiences headache, loss of appetite, chills, and a drawing sensation in the neck region. Shortly thereafter, one or more of the salivary glands swells. The structures below and in front of the ear (parotid) are most likely to be effected but those located just beneath the jaw are not immune. Frequently one side is involved first, followed in a day or two by symptoms on the other side.

As a rule the parts are slightly tender to the touch and now and then will be painful. Puffiness disappears within eight to 10 days. Since all of the glands do not begin to enlarge at the same time, the period of disability may last a longer time.

Prevention and the use of serums in treatment are moot questions as medical reports along these lines show descrepancies. The sulfonamides and antibiotics are valueless. Distress is usually controlled by applying heat or cold or one of the analgesic drugs. The mouth should be kept clean and since it is difficult to chew solid foods, fluids and gruels are advised. Rest in bed is imperative until swelling vanishes.

This management is most important in sufferers past the age of puberty because teen aged children and adults are more susceptible to complications than infants and children. In boys and young men, involvement of the reproductive glands occurs in from 16 to 30 per cent of the cases. This may lead to sterility, especially if both sides are affected.

Since this aftermath is rare in the pre-adolescent, sex hormones probably play a role, and Savran reasoned that by administering female glandular extracts to males, the effect might be nullified. The results were rather amazing, particularly when the procedure was started early. Further substantiation of this work will be necessary but it offers a possible solution to the main danger of the disease.

NEW AND OLD NAMES

L. W. writes: Is psychoneurosis the same as a nervous breakdown?

REPLY

Yes, but the term "psychoneurosis" is more scientific and is used with greater frequency.

REST AFTER HEART ATTACK

N. T. writes: How soon after coronary thrombosis can a man go back to work?

REPLY

This is an individual problem and depends upon the occupation of the individual. Most victims of this disorder remain in bed for six weeks and spend an additional recuperative period in getting their sealegs. More rest may be required if high blood pressure is present. Retirement is sometimes recommended but most men do better if they return to a less strenuous job, with more leisure and fewer responsibilities.

IT'S TRADITIONAL

C. B. writes: What causes a prostate gland in a man.

REPLY

Nature. This organ is part of the male reproductive system.

HORRIPILATION

Mrs. S. writes: Why do I develop goose pimples whenever I think of cats?

REPLY

This may be a conditioned reflex acquired through dislike or fear of these animals.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

A man in England applied for a tax cut on the grounds that his house was haunted and ghosts were reported hanging around the place, thus lowering its value.

This could have a big effect on our income tax laws if the government would only believe in ghosts.

Boris Karloff wouldn't have to pay a tax at all. . . the government would have to pay him.

It wouldn't be long before people would start haunting their own houses in order to pay less tax.

Mothers-in-law would come back in style.

And there would probably be a run on the sheet market.

And when you made out your income tax blank. . . You would have to hold a seance first.

All this would do away with accountants. Your tax returns would be filled out by ghost writers.

My brother figured a way to beat the tax entirely. . . He's getting a job in a distillery and is going to list all the spirits.

And if you didn't pay the tax. . . you wouldn't have to go to jail. . . you'd just have to sit through "Frankenstein" three times.

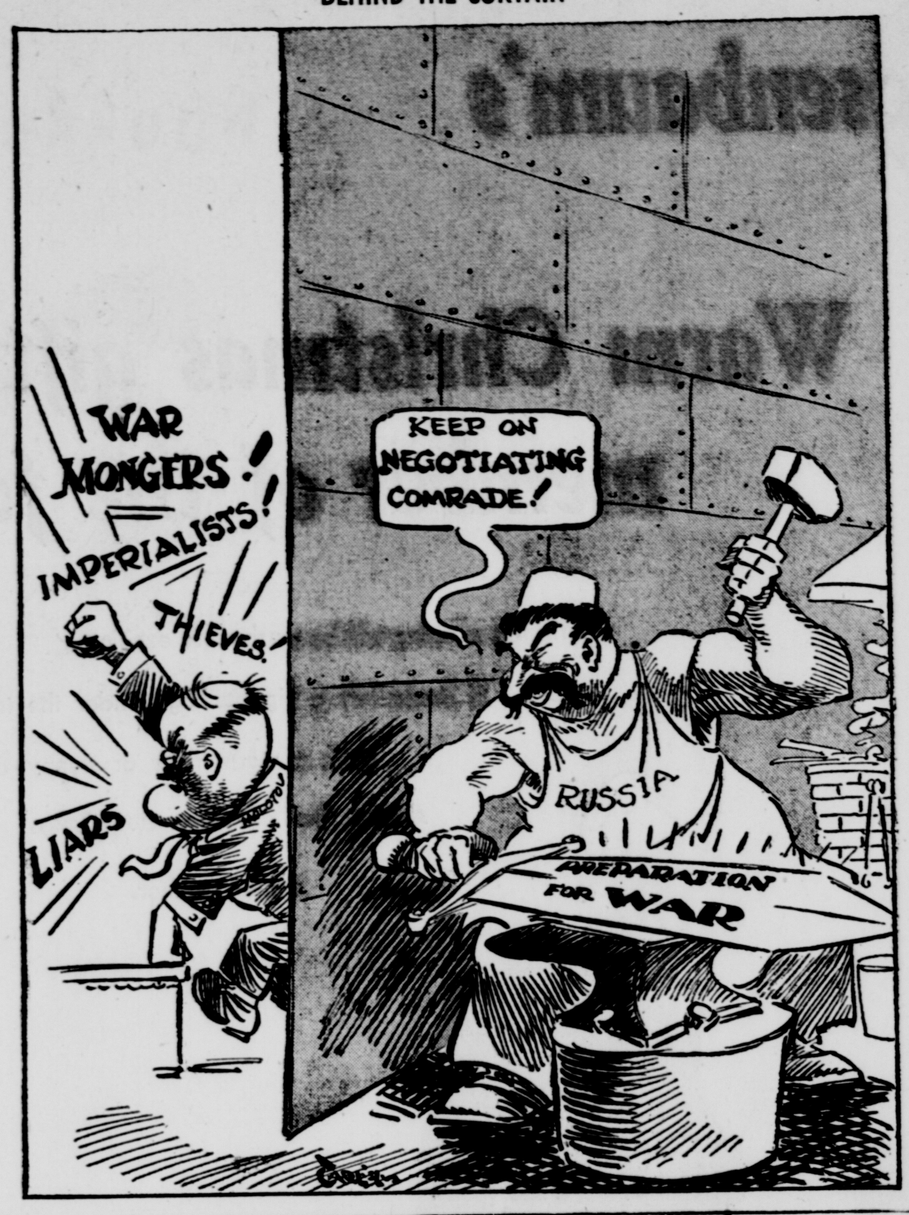
BEHIND THE CURTAIN



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece has been dodging so many brickbats hurled at him by his own team, that he ventured nervously up to Capitol Hill the other day waving the white flag.

His visit was reported by the press, but what didn't get into the papers was the reaction which followed. One group of Republican Senators later dissected him in penetrating whispers on the Senate floor.

"Reece is the best man the Democrats have," bristled Vermont's Ralph Flanders.

To this Harry Cain of Washington and gentle-mannered Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin agreed.

"The Democrats certainly have done a better job of selling what they have accomplished to the country," remarked McCarthy.

Massachusetts' cautious Henry Cabot Lodge leaned over and put in his two-bits' worth.

"Every time Reece opens his mouth," he added, "we lose another ten thousand votes."

Note—Nevertheless, a tacit understanding was reached between Reece and his critics that he would stay on the job, though wear a gag in the future. It was agreed that Reece would stick to party organization and leave national policy to the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill.

Four European Friendship Trains

Today the second cargo of Friendship Train food sails for Europe—this time for Italy. And since millions of Americans—from the businessmen of Ventura, Calif., to the kids of Fayetteville, Ark., helped fill up that train, they are entitled to know just when its contents are shipped and how.

Probably few peacetime cargoes were ever transferred from train to ship quicker than the food from the Friendship Train. On the day after the last section of the train arrived in Philadelphia, the SS American Leader of the U.S. Lines picked up that part of the cargo, and one week later it cleaned up the New cargo designated for France. This ship will arrive in Le Havre on Dec. 17—well before Christmas.

The second ship, the SS Exiria, of the American Export Lines, sailing from New York today, is due in Italy Dec. 23. The balance of the friendship food will sail on the SS Hoosier State of the States Marine Corporation on Dec. 19, and on the SS Alewai of the Waterman Lines on Dec. 20.

Ordinarily it takes much longer than this to transfer cargo from train to ship, and this lightning job is due largely to the Commodity Credit Corporation, whose men worked even on holidays to repackage the food; also to the excellent cooperation of the Steamship Lines, which, like the railroads, are carrying the food free.

And in the spirit of American Friendship, a dozen or so freight forwarders also volunteered to handle the cargoes free. The firms finally selected were I. B. Vandegrift in Philadelphia; Caldwell and Co., in New York for the French cargo, and Inge and Co. of New York for the Italian cargo. The Goodyear Rubber Company also donated a large quantity of pliofilm to waterproof the packages.

Greetings On Boxcars

In France and Italy, it is planned to run four Friendship Trains, so the people of those two countries can see them and know where the food came from. And just as the Friendship Train in the USA carried big placards of greetings from Ft. Smith, Arkansas, or Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, so the European trains will carry large colored posters, with the American flag, a picture of the original Friendship Train and a message in French and Italian from the American people.

Not only are these posters printed and aboard the first vessels arriving in Europe, but accompanying the posters are tacks, hammers, adhesive tape, shellac and brushes to put them on European boxcars.

In addition there are one million small stickers bearing the American flag and a greeting from the American people in French and Italian, to be pasted on individual food packages.

These are some of the preparations carefully worked out by the Friendship Train committee to make sure the people of Europe understand that this is genuine generosity from all the American people—school children and businessmen, railroads and labor unions, farmers and housewives.

The American church and relief groups already in Europe have undertaken to carry on from this point by distributing the food in Europe.

Absent-Minded Congressmen

It's an old gag in slapstick comedies but unusual in the House restaurant, for Congressmen to get so absorbed in discussion that they dump sugar in the soup and pour syrup in the coffee. Yet that is how a certain bowl of soup and a cup of coffee were spoiled the other day around an all-Republican table.

"We won't leave here next spring until we vote price controls," big Max Schwabe of Missouri was saying. "The people are going to demand something be done about high prices, and Congress is going to vote controls."

"Yes," agreed his brother, George Schwabe, also a Congressman, but from Oklahoma. "President Truman has the Republican party in a strait jacket."

John Jennings of Tennessee, worried, leaned forward to catch every word. Absently he shoveled sugar into his soup. A moment later Nebraska's Howard Buffett, equally absorbed in the GOP dilemma, was caught dribbling syrup, meant for a waffle, in his coffee.

The pair were ribbed by their colleagues.

"Don't," chuckled Michigan's Earl Michener, "let Drew Pearson hear about this."

Everybody, Apparently, Is At Fault Except Mr. John L. Lewis

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Memories appear to be short where John L. Lewis is concerned. He banks on the idea that people forget what happened yesterday. Maybe they do.

Mr. Lewis tells a congressional committee that the coming shortage in heating oil—which, by the way, is not to be widespread but only applies to certain sections of the country—is all the fault of the citizens who turned from coal to oil a year or so ago.

It doesn't seem to have occurred to Mr. Lewis that anybody would remember why people turned from the much more economical coal to oil in small homes and paid for the installation of different equipment. Many people who converted to oil did so out of fear of shortages in coal.

The severe strikes which Mr. Lewis led have cost America a great deal. Many of the bottlenecks in industry and shortages are directly and indirectly due to strikes and work stoppages. Failure to mine coal caused a shutdown of steel furnaces. These are not readily started up again in the large steel mills. Delays are costly.

Loss In Steel Tremendous

It is estimated that 18,000,000 tons of steel have been lost to America since V-J Day due to strikes in the coal mines and steel mills. This is enough steel to meet all present shortages. It is enough steel to satisfy Europe's needs and still give America her requirements. It is more than enough to meet for nearly two years the demands of those who have been asking 10,000,000 more tons of annual steel-production capacity.

The blow that was struck at the American economy by the coal and steel strikes was perhaps the most severe handicap the post-war period has encountered. Shortage of steel is one of the reasons why the oil industry, for instance, is unable to enlarge its production and transportation facilities. Shortage of steel has held up the making of transportation vehicles of all kinds, including automobiles.

Yet, Mr. Lewis blandly tells a congressional committee the citizens are at fault now for having been scared away from coal and forced into the use of another fuel! He says many of them installed gas and oil burners and now are sorry.

There is no doubt that the number of users of heating oil has increased enormously. The consumption of heating oil in the homes is up about 67 per cent over 1939. Mr. Lewis seems to think the manufacturers of oil burners did a disservice to the home owners by persuading them to buy equipment. Everybody evidently was at fault but Mr. Lewis.

The truth is, of course, that one answer to the oil shortage today is for persons who can convert easily to coal to do so. In many localities and homes of a certain size, it is substantially less expensive than oil.

But what assurance can these people have that the price of coal will remain below that of oil? If Mr. Lewis starts another coal strike next year and promotes scarcity as he has done so often, will the home owners be justified in turning in their oil-burning equipment and relying once more on coal?

This is the question which many a citizen wants answered. There are numerous contractors, moreover, who are building or planning to build for veterans small homes with oil burners. Shall they now change these plans and provide for coal-burning equipment, and can they be sure there will be no shortage of coal next year?

Competition Is Natural

The competition between oil and coal is natural. But Mr. Lewis has seemed indifferent to the future of his own industry by allowing policies to be pursued in which the public has lost confidence. The coal companies are making vast improvements in methods of mining coal. Production is at greater heights than ever before. There ought to be an era of peace.

Miners, incidentally, are compensated at higher rates of wages than almost any other industry. Not all miners care to work full weeks. Some of them do, however, and it is reported that some classes of miners receive wages which would amount to between $8,000 and $9,000 a year if they worked full time. These may be exceptional cases but certainly the number of miners now in the $5,000-and-over bracket is considerable. There ought to be some consideration given to these brackets when the next tax bill comes up—it might take the place of a wage increase and keep the home fires burning.

Picture, If You Will, Late "Tex" Guinan In White House

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Did you ever stop to figure what a buzz-saw as a vote-getter the late "Tex" Guinan would have been? Picture that lady in the White House. Why not? It wouldn't require such a tremendous flight of fancy. We almost had "Yogi" Wallace, didn't we? Anyway, just think how the folks would flock to Washington to see their new President, the Hon. "Tex" Guinan, in boots and curls and shiny six-gun in her belt. It is true that her own sex, which should have been proudest of her achievement, viewed her curves with some reservations but, boy, how she got the men vote!

Her formula for political success was the simplest in the annals of the American stump. She never said in solemn tones, "My fellow citizens." She knew her citizens were tired of being fellowed into taxes and debt and war and this European mess. Her greeting was always, "Hello, Suckers!" How they went for that. They knew they were suckers. They had searched a long time to find one honest politician who called them what they knew they were. They loved it; such refreshing frankness.

"Suckers, You Love It!"

Her answer to all petitions for the redress of grievances was, "Suckers, you love it." There was no come-back to that. They knew they loved it. They knew that despite its frightful cost, this enormous gadget called government would somehow give them a bit of something-for-nothing; would enable them to rob someone else in pious ways he would not resent.

"The customer is entitled to a break," was her motto. "Always fix the juke box so every customer will get one of his quarters back!" "Guinan and Gravy" was her slogan. It was unbeatable.

Take spuds. Everybody was hot and bothered about the high cost of living, and some solemn professors grouched about the government pricing potatoes out of reach with its cockeyed program of buy 'em and burn 'em. But President Guinan wowed them. "Suckers, you love this great big beautiful government, don't you, my wolves. Think of my lovely plans for federal aid to educators!" When the spud farmers read how she wowed the professors, the spud vote was in the bag.

Then the potato farmers came to Washington, busting mad about the high cost of sugar. They said, "Look here, what about the Commodity Credit Corporation buying up sugar to prevent a fall in price? What about it?" President Guinan said, "Suckers, you love the sugar I put in your spuds, don't you boys?" The boys did

Then the sugar farmers got to bellyaching about the price of wheat and bread and the staff of life. They said: "Why did the government contract to buy more wheat in the Southwest than it had to sell, and run wheat up to three bucks? Information, please?" President Guinan informed them: "Suckers, don't you remember what I did for sugar? I'm your sugar mama." Well, that put another nail in the sugar vote, and locked up the wheat vote, too.

Then the CIO boys and their wives got blood in their eye about the price of eggs. They demanded that the price tag on eggs at 8c per egg carry the words "160,000,000 dozen have been taken off the market by the government to hold up the price of eggs." But President Guinan smiled her sweetest. "Suckers, you remember how I boosted your wages, don't you?" That ended that. They took out their egg grouch on Big Business, but not the Business so Big it could buy two billion eggs and hold them until they got ripe.

It was a great system Tex had. The government juke box always gave the customer a break. He always got one of his quarters back. Come election, she blamed the greedy profiteers for the high cost of living in the cities, and pointed with pride to the high prices she paid the farmers. She carried every county. Texas Guinan was the people's choice.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Cold Turkey

BACK in 1933, the London Economic Conference was called to save the world from the effects of a stoppage of international trade, attended by the principal nations. Whimsically, President Roosevelt killed it.

In the 14 years that have passed since then, the very conditions that the Conference was called to cure have grown worse. They have not only been aggravated by a war that devastated both Europe and Asia, but two of the principal producing nations have been felled and produce no more.

Clair Wilcox, Director of the Office of Intrenational Trade Policy of the State Department, correctly describes conditions for the year 1947 as follows:

". . . Instead of shrinking, exchange controls and quota systems have taken on a larger scope. Instead of relaxation, they have been intensified. Instead of declining, discrimination is on the rise. Instead of disappearing, bilateral agreements, swapping promises of export licenses and setting up clearing accounts, have been renewed and multiplied. And even in the Articles of Agreement of the International Monetary Fund, the charter for an International Trade Organization, and the general agreement on tariffs and trade one finds exceptions that will permit restrictionism and discrimination to survive. The most important of these exceptions are temporary; they are subject to prescribed conditions; and they are surrounded by careful safeguards. But they offer no assurance that the conditions that govern the trade of the world will shortly be set to rights. Indeed, before these conditions get better it is even possible that they may take a turn for the worse."

The foreign trade of the United States presents a startling picture. We are exporting, in 1947, $19,000,000,000 in goods and services. Goods exported amount to more than $15,000,000,000 which is five times the amount exported before the war. Our total imports for 1947 amount to $8,000,000,000. This means that the world owes us $11,000,000,000 for 1947 which has to be paid for in goods or in dollars—or we give them what we export for nothing.

If, for a prolonged period, we find ourselves holding the bag for such huge sume, we shall have to tax our people into poverty. No nation can afford to give away its wealth or to pay its customers to buy its goods. That, in effect, is precisely what we propose to do under the so-called Marshall Plan: we propose to pay Europe, possibly $5,000,000,000 a year so that the Europeans can buy American goods.

The question is not hope and charity nor even faith. It is a cold matter of what a country can afford to do. Mr. Wilcox makes the point:

". . . Our exports are outrunning our imports for Europe by nearly five million dollars, for North America by 1-¾ billion dollars, for South America by 1-¼ billion dollars, for Asia by one billion dollars, and for Africa by over one-half billion dollars . . ."

That is called a favorable balance of trade, but in the topsy-turvy world in which we live, it is actually an unfavorable balance, because the party of the second part cannot meet the difference. He cannot take care of his balances. He is stuck and all that he can do about it is to stick us.

The picture is further complicated by the socialism of our customers. In the bilateral trading system of the capitalist world, private traders barged in to earn a dollar, but the socialist governments prefer barter among governments. Such products as rubber, tin and cocoa are government controlled. The socialist government of Great Britain really forces upon the world the kind of barter for which they criticized Mussolini and Hitler. As for Soviet Russia, it limits all foreign trade to government contracts. The result is biliteral trade, that is, each deal stops with a buyer-seller transaction and there are no margins for settlement outside the transactions, except subsidies from America.

This process, whether you understand it or not, cost us pretty close to $11,000,000,000 in 1947. It may amount to even more. And the American taxpayer pays it twice; once in taxes, and again in higher prices. Cut away the oratory from the Marshall Plan and all it does is to give the customer the money he needs to buy our goods for which he cannot pay.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Team Interest

I have watched many a thrilling football and baseball contest, and always it has been the concentration of team work that has impressed me. There have always been individual "stars" that often stand out to thrill the crowd, but the greatest organization is that one in which each player is devoted to the team. The winning of the team is more inspiring than the outstanding work of any one man.

Every day in life we see examples of team play. Only through team play can this war-torn and confused world be made over into one world. Bear and forbear are two great words, as Epictetus once stated. The great nations of this world can never bring about a just and lasting peace until there is unity of plan and purpose. In other words, team interest.

It was team interest that defeated Germany twice. And now it must be team interest, with the good of all nations, justly considered, that must write the peace that shall be permanent, or as nearly so as frail man can construct.

The most efficient organization of any kind is that one where each worker takes a personal interest and works as a team in that organization. If the various nations of Europe will but work for their own recovery, plus all that the other more favorable nations can give to them, then, in time, there can be a happy recovery. But there must be team play in it all.

We are always happiest, and we accomplish the most, when we are working with those who supplement our own efforts. No one can "star" alone! We are all dependent. This is something that we are apt to forget. The minutest part of a great machine is dependent upon the greatest, as is the greatest dependent upon the minutest.

Take the great orchestra. Just let the little piccolo player get out of tune and note how quickly the leader detects it. There must be perfect harmony. The orchestra must play as a team. That's what makes it great. How important, therefore, that each one of us plays his part in life with the good of all in mind. It makes happy homes, successful businesses, and will make a better world.

Free Economy Is Certainly No Luxury

Arnold J. Toynbee, the noted English historian, in a series of recently printed articles, argued that Soviet Russia and the United States are now so far apart, politically and economically, that another world conflict can be averted only by the intervention of a third party. Toynbee hopes that the democracies of Western Europe, led by Britain, can unite to form a third and balancing force in the world, which would work toward East-West harmony in the United Nations. He regards Sovietism as a tyranny whose triumph would mean the end of freedom of every kind. At the same time, he believes that the American system of free enterprise cannot work in European countries with urgent mass needs and meager resources.

Behind that conclusion is the familiar European assumption that the United States is uniquely able to afford the "luxury" of a free economy. It never seems to occur to these critics that America's standard of living may be largely due to that relatively free economy. It never occurs to them because they assume that capitalism in the United States is the same thing that Western Europe has tried and found wanting.

As a matter of historical fact, the capitalism of Western Europe which has been replaced by more or less planned economies differs greatly from the American economy. On the Continent, and to a large extent in Britain, capitalism developed in the form of huge combines, monopolies and international cartels. We, too, have had experience with overweening monopolies but have sought to curb them by law.

Many European critics are amazingly ignorant of the governmental economic controls in the United States.

Despite these controls, American industry and business are relatively free. Our most successful industry, the automotive, inevitably operates in big units. But the competition between them is fierce. The key to American prosperity has been high volume and high wages through mass production at declining unit costs. Europe has never understood that, or, at any rate, has not been guided by it.

If European theorists now speak of the "inevitability of Socialism" for themselves, it is because their economies have for generations been based on a false kind of capitalism. The danger in the United States is that our monopolists—and our governmental theorists and certain national labor leaders—may force our economy into a straightjacket which would compel Socialism over here as well.

In a recent poll as to why people are happy, the usual percentage had no opinion. Perhaps they are the happiest of all.

Harriman Surprised So Many People Still Eat Butter

With butter selling close to a $1 a pound in Cumberland, it is only natural that many consumers have turned to margarine, as has W. A. Harriman, Secretary of Commerce and a member of one of America's wealthiest families. He says he eats margarine and likes it.

"I recommend margarine to the American consumer," Mr. Harriman told newspapermen the other day. "I've eaten it since the war, and I can't tell the difference from butter. I'm surprised that people pay a dollar a pound for butter."

Well, a reason why people pay high prices for butter, although margarine at less than half the cost is equally tasty and nutritious, is that Federal laws —and many state laws—have been passed for the express purpose of discouraging use of margarine and giving butter-makers an undeserved advantage.

Without the discriminatory taxes, margarine could be sold to consumers at even lower prices. Without the unfair license fee you could buy yellow margarine, tinted with the same coloring matter which, at most seasons of the year, is put into butter to make it yellow.

Mr. Harriman, we venure, has never had to do the troublesome job of working coloring matter into a pound of white margarine. But most housewives who buy margarine have to do that job for themselves.

There are pure food and drug laws to prevent sale of margarine as butter. The special margarine taxes and fees are not needed. They serve no good purpose.

Here is one way Congress can do something positive to help lower the cost of living: repeal the laws that discriminate against margarine.

Hollywood announcement says old movies will be revived, indicating that ideology may be dropped from the screen for the time being.

Government's Ban On Coal Exports Will Aid Cities

The government's order banning the further export of certain grades of coal is a step taken late in the game, but not too late. It should give some measure of relief to cities which have found themselves faced with a serious coal shortage this Winter.

The ban on further export of lump and double-screened coal is not, of course, the whole answer to the coal situation. Only about 500,000 tons a month will be diverted from export to the domestic market, and this is only a small amount of what is required. But it does comprise the kind of coal most often used by domestic households in larger cities, and at this time every little bit helps.

Fortunately, Cumberland is in a better position as to coal supplies than many municipalities farther removed from coal fields. Most users of coal here have a fair supply on hand, with better than average prospects of having the bin replenished as needed. Until the government puts its export ban into effect local dealers have seen to it that domestic users were supplied with a sufficient amount to tide them over until a more plentiful supply became available.

Had the government order come several months ago, it would have been far more beneficial in that it would have permitted users to put in their entire Winter's supply at one time. The action was urged on Washington by many cities. That the Government has been responsive, even though tardily, is an encouraging and gratifying thing for those less fortunate than Cumberland.

Statesmen formerly thought of peace as license to grab a piece of another country, but Russia is never satisfied with less than the whole country.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

COMPLICATIONS IN MUMPS

MUMPS is centuries old but research workers have not given the disorder the same consideration as the more serious maladies. The cause is a filtrable virus and since this group of organisms now hold the spotlight, this disease is coming under more intensive observation.

At the present time there is much discussion about where the infection begins. Some authorities believe that it has its origin in the brain; others plug for the salivary glands. At any rate it spreads from these sites to the pancreas, reproductive organs, eyes, and ears. With such widespread involvement, the ailment should no longer be caricatured as the comical picture of a boy sitting at a window with a cloth wrapped around his swollen jowls.

The condition is most contagious during the first six days. The habitat of the virus is the saliva and from there the germs have an easy avenue of escape to the outside where they are in a position to reach others either through the air or by contamination of some article.

Susceptible individuals develop the malady from 14 to 21 days after coming into contact with a patient. The victim experiences headache, loss of appetite, chills, and a drawing sensation in the neck region. Shortly thereafter, one or more of the salivary glands swells. The structures below and in front of the ear (parotid) are most likely to be affected but those located just beneath the jaw are not immune. Frequently one side is involved first, followed in a day or two by symptoms on the other side.

As a rule the parts are slightly tender to the touch and now and then will be painful. Puffiness disappears within eight to 10 days. Since all of the glands do not begin to enlarge at the same time, the period of disability may last a longer time.

Prevention and the use of serums in treatment are moot questions as medical reports along these lines show descrepancies. The sulfonamides and antibiotics are valueless. Distress is usually controlled by applying heat or cold or one of the analgesic drugs. The mouth should be kept clean and since it is difficult to chew solid foods, fluids and gruels are advised. Rest in bed is imperative until swelling vanishes.

This management is most important in sufferers past the age of puberty because teen aged children and adults are more susceptible to complications than infants and children. In boys and young men, involvement of the reproductive glands occurs in from 16 to 30 per cent of the cases. This may lead to sterility, especially if both sides are affected.

Since this aftermath is rare in the pre-adolescent, sex hormones probably play a role, and Savran reasoned that by administering female glandular extracts to males, the effect might be nullified. The results were rather amazing, particularly when the procedure was started early. Further substantiation of this work will be necessary but it offers a possible solution to the main danger of the disease.

NEW AND OLD NAMES

L. W. writes: Is psychoneurosis the same as a nervous breakdown?

REPLY

Yes, but the term "psychoneurosis" is more scientific and is used with greater frequency.

REST AFTER HEART ATTACK

N. T. writes: How soon after coronary thrombosis can a man go back to work?

REPLY

This is an individual problem and depends upon the occupation of the individual. Most victims of this disorder remain in bed for six weeks and spend an additional recuperative period in getting their sealegs. More rest may be required if high blood pressure is present. Retirement is sometimes recommended but most men do better if they return to a less strenuous job, with more leisure and fewer responsibilities.

IT'S TRADITIONAL

C. B. writes: What causes a prostate gland in a man.

REPLY

Nature. This organ is part of the male reproductive system.

HORRIPILATION

Mrs. S. writes: Why do I develop goose pimples whenever I think of cats?

REPLY

This may be a conditioned reflex acquired through dislike or fear of these animals.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

A man in England applied for a tax cut on the grounds that his house was haunted and ghosts were reported hanging around the place, thus lowering its value.

This could have a big effect on our income tax laws if the government would only believe in ghosts.

Boris Karloff wouldn't have to pay a tax at all. . . the government would have to pay him.

It wouldn't be long before people would start haunting their own houses in order to pay less tax.

Mothers-in-law would come back in style.

And there would probably be a run on the sheet market.

And when you made out your income tax blank. . . You would have to hold a seance first.

All this would do away with accountants. Your tax returns would be filled out by ghost writers.

My brother figured a way to beat the tax entirely. . . He's getting a job in a distillery and is going to list all the spirits.

And if you didn't pay the tax. . . you wouldn't have to go to jail. . . you'd just have to sit through "Frankenstein" three times.

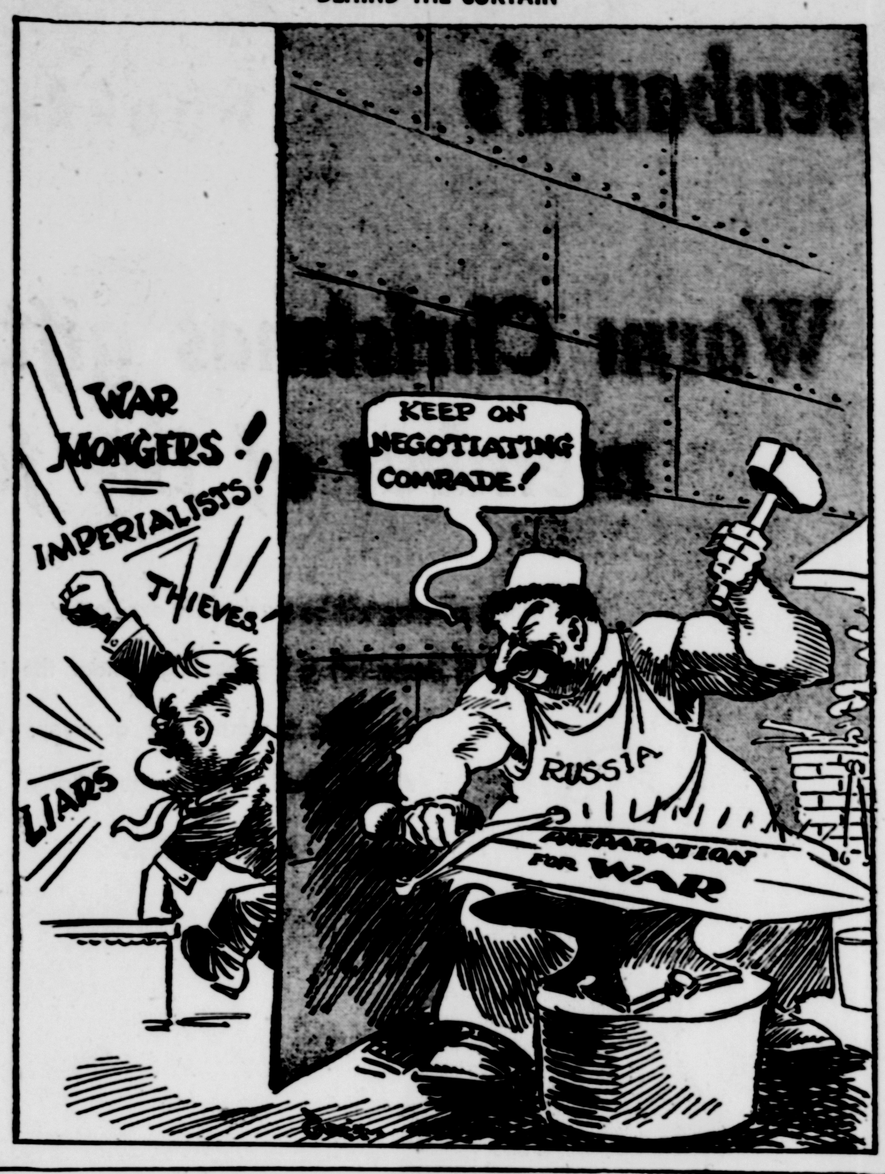
BEHIND THE CURTAIN



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece has been dodging so many brickbats hurled at him by his own team, that he ventured nervously up to Capitol Hill the other day waving the white flag.

His visit was reported by the press, but what didn't get into the papers was the reaction which followed. One group of Republican Senators later dissected him in penetrating whispers on the Senate floor.

"Reece is the best man the Democrats have," bristled Vermont's Ralph Flanders.

To this Harry Cain of Washington and gentle-mannered Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin agreed.

"The Democrats certainly have done a better job of selling what they have accomplished to the country," remarked McCarthy.

Massachusetts' cautious Henry Cabot Lodge leaned over and put in his two-bits' worth.

"Every time Reece opens his mouth," he added, "we lose another ten thousand votes."

Note—Nevertheless, a tacit understanding was reached between Reece and his critics that he would stay on the job, though wear a gag in the future. It was agreed that Reece would stick to party organization and leave national policy to the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill.

Four European Friendship Trains

Today the second cargo of Friendship Train food sails for Europe—this time for Italy. And since millions of Americans—from the businessmen of Ventura, Calif., to the kids of Fayetteville, Ark., helped fill up that train, they are entitled to know just when its contents are shipped and how.

Probably few peacetime cargoes were ever transferred from train to ship quicker than the food from the Friendship Train. On the day after the last section of the train arrived in Philadelphia, the SS American Leader of the U.S. Lines picked up that part of the cargo, and one week later it cleaned up the New cargo designated for France. This ship will arrive in Le Havre on Dec. 17—well before Christmas.

The second ship, the SS Exiria, of the American Export Lines, sailing from New York today, is due in Italy Dec. 23. The balance of the friendship food will sail on the SS Hoosier State of the States Marine Corporation on Dec. 19, and on the SS Alewai of the Waterman Lines on Dec. 20.

Ordinarily it takes much longer than this to transfer cargo from train to ship, and this lightning job is due largely to the Commodity Credit Corporation, whose men worked even on holidays to repackage the food; also to the excellent cooperation of the Steamship Lines, which, like the railroads, are carrying the food free.

And in the spirit of American Friendship, a dozen or so freight forwarders also volunteered to handle the cargoes free. The firms finally selected were I. B. Vandegrift in Philadelphia; Caldwell and Co., in New York for the French cargo, and Inge and Co. of New York for the Italian cargo. The Goodyear Rubber Company also donated a large quantity of pliofilm to waterproof the packages.

Greetings On Boxcars

In France and Italy, it is planned to run four Friendship Trains, so the people of those two countries can see them and know where the food came from. And just as the Friendship Train in the USA carried big placards of greetings from Ft. Smith, Arkansas, or Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, so the European trains will carry large colored posters, with the American flag, a picture of the original Friendship Train and a message in French and Italian from the American people.

Not only are these posters printed and aboard the first vessels arriving in Europe, but accompanying the posters are tacks, hammers, adhesive tape, shellac and brushes to put them on European boxcars.

In addition there are one million small stickers bearing the American flag and a greeting from the American people in French and Italian, to be pasted on individual food packages.

These are some of the preparations carefully worked out by the Friendship Train committee to make sure the people of Europe understand that this is genuine generosity from all the American people—school children and businessmen, railroads and labor unions, farmers and housewives.

The American church and relief groups already in Europe have undertaken to carry on from this point by distributing the food in Europe.

Absent-Minded Congressmen

It's an old gag in slapstick comedies but unusual in the House restaurant, for Congressmen to get so absorbed in discussion that they dump sugar in the soup and pour syrup in the coffee. Yet that is how a certain bowl of soup and a cup of coffee were spoiled the other day around an all-Republican table.

"We won't leave here next spring until we vote price controls," big Max Schwabe of Missouri was saying. "The people are going to demand something be done about high prices, and Congress is going to vote controls."

"Yes," agreed his brother, George Schwabe, also a Congressman, but from Oklahoma. "President Truman has the Republican party in a strait jacket."

John Jennings of Tennessee, worried, leaned forward to catch every word. Absently he shoveled sugar into his soup. A moment later Nebraska's Howard Buffett, equally absorbed in the GOP dilemma, was caught dribbling syrup, meant for a waffle, in his coffee.

The pair were ribbed by their colleagues.

"Don't," chuckled Michigan's Earl Michener, "let Drew Pearson hear about this."

Everybody, Apparently, Is At Fault Except Mr. John L. Lewis

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Memories appear to be short where John L. Lewis is concerned. He banks on the idea that people forget what happened yesterday. Maybe they do.

Mr. Lewis tells a congressional committee that the coming shortage in heating oil—which, by the way, is not to be widespread but only applies to certain sections of the country—is all the fault of the citizens who turned from coal to oil a year or so ago.

It doesn't seem to have occurred to Mr. Lewis that anybody would remember why people turned from the much more economical coal to oil in small homes and paid for the installation of different equipment. Many people who converted to oil did so out of fear of shortages in coal.

The severe strikes which Mr. Lewis led have cost America a great deal. Many of the bottlenecks in industry and shortages are directly and indirectly due to strikes and work stoppages. Failure to mine coal caused a shutdown of steel furnaces. These are not readily started up again in the large steel mills. Delays are costly.

Loss In Steel Tremendous

It is estimated that 18,000,000 tons of steel have been lost to America since V-J Day due to strikes in the coal mines and steel mills. This is enough steel to meet all present shortages. It is enough steel to satisfy Europe's needs and still give America her requirements. It is more than enough to meet for nearly two years the demands of those who have been asking 10,000,000 more tons of annual steel-production capacity.

The blow that was struck at the American economy by the coal and steel strikes was perhaps the most severe handicap the post-war period has encountered. Shortage of steel is one of the reasons why the oil industry, for instance, is unable to enlarge its production and transportation facilities. Shortage of steel has held up the making of transportation vehicles of all kinds, including automobiles.

Yet, Mr. Lewis blandly tells a congressional committee the citizens are at fault now for having been scared away from coal and forced into the use of another fuel! He says many of them installed gas and oil burners and now are sorry.

There is no doubt that the number of users of heating oil has increased enormously. The consumption of heating oil in the homes is up about 67 per cent over 1939. Mr. Lewis seems to think the manufacturers of oil burners did a disservice to the home owners by persuading them to buy equipment. Everybody evidently was at fault but Mr. Lewis.

The truth is, of course, that one answer to the oil shortage today is for persons who can convert easily to coal to do so. In many localities and homes of a certain size, it is substantially less expensive than oil.

But what assurance can these people have that the price of coal will remain below that of oil? If Mr. Lewis starts another coal strike next year and promotes scarcity as he has done so often, will the home owners be justified in turning in their oil-burning equipment and relying once more on coal?

This is the question which many a citizen wants answered. There are numerous contractors, moreover, who are building or planning to build for veterans small homes with oil burners. Shall they now change these plans and provide for coal-burning equipment, and can they be sure there will be no shortage of coal next year?

Competition Is Natural

The competition between oil and coal is natural. But Mr. Lewis has seemed indifferent to the future of his own industry by allowing policies to be pursued in which the public has lost confidence. The coal companies are making vast improvements in methods of mining coal. Production is at greater heights than ever before. There ought to be an era of peace.

Miners, incidentally, are compensated at higher rates of wages than almost any other industry. Not all miners care to work full weeks. Some of them do, however, and it is reported that some classes of miners receive wages which would amount to between $8,000 and $9,000 a year if they worked full time. These may be exceptional cases but certainly the number of miners now in the $5,000-and-over bracket is considerable. There ought to be some consideration given to these brackets when the next tax bill comes up—it might take the place of a wage increase and keep the home fires burning.

Picture, If You Will, Late "Tex" Guinan In White House

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Did you ever stop to figure what a buzz-saw as a vote-getter the late "Tex" Guinan would have been? Picture that lady in the White House. Why not? It wouldn't require such a tremendous flight of fancy. We almost had "Yogi" Wallace, didn't we? Anyway, just think how the folks would flock to Washington to see their new President, the Hon. "Tex" Guinan, in boots and curls and shiny six-gun in her belt. It is true that her own sex, which should have been proudest of her achievement, viewed her curves with some reservations but, boy, how she got the men vote!

Her formula for political success was the simplest in the annals of the American stump. She never said in solemn tones, "My fellow citizens." She knew her citizens were tired of being fellowed into taxes and debt and war and this European mess. Her greeting was always, "Hello, Suckers!" How they went for that. They knew they were suckers. They had searched a long time to find one honest politician who called them what they knew they were. They loved it; such refreshing frankness.

"Suckers, You Love It!"

Her answer to all petitions for the redress of grievances was, "Suckers, you love it." There was no come-back to that. They knew they loved it. They knew that despite its frightful cost, this enormous gadget called government would somehow give them a bit of something-for-nothing; would enable them to rob someone else in pious ways he would not resent.

"The customer is entitled to a break," was her motto. "Always fix the juke box so every customer will get one of his quarters back!" "Guinan and Gravy" was her slogan. It was unbeatable.

Take spuds. Everybody was hot and bothered about the high cost of living, and some solemn professors grouched about the government pricing potatoes out of reach with its cockeyed program of buy 'em and burn 'em. But President Guinan wowed them. "Suckers, you love this great big beautiful government, don't you, my wolves. Think of my lovely plans for federal aid to educators!" When the spud farmers read how she wowed the professors, the spud vote was in the bag.

Then the potato farmers came to Washington, busting mad about the high cost of sugar. They said, "Look here, what about the Commodity Credit Corporation buying up sugar to prevent a fall in price? What about it?" President Guinan said, "Suckers, you love the sugar I put in your spuds, don't you boys?" The boys did

Then the sugar farmers got to bellyaching about the price of wheat and bread and the staff of life. They said: "Why did the government contract to buy more wheat in the Southwest than it had to sell, and run wheat up to three bucks? Information, please?" President Guinan informed them: "Suckers, don't you remember what I did for sugar? I'm your sugar mama." Well, that put another nail in the sugar vote, and locked up the wheat vote, too.

Then the CIO boys and their wives got blood in their eye about the price of eggs. They demanded that the price tag on eggs at 8c per egg carry the words "160,000,000 dozen have been taken off the market by the government to hold up the price of eggs." But President Guinan smiled her sweetest. "Suckers, you remember how I boosted your wages, don't you?" That ended that. They took out their egg grouch on Big Business, but not the Business so Big it could buy two billion eggs and hold them until they got ripe.

It was a great system Tex had. The government juke box always gave the customer a break. He always got one of his quarters back. Come election, she blamed the greedy profiteers for the high cost of living in the cities, and pointed with pride to the high prices she paid the farmers. She carried every county. Texas Guinan was the people's choice.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Cold Turkey

BACK in 1933, the London Economic Conference was called to save the world from the effects of a stoppage of international trade, attended by the principal nations. Whimsically, President Roosevelt killed it.

In the 14 years that have passed since then, the very conditions that the Conference was called to cure have grown worse. They have not only been aggravated by a war that devastated both Europe and Asia, but two of the principal producing nations have been felled and produce no more.

Clair Wilcox, Director of the Office of Intrenational Trade Policy of the State Department, correctly describes conditions for the year 1947 as follows:

" . . . Instead of shrinking, exchange controls and quota systems have taken on a larger scope. Instead of relaxation, they have been intensified. Instead of declining, discrimination is on the rise. Instead of disappearing, bilateral agreements, swapping promises of export licenses and setting up clearing accounts, have been renewed and multiplied. And even in the Articles of Agreement of the International Monetary Fund, the charter for an International Trade Organization, and the general agreement on tariffs and trade one finds exceptions that will permit restrictionism and discrimination to survive. The most important of these exceptions are temporary; they are subject to prescribed conditions; and they are surrounded by careful safeguards. But they offer no assurance that the conditions that govern the trade of the world will shortly be set to rights. Indeed, before these conditions get better it is even possible that they may take a turn for the worse."

The foreign trade of the United States presents a startling picture. We are exporting, in 1947, $19,000,000,000 in goods and services. Goods exported amount to more than $15,000,000,000 which is five times the amount exported before the war. Our total imports for 1947 amount to $8,000,000,000. This means that the world owes us $11,000,000,000 for 1947 which has to be paid for in goods or in dollars—or we give them what we export for nothing.

If, for a prolonged period, we find ourselves holding the bag for such huge sume, we shall have to tax our people into poverty. No nation can afford to give away its wealth or to pay its customers to buy its goods. That, in effect, is precisely what we propose to do under the so-called Marshall Plan: we propose to pay Europe, possibly $5,000,000,000 a year so that the Europeans can buy American goods.

The question is not hope and charity nor even faith. It is a cold matter of what a country can afford to do. Mr. Wilcox makes the point:

" . . . Our exports are outrunning our imports for Europe by nearly five million dollars, for North America by 1-¾ billion dollars, for South America by 1-¼ billion dollars, for Asia by one billion dollars, and for Africa by over one-half billion dollars . . ."

That is called a favorable balance of trade, but in the topsy-turvy world in which we live, it is actually an unfavorable balance, because the party of the second part cannot meet the difference. He cannot take care of his balances. He is stuck and all that he can do about it is to stick us.

The picture is further complicated by the socialism of our customers. In the bilateral trading system of the capitalist world, private traders barged in to earn a dollar, but the socialist governments prefer barter among governments. Such products as rubber, tin and cocoa are government controlled. The socialist government of Great Britain really forces upon the world the kind of barter for which they criticized Mussolini and Hitler. As for Soviet Russia, it limits all foreign trade to government contracts. The result is bi-literal trade, that is, each deal stops with a buyer-seller transaction and there are no margins for settlement outside the transactions, except subsidies from America.

This process, whether you understand it or not, cost us pretty close to $11,000,000,000 in 1947. It may amount to even more. And the American taxpayer pays it twice; once in taxes, and again in higher prices. Cut away the oratory from the Marshall Plan and all it does is to give the customer the money he needs to buy our goods for which he cannot pay.

Today's Talk

Team Interest

I have watched many a thrilling football and baseball contest, and always it has been the concentration of team work that has impressed me. There have always been individual "stars" that often stand out to thrill the crowd, but the greatest organization is that one in which each player is devoted to the team. The winning of the team is more inspiring than the outstanding work of any one man.

Every day in life we see examples of team play. Only through team play can this war-torn and confused world be made over into one world. Bear and forbear are two great words, as Epictetus once stated. The great nations of this world can never bring about a just and lasting peace until there is unity of plan and purpose. In other words, team interest.

It was team interest that defeated Germany twice. And now it must be team interest, with the good of all nations, justly considered, that must write the peace that shall be permanent, or as nearly so as frail man can construct.

The most efficient organization of any kind is that one where each worker takes a personal interest and works as a team in that organization. If the various nations of Europe will but work for their own recovery, plus all that the other more favorable nations can give to them, then, in time, there can be a happy recovery. But there must be team play in it all.

We are always happiest, and we accomplish the most, when we are working with those who supplement our own efforts. No one can "star" alone! We are all dependent. This is something that we are apt to forget. The minutest part of a great machine is dependent upon the greatest, as is the greatest dependent upon the minutest.

Take the great orchestra. Just let the little piccolo player get out of tune and note how quickly the leader detects it. There must be perfect harmony. The orchestra must play as a team. That's what makes it great. How important, therefore, that each one of us plays his part in life with the good of all in mind. It makes happy homes, successful businesses, and will make a better world.

POLLEN SLEUTHS FIND CLUES IN MANY FIELDS

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK—Pollen detectives do a lot more than tell hayfever sufferers when to expect trouble.

In the Journal of the New York Botanical Garden, Dr. G. Erdtman of Stockholm tells how the study of pollen grains has contributed toward solving problems in archaeology, geology, medicine, and other sciences.

"Pollens of many plants are widespread in the air, and are also found deep in the soil and in the beds of the ocean, telling the story of plant life through millions of years," Dr. Erdtman writes.

Winds have carried even the rather large pine and spruce grains from the American continent as far as Greenland, he said, and pollen grains have been trapped in mid-ocean between Newfoundland and Ireland.

Through pollens found in layers of soil, the pollen expert can trace the history of heaths and prairies, follow the history of agriculture, and in districts once covered by ice identify pollen grains of the herb and shrub pioneers and vagabond plants which spread in the wake of glaciers, he said.

Dishonest practices may be discovered concerning honey and drugs. In a honey represented as coming from New England, the pollen detective may find an abundance of pollen from plants native to Mexico.

Pollens and spores also may be used as fingerprints in tracing the family relationship of different kinds of plants, Dr. Erdtman said.

And the pollen detective may be asked to answer questions concerning pollens found in ancient honeys from Egyptian tombs, or the dry remains of mead, a fermented liquor, "which may occur in old drinking horns."

In an oil or gas heating plant fuel is wasted if not mixed properly with air. A heating contractor should be called to see that the right mixture is taking place.

Let The Kids Be Cozy

A DEN FOR SIS . . . Living-bedroom combination.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Every young girl should have a comfortable room where she can entertain her friends. The best solution for teenage comfort seems to be the living room-bedroom plan. If Sis' bedroom looks more like a sitting room she will get much fore pleasure out of entertaining.

Some school girls find mother's home bridge parties a problem, when they have invited their school chums for an afternoon gab fest. Sometimes mother and daughter don't get together until the last minute about their plans and daughter discovers that Mom has a prior claim to the living room.

Bright Beds

This is a problem, of course, which the sitting and bedroom combination eleminates. Instead of beds with frames, mattresses and springs-on-legs are in order for Sis' den. These beds can be slipcovered in attractive sturdy material, and banked with bright pillows or bolsters, to double for lounges. Slipcovers made in two pieces are especially practical because it is necessary to remove only the snug-fitting top when the bed is to be used for sleeping. The dust ruffle stays on to give the bed a finished appearance.

Unpainted bookcases are inexpensive and can house a multitude of junk which somehow schoolgirls manage to collect.

Those Glass Animals

These can, for instance, hold Sis' glass animal collection or a piece of bright shiny copper or brass or pictures of the family, scrap books, magazines and a stamp album. Book cases and a chest of drawers can be left unpainted or painted inexpensively. A radio phonograph and a desk also will contribute to daughter's comfort.

Aviod Pale Pinks

Use her favorite colors to decorate the room. But if she is partial to pale pinks and blues, try to sell her on the darker shades which will prove more practical. Baby blue and white organdy ruffled curtains are pretty to look at but will be a constant chore for mother.

One pretty and inexpensive den-living room decorating scheme starts with a bottle-green corduroy lounge cover. Bright red felt or chartruse throw pillows are an attractive contrast.

For Sleeping, Too

A comfortable chair slipcovered in a gay but sturdy fabric or a hassock or two in contrasting colors should furnish enough sitting room. When a gang is present, they'll manage somehow. Informality is the keynote with the teen age set.

Of course you should keep in mind that an important function of the bed-living room would still be to provide comfortable sleep conditions. Buoyant springs and resilient mattresses, which furnish equal, level support to each part of the body are essential to restful sleep.

Noel Gaiety Can Go Up In Smoke

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The joyous season of Christmas often is blighted by fire which could be prevented by observing a few simple precautions. Christmas trees and decorations go up in smoke with the loss of many lives each holiday season. Even at the fireplace and in the kitchen where Mom is working double duty with all burners blazing, fire strikes to mar the Yule spirit.

You can avoid a holiday holocaust and protect your youngsters by observing these simple rules suggested by John F. Kidde, fire protection expert:

1. Keep the Christmas tree moist by standing it in water. It is best kept outside of the house until a day or two before Christmas so that it will not dry out.

2. Don't smoke while trimming the tree.

3. Avoid using cotton or paper for decoration of the tree or around it. Use asbestos for your Christmas snow.

4. Electric trains should not be used near the tree (never around it. Be sure that all wires have been tested and are not frayed.

5. Toys requiring alcohol, kerosene or gasoline lamps are dangerous.

6. Candles should never be used on the Christmas tree, in windows, near curtains or decorations.

7. Remove Christmas "greens" as soon as they are dry and flammable.

8. If Yule candles are burned at dinner time make sure they are properly extinguished before leaving the table.

9. Be sure only safety film is used in your movie machine.

10. Never put electric lights which have not been tested or which have frayed cords on the tree and do not leave the tree lights burning when no one is in the house.

Particular attention should also be given to the likelihood of kitchen range grease fires from over-worked ovens. A carbon dioxide fire extinguisher will not harm food and will extinguish grease and oil fires quickly.

Needlecraft Thrift

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Homemade gifts can solve the problem of the higher-cost-of-giving this year.

Aside from the thrift angle, there's a special feeling about handmade gifts seems to carry out the spirit of Christmas — thoughtful care on the part of the giver, warm appreciation on the part of the recipient.

If you are even passably skillful with knitting needles, crochet hooks or needle and thread, you can turn out handsome custom-made gifts this year for every person on your list. Suggestions:

For children: Stuffed animals, knit of crocheted of soft wooly yarn, are sure-fire hits for the youngest set. Simple patterns are available for whimsical rag dolls and wonderful doll clothes. A carriage set for a doll buggy would delight any small girl, as would a set of miniature sheets and pillow cases for her doll bed. And you can make wonderful animal toys from bright felt, stuffed with cotton. A crisp, lacy pinafore is easy to make and sure to please a little girl.

For teen-agers: A Gibson Girl blouse of fine white batiste or crisp striped shirting can be run up in an evening on the old family sewing machine, and is at the top of most teen lists this year. A circular skirt of faille or velvet is easy to make and sure to evoke squeals of joy. Wide belts of felt or leather or even velvet can be made at home and are prized by every teen-age girl.

For young-marrieds: Nothing is more welcome than household linens, with hand - embroidered monograms. Linen damask is available once more for fine hand-hemstitched napkins, place mats and table cloths. Sheets and pillow cases or sets of towels individually monogramed are gifts that deserve top billing. Gay little cocktail napkins may be made from scraps of bright linen or gingham, and embroidered with convivial phrases.

For the men on the list: Argyle socks are tops in popularity with practically every male. College girls are knitting socks in fraternity colors for their favorite beaux, and adding fraternity letters instead of a monogram. Knit wool ties are welcomed by sportsmen and collegians, and of course a cable-stitch knit sweater will be prized by any man, young or old.

BEAD-IT BAG . . . Luxury gift, of shiny wood beads and corde. Comes packaged with crochet hook and instruction chart, by Paragon.

ROBIN REDBREAST . . . Crocheted yarn in brown and—of course—red.

WOLLY DOG . . . Crochet him of knitting yarn and stuff him with cotton.

FOR THE TOY ZOO . . . Giraffe made of two tones of felt. Millinery wire gives correct stiff neck.

CARRIAGE SET . . . For her doll buggy. Of gay print, lined and ruffled.

BABY BUNTING . . . Easy to crochet in shell-stitch, with satin ribbon trim.

Needlecraft Thrift

By DOROTHY ROE

Homemade gifts can solve the problem of the higher-cost-of-giving this year.

Aside from the thrift angle, there's a special feeling about handmade gifts seems to carry out the spirit of Christmas — thoughtful care on the part of the giver, warm appreciation on the part of the recipient.

If you are even passably skillful with knitting needles, crochet hooks or needle and thread, you can turn out handsome custom-made gifts this year for every person on your list. Suggestions:

For children: Stuffed animals, knit of crocheted of soft wooly yarn, are sure-fire hits for the youngest set. Simple patterns are available for whimsical rag dolls and wonderful doll clothes. A carriage set for a doll buggy would delight any small girl, as would a set of miniature sheets and pillow cases for her doll bed. And you can make wonderful animal toys from bright felt, stuffed with cotton. A crisp, lacy pinafore is easy to make and sure to please a little girl.

For teen-agers: A Gibson Girl blouse of fine white batiste or crisp striped shirting can be run up in an evening on the old family sewing machine, and is at the to of most teen lists this year. A circular skirt of faille or velvet is easy to make and sure to evoke squeals of joy. Wide belts of felt or leather or even velvet can be made at home and are prized by every teen-age girl.

For young-marrieds: Nothing is more welcome than household linens, with hand - embroidered monograms. Linen damask is available once more for fine hand-hemstitched napkins, place mats and table cloths. Sheets and pillow cases or sets of towels individually monogramed are gifts that deserve top billing. Gay little cocktail napkins may be made from scraps of bright linen or gingham, and embroidered with convivial phrases.

For the men on the list: Argyle socks are tops in popularity with practically every male. College girls are knitting socks in fraternity colors for their favorite beaux, and adding fraternity letters instead of a monogram. Knit wool ties are welcomed by sportsmen and collegians, and of course a cable-stitch knit sweater will be prized by any man, young or old.

BEAD-IT BAG . . . Luxury gift, of shiny wood beads and corde. Comes packaged with crochet hook and instruction chart, by Paragon.

ROBIN REDBREAST . . . Crocheted yarn in brown and—of course—red.

WOLLY DOG . . . Crochet him of knitting yarn and stuff him with cotton.

FOR THE TOY ZOO . . . Giraffe made of two tones of felt. Millinery wire gives correct stiff neck.

CARRIAGE SET . . . For her doll buggy. Of gay print, lined and ruffled.

BABY BUNTING . . . Easy to crochet in shell-stitch, with satin ribbon trim.

Russia Accused Of Taking French Citizens To USSR

Some Reportedly Denied Exit Visas

PARIS, Dec. 11 —(AP)—The French government accused Russia tonight of using her repatriation camp in France to send French citizens to the Soviet Union.

At the same time, the government suspended Lt. Col. Raymond Marquie, the chief of the French repatriation mission in Moscow, for "inadmissable" declarations attacking his own government's policy toward Russia. Aides at the Veterans Ministry said Marquie may be discharged from the army and confined to barricks when he returns to France for his statement that the French government had a systematically malicious attitude" toward the USSR.

Marquie Called Communist

Aides at the ministry described Marguie as a Communist of long standing who received his appointment from a Communist Veterans minister more than a year ago.

In a note handed the Soviet d'affaires, Alexandre Abramov, the French government declared 40 French women and 20 men were "assembled" in the Soviet repatriation camp at beauregard in September, 1946, and shipped to Russia "without the knowledge of the French authorities."

The note said "after their arrival in Moscow the French men and women in question asked the French Embassy for their immediate repatriation. They have since returned to French territory."

Frenchmen Detained In Russia

A spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said there still were Frenchmen in Russia who had been unable to obtain exit visas to return to their homeland, but he said he did not know whether they were in Russia because of the operations of Camp Beauregard.

Camp Beauregard was raided by French police on November 14, and a woman who was being sued for divorce by a naturalized Frenchman who did not want to return to Russia, and her three children were taken away. The children were returned to the father. The raid was one subject of a Soviet protest which the French government yesterday handed back to the Russians on the grounds it was not acceptable.

Sen. O'Conor Pledges Aid To Potomac Commission

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin received a pledge of aid today from Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) in efforts to obtain federal funds.

"The federal government," O'Conor said, "is justified in extending substantial financial assistance toward the work of the commission.

"I give assurance of my willingness and desire to expert efforts to accomplish this result."

The commission is asking $10,800 as the federal government's share. Although the government is a member, together with Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and the District of Columbia the federal government has never contributed.

The new group elected as pro tempore chairman Harry Hall, chief engineer, of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

Other members are Ellwood Johnson, deputy director of sanitary engineering, District of Columbia; Thomas S. Post, Mayor of Cumberland, Md.; I. G. Vass, town manager of Waynesboro, Va.; James Corbalis, Fairfax County, (Va.) sanitary engineer, and Blair M. Haines, Mayor of Romney, W. Va.

The members agreed it might be well to make a study of all the methods already in use or contemplated to fight pollution.

More snow moved into the Midwest from Canada Thursday as most of the country experienced below normal temperatures.

Democrat Offers Tax-Slash Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Stealing a march on the Republicans, a Democratic congressmen from Michigan today introduced a bill to reduce taxes by $5,500,000,000.

Rep. Dingell, who presented the measure, said it offers "an equitable system of tax reduction." He is a member of the tax-framing Ways and Means Committee and opposed the GOP's $4,000,000,000 tax cut bills which were vetoed by President Truman during the last sessions of congress.

Dingell proposed:

1. Trimming more than $2,000,000,000 annually from federal excise taxes.

2. Increasing personal income tax exemptions by $100 and reducing surtax rates one per cent in each bracket.

3. Allowing husbands and wives to split their incomes for tax purposes.

On another phase of the tax question, the Senate Expenditures Committee recommended removal of excise taxes on gasoline, admissions to theaters and athletic events, and local telephone and electric bills.

Officers Cleared In Jail Death Case

ELKTON, Md., Dec. 11 (AP) — A state trooper and the night turnkey at the Wicomico County jail today were cleared of charges that they beat a Salisbury, Md., businessman to death last July in a fight at the jail after he had been arrested for drunken driving.

The three judges of Maryland's Second Judicial Circuit who heard manslaughter charges against the two officers on a change of venue after the case aroused considerable feeling at Salisbury, found they used no more than reasonable force to subdue Milton H. Jones, 31-year-old truck line operator and automobile dealer.

They also ruled that Jones was "inordinately intoxicated" and "violently" resisted State Trooper John Joseph Harbaugh, 29, and Jack W. Turney, 63-year-old one-armed night jailer.

The court expressed a doubt that Jones had died as the result of blows landed by the two officers in the fight.

Chief Judge Owen J. Knotts and Associate Judges William R. Horney and Floyd J. Kintner returned their verdict after deliberating a little more than an hour and a half.

Halleck announced the intention to make an inquiry in a letter to Stassen. Hallack said Stassen had advised him of "widespread reports" that insiders in the government's grain purchasing program "are reaping a golden harvest on the grain markets."

Truman Delivers Comment

At the White House, President Truman was asked about similar assertions by Stassen in a speech last night and he replied that he knew nothing of any such activities. He declined to comment, adding he had not read Stassen's speech.

The administration, led by President Truman, has strongly and repeatedly condemned grain market speculation as a cause of increases in the cost of living.

Halleck wrote Stassen that "confidence of the people in the integrity of the government's gigantic grain-buying program has been shaken" by Stassen's charges.

The former Minnesota Governor told his Doylestown audience that he had wired Pauley citing "persistent rumors" that Pauley had this year made substantial purchases and sales of wheat and other food commodities.

RFC Authorized "Unsound" Loan To Housing Firm, Chairman Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation said today the RFC had authorized a $15,500,000 loan to a Chicago prefabricated housing company which "from a credit standpoint was not what you could call a sound loan."

Testifying before a Senate Banking Subcommittee, RFC Chairman John D. Goodloe said the authorization had been granted to the Lustron Corporation, but that the company had not yet gone into production.

Only $3,000,000 of the authorized amount has been disbursed, Goodloe said.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) asked, "Where did pressure come from to make you grant this loan?"

Goodloe objected to the Senator's use of the word "pressure." Subcommittee Chairman Buck (R-Del) said Goodloe had received a letter from Presidential Assistant John Steelman which urged the RFC to make the loan.

Goodloe said "this referred to a report which Steelman saw and which members of this committee saw regarding the best prospects for the immediate mass production of low cost prefabricated houses. Steelman said he had discussed it with the President and hoped we could make the loan."

The witness added that the Lustron Corporation had been scheduled to produce 14,550 prefabricated houses of the total of 92,000 desired by the government.

Clouds Thwart Attempt To Identify Comet

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 11 (AP) — Clouds frustrated tonight the attempt of astronomers in Sydney to secure a definite identification of the comet which has flashed across southern skies this week but the mysterious astral body was observed in New Zealand.

A message from Wellington said the comet was photographed from the Carter Observatory. Its course has not yet been plotted, however.

There has been some speculation that the body may be the famed and sometimes erratic Encke's Comet. Dr. Richard Woolley, director of an Australian government observatory at Mount Stromlo, Canberra, said he was considering the possibility, although he had not discarded his previous belief that it was a new comet.

The letter, written in German, was from H. Auschutz, of Lindenstrasse 55, Warstein, Westphalia, in British-occupied Germany, who for a time was interned at Camp Grant, Ill.

"I was a prisoner of war at Camp Grant for almost two years," the letter said. "I and most of the others who were there with me often think back to that time, for today in some respects we have it a whole lot worse."

"I would like to acknowledge off my own that we received good care, fine quarters and were treated well at Camp Grant."

A Fifth Army spokesman said the letter was the first such "thank-you" note ever received here.

Do you like old-fashioned "boiled" coffee—made with an egg? Here is a tip if your family is small and you want to make only three or four cups at a time. Add one slightly beaten egg to one half pound of regular grind coffee. Pulverize the eggshell and add that too. The mixture will keep well in a covered jar in the refrigerator for a week. When you want to make coffee, this mixture can be used in desired amounts.

Christmas Party Planned By P-TA At Kempton School

By BURNETTA ARNOLD

KEMPTON—The P-TA of Kempton School is making special plans for a Christmas party to be held at the school Tuesday evening Dec. 16, and invitations have been sent to parents to attend.

Brief Items

The Kempton United Mine Workers are holding a series of socials each Thursday evening to raise funds to furnish the children of the community a Christmas treat.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmont Simmons announce the birth of a son on Dec. 5. The baby has been named James Allen. The mother is the former Miss Mary Repetsky Turek.

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Griffith and daughter Janet recently visited in Beckley. Mr. Griffith's father, Henry Griffith, returned with them to spend a few weeks.

Mrs. Paul Carr has been ill with the influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Smith and daughter spent Tuesday in Elkins.

Hobert Stockley, Rowlesburg, spent the week visiting friends in Kempton.

Mrs. Lewis Duling, a patient in Excelsior Springs, Mo., hospital for the past five months is reported improving. Mrs. Duling is the wife of the manager of the Buxton Landstreet Store here.

14 Local Marines Receive Promotions

The promotions of 14 enlisted men serving in Company D, Fifth Reserve Battalion, United States Marine Corps, was announced yesterday by Capt. John T. Fey, commanding officer.

Jay E. Bechtel, was promoted to technical sergeant and the following men were advanced to private first class: Joseph D. Shober, James A. Robinette, Don H. Ritter, Robert P. Rank, John M. Price, Howard H. Peterson, Francis Michaels, Paul F. Lechliter, George F. Helmstetter, Leland D. Jackson, Richard B. Briner, Richard V. Clites and Danny S. Ambrose.

Capt. Fey also announced that all personnel of the company who have not completed their physical examinations must report for the drill period Monday night, at 7:30 o'clock at the Marine Army, Union Street. He added that all examinations must be completed by December 31.

Four more men enlisted in the local unit to make the company only 12 short of authorized strength. Recruits are Cpl. Edward R. Burkey, 601 Patterson Avenue; Pvt. Thomas Cramblitt, 423 Laing Avenue; Pfc. Clyde R. Athey, 204 Laing Avenue, and Pvt. Jack Miller, Corriganville.

Motorists Forfeit Bonds

Robert W. Burns, 134 Paca Street, yesterday forfeited $16.45 bond in Trial Magistrates Court on charges of reckless driving on Route 220 Sunday.

Edward Orndorf, Mt. Savage, was fined $3.45 on a charge of exceeding 30 miles an hour at Bowling Green Saturday. Both charges were preferred by Trooper Thomas G. Barton.

Local Man Injured When Auto Skids

Benjamin A. LaNeve, 25, 190 North Centre Street, was treated in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, Wednesday afternoon for minor injuries suffered when the car he was driving skidded on the icy highway near the Westernport-McCoole road intersection.

Marlin Sponaugle, 41, 111 Roberts Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday for a finger injury suffered in a fall from a ladder.

Reports Coat Stolen

Police yesterday received a report from Mrs. Ruth Snyder, 212 North Mechanic Street, that a raccoon coat belonging to her was stolen from the Alibi Cocktail Lounge, Baltimore and Mechanic Streets, Wednesday night. The coat is valued at $150.

Also under investigation is the theft of a Ford V-8 motor and transmission from Lester Dawson, Oldtown.

Charles Martin Hall was an American inventor. In 1886 he invented an electrolytic process for the reduction of aluminium (or aluminum), and in 1888 commenced the commercial manufacture of the metal with a Pittsburgh company of which he became vice president in 1890.

Board Holds Hearing On Idle Pay Appeal

The Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board conducted a hearing Wednesday on the appeal of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, from a referee's decision last July 8 denying unemployment benefits to Celanese workers for the period just after the strike at the plant was terminated on June 28.

The referee held that all Celanese workers were eligible as of July 8, except 84 employs in the CA blocks, but the union claims that over 50 per cent of the plant was in production within a day or so after the strike and that benefits should be paid from either July 1 or 2 until the union members returned to work.

Luke Places Second In Safety Contest For Paper Firm

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has announced that the employes of the Tyrone, Pa., plant had won the company safety competition for the second straight year with the Luke plant taking second place.

The Tyrone plant had only nine lost-time accidents during 1947. The Luke plant had 11.116 lost-time accidents per million man hours worked and 1,671 work days lost through injuries.

This discloses a remarkable improvement in a plant the size of Luke's, because the record one year ago was 18.46 lost-time accidents per million man hours worked, with a reduction of lost-time accidents from 72 to 42, or approximately a 40 per cent decrease. In the President's Trophy race the Luke plant showed an improvement of 87.3 per cent over its five-year safety average.

In compiling the top safety record of the six plants owned and operated by the company, the Tyrone employes reduced their accident frequency rate from an average of more than 80 accidents per million man hours worked over the past five years, to only 5.282 accidents per million man hours worked during the fiscal year ended October 31.

This performance won for the Tyrone employes the President's Trophy for the greatest improvement over their five-year safety average. The plant's safety record was improved 98.2 per cent over this period. This marks the fifth time the Tyrone plant has won the President's Trophy. The award was won previously in 1946, 1942, 1940 and 1935.

The plant also won for the second consecutive year the cash award contest, which is based on the frequency and severity rate of accidents during the fiscal year. All injuries sustained in the plant were temporary and a total of only 538 work days was lost during the year.

The Charleston, S. C., plant finished third in the President's Trophy competition and fourth in the cash award contest; the Covington, Va., plant was third in the cash award contest and fourth in the standing for the President's Trophy; the Mechanicville, N. Y., plant was fifth in both competitions, and the Williamsburg, Pa., plant was sixth in both contests.

Throughout the company an improvement of 54.3 per cent was shown in safety progress during the past year. A total of 265 lost-time accidents were reported by the company's six plants, compared with 316 accidents reported during the fiscal year 1946.

Luke Places Second In Safety Contest For Paper Firm

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has announced that the employes of the Tyrone, Pa., plant had won the company safety competition for the second straight year with the Luke plant taking second place.

The Tyrone plant had only nine lost-time accidents during 1947. The Luke plant had 11.116 lost-time accidents per million man hours worked and 1,671 work days lost through injuries.

This discloses a remarkable improvement in a plant the size of Luke's, because the record one year ago was 18.46 lost-time accidents per million man hours worked, with a reduction of lost-time accidents from 72 to 42, or approximately a 40 per cent decrease. In the President's Trophy race the Luke plant showed an improvement of 87.3 per cent over its five-year safety average.

In compiling the top safety record of the six plants owned and operated by the company, the Tyrone employes reduced their accident frequency rate from an average of more than 40 accidents per million man hours worked over the past five years, to only 5.282 accidents per million man hours worked during the fiscal year ended October 31.

This performance won for the Tyrone employes the President's Trophy for the greatest improvement over their five-year safety average. The plant's safety record was improved 98.2 per cent over this period. This marks the fifth time the Tyrone plant has won the President's Trophy. The award was won previously in 1946, 1942, 1940 and 1935.

The plant also won for the second consecutive year the cash award contest, which is based on the frequency and severity rate of accidents during the fiscal year. All injuries sustained in the plant were temporary and a total of only 538 work days was lost during the year.

The Charleston, S. C., plant finished third in the President's Trophy competition and fourth in the cash award contest; the Covington, Va., plant was third in the cash award contest and fourth in the standing for the President's Trophy; the Mechanicville, N. Y., plant was fifth in both competitions, and the Williamsburg, Pa., plant was sixth in both contests.

Throughout the company an improvement of 54.8 per cent was shown in safety progress during the past year. A total of 265 lost-time accidents were reporte by the company's six plants, compared with 316 accidents reported during the fiscal year 1946.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Do Divorcees Chase Married Men? Exception, Says Miss Fairfax

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A few weeks ago there was printed in this column a letter from a divorcee who complained about the attitude taken toward her by the wives of husbands who gave her casual notice.

"If any of the husbands so much as pay me a compliment on my appearance or my ability to carry on and make a home for my children," she said, "their wives turn very cold shoulders to me and some even make cutting remarks." She then went on to say, "What is a woman in my shoes supposed to do? How are you going to make men friends? We can't go up to an unattached man and ask him for a date. We certainly don't want anyone else's husband, either.'

Commenting on this woman's letter, a reader writes to voice the opinion that our divorcee is "trying an awful lot to show off. She seems to be quite elated," says this reader, "and brags about the married men commenting on her looks or how well she has taken care of her children. No wonder the wives are mad. If there is anything in the world that will make a wife angry (not jealous) it is the husband that tells her about how well some other woman dresses.'

Now I think this reader may very well have something in thinking that the divorcee is bragging a little about being noticed by men. A divorced woman's morale is likely to have received a terrific blow, and any stray compliment that comes her way, even though it may be nothing more than a conventional pleasantry, is apt to mean more to her than it would under other circumstances. She feels that it proves she is still attractive to men in general, even though the one man who was her husband might have failed to find her so. All it needs is a little insight on the part of happily married wives to realize that most divorced women have been hurt in their pride as well as in their hearts, and not take it too seriously when they seem to attach undue emphasis to a compliment paid them by a husband who is merely trying to be gracious.

As for my correspondent's remark that it makes a wife "angry," but not "jealous" when her husband praises another woman's appearance, my own feeling is that such a wife is angry because she is jealous. If women could only learn to take such things casually and pass them off with tolerance and good nature, more matrimonial crises could be avoided.

One more thing from this reader's letter that seems worthy of comment is her remark that "the kind of women wives dislike are the single ones who are deliberately out after married men and don't care that the wives know it."

Personally, I believe that the percentage of single women who deliberately set out to break up a home is very small. Now and then, of course, one does come across an unscrupulous adventuress who is out to get all the scalps she can, but this is the exception that proves the rule. For every one such, there are many hundreds of the other kind.

Home Needs Airing

It is hard to heat dead air. Therefore, the home should be opened at mid-day and thoroughly aired. When doing this, turn down the thermostat so the heating plant will not operate while the house is open.

Down With Glamor!

Madame is turning down glamor for domesticity this Christmas. At least that's what a poll by the National Analysts, Inc., indicates.

For Christmas this year Mrs. America would much rather have a radio or phonograph than a new evening gown, a refrigerator or washing machine rather than a fur coat. Electrical appliances and radios head milady's letters to Santa, with furs and fur coats way down in third place.

As far the man of the house, the ideal gift would be an automobile according to this survey. If this item seems a bit extravagant, try a coat or suit. No? Well, then, you can't go wrong by buying him a new radio or phonograph for that's his third choice.

Jury Here Awards Boonsboro Couple $6,000 Damages

Third Case Against Donald Moss Settled

Verdicts totaling $6,000 were returned yesterday in the $20,000 damage suits against Donald F. Moss, Frederick, in Circuit Court, and a third case against him was settled by agreement of counsel.

The cases tried were filed by Mrs. Josephine E. Moser, Boonsboro, who sued for $15,000 and received $5,000, and her husband, Ralph J. Moser, who sued for $5,000 and received $1,000.

The third case was filed by Marvin L. Kline against Moss for $5,000, but was settled by agreement of counsel for an unrecorded amount.

Testimony showed that Mrs. Moser and Kline, with several others were passengers in an old model car operated by Moss, which hit a pole and wrecked on U. S. Route 40, between Hagerstown and Boonsboro, after a front spring on the car allegedly broke, just after passing a bus.

Mrs. Moser claimed serious and permanent injuries and her husband sued for loss of her services.

Attorneys for the Mosers were John and Charles Wagaman, Hagerstown, and Edward J. Ryan, this city. Attorneys for Moss were Irvine H. Rytledge, and E. Stuart Bushong, both Hagerstown, and William H. Geppert, this city. Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown, represented Kline.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson presided.

Paw Paw Man Is Shot During Altercation

Two Paw Paw, W. Va., men were being held in the Morgan County jail, at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., last night pending the outcome of an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the wounding of one of the men.

State Trooper J. R. Wolfe, Berkeley Springs, identified the men as Willard Ellsworth Edwards, 27, and Ira Shanholtz, about 52, both of Paw Paw, W. Va.

He said the men were arrested after Edwards shot Shanholtz in the left cheek with a 30-30 rifle during an altercation at the Edwards home last night about 7:30 p. m.

Trooper Wolfe said little was known about the shooting except that Shanholtz had been drinking when the trouble occurred. The bullet, authorities said, inflicted only a slight flesh wound.

Kiwanians See Film And Induct Member

Henry A. Mackey, a life insurance agent, associated with Barnes and Barnard was inducted into the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at its meeting yesterday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA, as the "baby" member of the club, by George Martin, chairman of the Kiwanis Education Committee.

The program yesterday consisted of a sound movie, "Rehearsal" or Backstage with the Bell Telephone Hour. The movie was shown under the sponsorship of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, with Howard M. Smith and Lester Deneen, showing the film.

Uplinger Is Charged With False Fire Alarm

Charged with turning in a false fire alarm, a man identified as Ralph Uplinger, 418 Virginia Avenue, was being held in City Jail last night pending a hearing in Police Court this morning.

South End Fire company answered the call for Box No. 63, corner of Virginia Avenue and Third Street at 10:45 p. m. and later reported that Officer R. M. Nuse had taken "a drunken man" into custody, for the false report.

Police said that when Uplinger was searched at headquarters they found a partially consumed pint bottle of liquor and another half-pint that had not been opened.

Fun Festival Planned At Police Ball Here

You won't have to be able to trip the light fantastic to enjoy this year's Police and Firemen's Ball . . . it's a fun festival this year.

The annual dance, which will be held Tuesday, December 30 from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the State Armory, will still have the familiar music of Phil Spitalny's Orchestra, Pittsburgh, for dancing, of course, but additional floor show attractions will provide entertainment for everyone, the committee said.

The response to the ticket sale has been good, police said.

Funeral Directors Will Elect Officers Tonight

The annual election of officers of the Tri-State Funeral Directors Association will be held tonight at 6 o'clock at a dinner-meeting to be held in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Also scheduled is a report on business transacted by the Maryland State Funeral Directors quarterly conference held in Washington this week.

pares to a December rainfall of 4.27 recorded in 1922, the highest December total on record, and to the minimum rainfall of .41 measured for the month of December 1928. Except for three years in which between .90 and one inch of rain fell, December rainfall has been pretty well more than an inch and in many cases two and three inches.

So far only a trace of snow has been measured this month, which is better than 10 past Decembers in which no snow fell, but poorer than the other 25 in which up to as much as 16.7 inches fell in December 1944, the record.

Strong Spots Persist In Market But Many Leaders Lose Ground

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Strong spots persisted in today's stock market although relatively light liquidation crippled many leaders.

While gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed at the close, declines predominated. Transfers tapered to 940,000 shares against 1,120,000 Wednesday.

Ahead one to two points or so were International Harvester (ex-dividend) at 87, Caterpillar Tractor 54½, DuPont 184, Allied Chemical 188½, Owens-Illinois 71½, Worthington Pump 58⅝, Plymouth Oil 31¼ and Skelly Oil 95½.

Modest improvement was retained by United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Deere, Oliver Corporation, Western Union, Electric Power and Light, Westinghouse, General Electric, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, Santa Fe, New York Central Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Lockheed, Texas Company, Standard Oil (NJ), Phillips Petroleum and International Nickel.

Warren Petroleum was off 1¾ at 48½ and Douglas Aircraft 1½ at 45½. Lesser casualties included Bethlehem Steel, Follansbee Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, Boeing, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, American Water Works, Kennecott, Dow Chemical, American Woolen, Joy Manufacturing. (on a stock sale proposal), Southern Railway, Great Northern Railway, Chicago and North Western, Baltimore and Ohio and Northern Pacific.

Forward leaners in the curb were American Gas, McWilliams Dredging (on a dividend), Pantepec, Savoy Oil and Middle West Corporation. Adams Hat dipped on a cut disbursement. Easier were Barium Steel, Electric Bond and Share and Equity Corporation. Turnover here was 290,000 shares versus 250,000 yesterday.

Railroad issues wobbled a bit lower on the average in the bond market after a comparatively sharp run-up Wednesday.

Volume slackened a bit from yesterday's 11-month high total of $7,160,000 but still came up to $6,720,000.

United States governments moved steadily in the over-the-counter market. The Victory Loan 2½s of December 1967-72 were unchanged at 101 bid.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Corn led a downturn in grain futures on the Board of Trade today despite the fact that a new record high was rung up by the yellow grain in the cash market. Wheat and oats mostly followed corn lower, although December wheat showed independent steadiness. Closing prices:

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Woodrow Wilson was the evangel of geopolitics and the genius who divided Europe with caliper and micrometer. It was all good gravy but it got cold.

We spent a lot of time and labor donating shingles for the other man's roof. We should be welcome under it.

Instead they are accusing us of imperialism, arrogance and warmongering. Well, we buttered our toast and we must lie on it.

I will say our altruists and do-gooders are working like beavers. And I will not say that all a beaver seems to do is make a swamp.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Do Divorcees Chase Married Men? Exception, Says Miss Fairfax

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A few weeks ago there was printed in this column a letter from a divorcee who complained about the attitude taken toward her by the wives of husbands who gave her casual notice.

"If any of the husbands so much as pay me a compliment on my appearance or my ability to carry on and make a home for my children," she said, "their wives turn very cold shoulders to me and some even make cutting remarks." She then went on to say, "What is a woman in my shoes supposed to do? How are you going to make men friends? We can't go up to an unattached man and ask him for a date. We certainly don't want anyone else's husband, either.'

Commenting on this woman's letter, a reader writes to voice the opinion that our divorcee is "trying an awful lot to show off. She seems to be quite elated," says this reader, "and brags about the married men commenting on her looks or how well she has taken care of her children. No wonder the wives are mad. If there is anything in the world that will make a wife angry (not jealous) it is the husband that tells her about how well some other woman dresses.'

Now I think this reader may very well have something in thinking that the divorcee is bragging a little about being noticed by men. A divorced woman's morale is likely to have received a terrific blow, and any stray compliment that comes her way, even though it may be nothing more than a conventional pleasantry, is apt to mean more to her than it would under other circumstances. She feels that it proves she is still attractive to men in general, even though the one man who was her husband might have failed to find her so. All it needs is a little insight on the part of happily married wives to realize that most divorced women have been hurt in their pride as well as in their hearts, and not take it too seriously when they seem to attach undue emphasis to a compliment paid them by a husband who is merely trying to be gracious.

As for my correspondent's remark that it makes a wife "angry," but not "jealous" when her husband praises another woman's appearance, my own feeling is that such a wife is angry because she is jealous. If women could only learn to take such things casually and pass them off with tolerance and good nature, more matrimonial crises could be avoided.

One more thing from this reader's letter that seems worthy of comment is her remark that "the kind of women wives dislike are the single ones who are deliberately out after married men and don't care that the wives know it."

Personally, I believe that the percentage of single women who deliberately set out to break up a home is very small. Now and then, of course, one does come across an unscrupulous adventuress who is out to get all the scalps she can, but this is the exception that proves the rule. For every one such, there are many hundreds of the other kind.

Home Needs Airing

It is hard to heat dead air. Therefore, the home should be opened at mid-day and thoroughly aired. When doing this, turn down the thermostat so the heating plant will not operate while the house is open.

Princes Bagdad Club Involved In Suit For $175

Plaintiff Claims He Loaned $180

A suit against The Princes of Bagdad Club No. 77, Knights of Malta, 133 North Centre Street, for $175, which was allegedly loaned to the club by George O. Butts, this city, was scheduled for hearing in Trial Magistrates Court December 16.

The suit filed November 5, by Morris Baron, attorney for the plaintiff was protested yesterday by "an agent" of the organization and an attaches said the organization claims the loan was made to an individual and not the club.

According to the declaration the sum of $100 was loaned the club on June 20, this year, and $80 on August 13. A cash payment of $5 was returned to Butts on November 5 leaving the balance of $175.

A summons from the court was served on the organization December 1, and the first date of hearing set for December 6. The defendant organization, however, failed to appear.

Maryland law declares that a hearing cannot be held in such cases within less than six days after the summons is served or more than 15 days if a protest is not filed. The first hearing date, consequently, was set aside and a second date set for December 14.

However the protest, filed yesterday, allowed the court to set a date at the request of the two parties concerned.

Only minimum information is filed in Magistrates Court in Civil Suits, attaches said, and facts concerning the loan will not be disclosed until the hearing is held.

The suit is set to be heard before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew at 10 a. m., but no counsel was listed for the Princess of Bagdad Club. Attaches at the court said they could not identify the agent who indicated a protest and requested a hearing.

Jury Here Awards Boonsboro Couple $6,000 Damages

Third Case Against Donald Moss Settled

Verdicts totaling $6,000 were returned yesterday in the $20,000 damage suits against Donald F. Moss, Frederick, in Circuit Court, and a third case against him was settled by agreement of counsel.

The cases tried were filed by Mrs. Josephine E. Moser, Boonsboro, who sued for $15,000 and received $5,000, and her husband, Ralph J. Moser, who sued for $5,000 and received $1,000.

The third case was filed by Marvin L. Kline against Moss for $5,000, but was settled by agreement of counsel for an unrecorded amount.

Testimony showed that Mrs. Moser and Kline, with several others were passengers in an old model car operated by Moss, which hit a pole and wrecked on U. S. Route 40, between Hagerstown and Boonsboro, after a front spring on the car allegedly broke, just after passing a bus.

Mrs. Moser claimed serious and permanent injuries and her husband sued for loss of her services.

Attorneys for the Mosers were John and Charles Wagaman, Hagerstown, and Edward J. Ryan, this city. Attorneys for Moss were Irvine H. Rytledge, and E. Stuart Bushong, both Hagerstown, and William H. Geppert, this city. Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown, represented Kline.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson presided.

Paw Paw Man Is Shot During Altercation

Two Paw Paw, W. Va., men were being held in the Morgan County jail, at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., last night pending the outcome of an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the wounding of one of the men.

State Trooper J. R. Wolfe, Berkeley Springs, identified the men as Willard Ellsworth Edwards, 27, and Ira Shanholtz, about 52, both of Paw Paw, W. Va.

He said the men were arrested after Edwards shot Shanholtz in the left cheek with a 30-30 rifle during an altercation at the Edwards home last night about 7:30 p. m.

Trooper Wolfe said little was known about the shooting except that Shanholtz had been drinking when the trouble occurred. The bullet, authorities said, inflicted only a slight flesh wound.

Fun Festival Planned At Police Ball Here

You won't have to be able to trip the light fantastic to enjoy this year's Police and Firemen's Ball . . . it's a fun festival this year.

The annual dance, which will be held Tuesday, December 30 from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the State Armory, will still have the familiar music of Phil Spitalny's Orchestra, Pittsburgh, for dancing, of course, but additional floor show attractions will provide entertainment for everyone, the committee said.

The response to the ticket sale has been good, police said.

Funeral Directors Will Elect Officers Tonight

The annual election of officers of the Tri-State Funeral Directors Association will be held tonight at 6 o'clock at a dinner-meeting to be held in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Also scheduled is a report on business transacted by the Maryland State Funeral Directors quarterly conference held in Washington this week.

pares to a December rainfall of 4.27 recorded in 1922, the highest December total on record, and to the minimum rainfall of .41 measured for the month of December 1928. Except for three years in which between .90 and one inch of rain fell, December rainfall has been pretty well more than an inch and in many cases two and three inches.

So far only a trace of snow has been measured this month, which is better than 10 past Decembers in which no snow fell, but poorer than the other 25 in which up to as much as 16.7 inches fell in December 1944, the record.

Strong Spots Persist In Market But Many Leaders Lose Ground

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Strong spots persisted in today's stock market although relatively light liquidation crippled many leaders.

While gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed at the close, declines predominated. Transfers tapered to 940,000 shares against 1,120,000 Wednesday.

Ahead one to two points or so were International Harvester (ex-dividend) at 87, Caterpillar Tractor 54½, DuPont 184, Allied Chemical 188½, Owens-Illinois 71½, Worthington Pump 58⅝, Plymouth Oil 31¼ and Skelly Oil 95½.

Modest improvement was retained by United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Deere, Oliver Corporation, Western Union, Electric Power and Light, Westinghouse, General Electric, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, Santa Fe, New York Central Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Lockheed, Texas Company, Standard Oil (NJ), Phillips Petroleum and International Nickel.

Warren Petroleum was off 1¾ at 48½ and Douglas Aircraft 1½ at 45½. Lesser casualties included Bethlehem Steel, Follansbee Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, Boeing, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, American Water Works, Kennecott, Dow Chemical, American Woolen, Joy Manufacturing, (on a stock sale proposal), Southern Railway, Great Northern Railway, Chicago and North Western, Baltimore and Ohio and Northern Pacific.

Forward leaners in the curb were American Gas, McWilliams Dredging (on a dividend), Pantepec, Savoy Oil and Middle West Corporation. Adams Hat dipped on a cut disbursement. Easier were Barium Steel, Electric Bond and Share and Equity Corporation. Turnover here was 290,000 shares versus 250,000 yesterday.

Railroad issues wobbled a bit lower on the average in the bond market after a comparatively sharp run-up Wednesday.

Volume slackened a bit from yesterday's 11-month high total of $7,160,000 but still came up to $6,720,000.

United States governments moved steadily in the over-the-counter market. The Victory Loan 2½s of December 1967-72 were unchanged at 101 bid.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Woodrow Wilson was the evangel of geopolitics and the genius who divided Europe with caliper and micrometer. It was all good gravy but it got cold.

We spent a lot of time and labor donating shingles for the other man's roof. We should be welcome under it.

Instead they are accusing us of imperialism, arrogance and warmongering. Well, we buttered our toast and we must lie on it.

I will say our altruists and do-gooders are working like beavers. And I will not say that all a beaver seems to do is make a swamp.

Here's The Way General Meyers Got His Pension

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON—Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, who was retired for disability from the Army in August, 1945, is no longer receiving his tax-free $550 a month retirement pay.

It was suspended by the Army Department at the request of the U. S. Air Force.

Meyers was retired for disability incurred in line of duty. How does this disability retirement work?

There are three principal ways in which officers are retired from the service:

1. For disability not the result of misconduct.
2. For age.
3. For length of service.

The only retirement pay which is not subject to income tax is that received for disability.

To get retired for disability an officer must go through a lengthy rigamarole designed to prove to the Secretary of the Army that he is unfit to perform the field duties which his rank demands.

Once a year every officer is given a physical examination. If the examination reveals physical defects, the officer is sent to a hospital. After treatment he is examined by what is called a disposition board. This is the first step in disability retirement proceedings.

The disposition board can:

1. Decide the officer is perfectly fit and send him back to full duty.
2. Decide he needs further hospital treatment.
3. Decide he has a disability which hospital treatment will not cure. If this happens he is sent to a retiring board. This is what happened to Gen. Meyers and to at least 28,000 Army officers since the beginning of the war.

Retiring Boards are located in the field. They consist of both line officers and service doctors. A board has an average of six members.

When the officer up for disability retirement goes before the board he is permitted to present all the evidence and witnesses he wants to try to prove he is or is not fit for duty.

The Board's decision depends upon this question: Can the officer perform the field duties which his rank demands of him? If he can't, will medical treatment ever enable him to?

Take the hypothetical case of an infantry officer wounded and left with a stiff leg. The retiring board might likely find him unfit for duty in the field. But if the same officer were a dentist, for example, and his stiff leg did not interfere with his practice, he likely would be kept on active duty.

Disabled officers put on the inactive rolls are paid a sum equivalent to ¾ of their base pay—plus extras for length of service (except in the case of general officers). They receive this money for the rest of their lives.

The findings of a retiring board are always approved (or disapproved) by the Secretary of the Army.

After retirement an officer can do most anything he wants to. He can take a job, or not. It won't affect his retirement pay. The only thing which might affect it would be his engaging in an activity detrimental to the service. That could result in the service's taking disciplinary action against him and possibly stopping his retirement pay.

The Army found legal authority to withhold Meyers' pay but has not yet found authority to remove him from the retirement rolls.

In other words, although Meyers is not receiving his monthly checks any more, the retirement pay is accruing to his account. The pay has simply been suspended. Whether he will ever get it probably must be settled in the courts.

Princes Bagdad Club Involved In Suit For $175

Plaintiff Claims He Loaned $180

A suit against The Princes of Bagdad Club No. 77, Knights of Malta, 133 North Centre Street, for $175, which was allegedly loaned to the club by George O. Butts, this city, was scheduled for hearing in Trial Magistrates Court December 16.

The suit filed November 5, by Morris Baron, attorney for the plaintiff was protested yesterday by "an agent" of the organization and an attaches said the organization claims the loan was made to an individual and not the club.

According to the declaration the sum of $100 was loaned the club on June 20, this year, and $80 on August 13. A cash payment of $5 was returned to Butts on November 5 leaving the balance of $175.

A summons from the court was served on the organization December 1, and the first date of hearing set for December 6. The defendant organization, however, failed to appear.

Maryland law declares that a hearing cannot be held in such cases within less than six days after the summons is served or more than 15 days if a protest is not filed. The first hearing date, consequently, was set aside and a second date set for December 14.

However the protest, filed yesterday, allowed the court to set a date at the request of the two parties concerned.

Only minimum information is filed in Magistrates Court in Civil Suits, attaches said, and facts concerning the loan will not be disclosed until the hearing is held.

The suit is set to be heard before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew at 10 a. m., but no counsel was listed for the Princess of Bagdad Club. Attaches at the court said they could not identify the agent who indicated a protest and requested a hearing.

Picture To Be Shown

"The Child of Bethlehem" a motion picture with sound will be shown at Central Methodist Church, South George Street, at 7:30 Sunday night.

The Men's Club of the church will sponsor this service, which is said to be of special interest to young people. The public is invited to attend.

Hatfield House, Hatfield, England, is a stately Elizabethan mansion built in 1608-11 and situated in extensive and beautiful grounds. It contains valuable portraits and historical manuscripts.

Civic Club Holds Christmas Party In Tri Towns

By GEORGE DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — A Christmas party featured the December meeting of the Westernport and Luke Civic Club held in the firemen's room of the Westernport City Building.

Preceding the progrm, at the business meeting $5 was donated to the Westernport and Luke Lions Club toward the fund for the purchase of street signs, raincoats and caps for the patrols of the schools and $10 to the United Nations Organization fund for destitute children in Europe.

Refreshments were served in the Library room of the City Building. Mrs. Royland Seaber and Mrs. A. W. Determan were joint hostesses and were assisted by Mrs. David McIntyre, Sr.

There was a lighted Christmas tree with an imitation Santa Claus standing in front of it. Robert Kaiser dressed as a Brownie, collected the Christmas presents and distributed those which were exchanged by the members. The library room was also appropriately decorated for the Christmas season.

WSCS Will Meet

The monthly meeting of the WSCS society will be held Wednesday Dec. 17, 7:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church.

The program will include song by assemblage, "Joy to the World"; vocal solo, "O Holy Night," by Miss Yolanda Colabrese, student Potomac State School, Keyser, with piano accompaniment by Miss Toni Dayton; Christmas Carols on vibra bells by Miss Lucille Arthur, with piano accompaniment by Miss Pauline Whiteman; reading, "The Red Stocking," by Mrs. Rymer Ferrell; vocal solo to be selected by Miss Colabrese and selection of Christmas carols by Miss Lucille Arthur.

Will Donate Food

Members of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, and the Sunday School are asked to bring nonperishable foods to the church this Sunday, for the underpriveleged families of the Tri-Towns.

The project is under the sponsorship of the Men's Club of the church.

Any person knowing of needy families in the Tri-Towns are requested to call the Times-News office at Westernport or the Piedmont Herald. The names will be turned over to the committee composed of John E. Grindle, Harry Foreman, William McGee and Okey Michael for investigation.

Reports of the donations received will be made at a meeting of the Men's Club Monday evening at the church.

Plan Christmas Party

The Boy and Girl Scout Troops of the Tri-Towns, which includes Barton, will hold their annual Christmas party Monday night from 7:30 to 10 o'clock at Bruce High School at Westernport. All of the scouters of the troops are also invited.

Browne Kooken will be in charge of decorations; Alton R. Fortney, district chairman, will direct the games and the singing of Christmas Carols will be led by Dr. Donald P. Whitworth. Refreshments will be served.

A similiar party will be held Tuesday night, 7 to 9 in the recreation room of Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church for the cub pack sponsored by Trinity Methodist Church and the Brownie troop sponsored by the Piedmont Parent-Teachers Association that is now being organized. The same leaders will have charge that are conducting the other party and refreshments also will be served.

Fire Damages Store

A fire of undetermined origin in the cellar of the Warnick Feed Store, adjoining the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad in the vicinity of Third Street, Piedmont, early yesterday morning caused slight damage. Some hay and other feed was burned but Frederick Tichnell, owned of the wholesale store said the loss was covered by insurance.

The fire was quickly extingusined by Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, and Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, Piedmont.

To Open Club Rooms

The official opening, for public inspection, of the new club rooms of Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Main Street, will be held Thursday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 o'clock, it is announced.

The modernaires Orchestra will play for dancing.

The firemen purchased the building from Mrs. Norris Repp, Main Street, the former home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, which was gutted by fire the early morning of Feb. 25.

The firemen have rebuilt a part of the building with concrete block material, doing most of the work themselves. The second floor has not been completed. The club room is comfortably furnished with leather-upholstered chairs.

Leroy Frantz is chairman of the building committee which is also composed of Walter Riley and Kenneth Harrison.

Brief Mention

Melvin R. Bobo, Jr., Westernport, who was employed as a stock boy at the G. C. Murphy Company Store at Piedmont has been transferred to their Ligonier Pa. store to begin student training for a manager.

Westernport Council Daughters of America will hold a Christmas party at their regular meeting Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Odd Fellow's Hall, Westernport. Members will exchange gifts.

Mackerel Schools

A school of mackerel is so large it sometimes stretches 10 miles in length and a half mile in width, according to skippers of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Company's trawler fleet.

Nearly 300,000 home fires occurred last year in the United States.

Here's The Way General Meyers Got His Pension

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON—Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, who was retired for disability from the Army in August, 1945, is no longer receiving his tax-free $550 a month retirement pay.

It was suspended by the Army Department at the request of the U. S. Air Force.

Meyers was retired for disability incurred in line of duty. How does this disability retirement work?

There are three principal ways in which officers are retired from the service:

1. For disability not the result of misconduct.
2. For age.
3. For length of service.

The only retirement pay which is not subject to income tax is that received for disability.

To get retired for disability an officer must go through a lengthy rigamarole designed to prove to the Secretary of the Army that he is unfit to perform the field duties which his rank demands.

Once a year every officer is given a physical examination. If the examination reveals physical defects, the officer is sent to a hospital. After treatment he is examined by what is called a disposition board. This is the first step in disability retirement proceedings.

The disposition board can:

1. Decide the officer is perfectly fit and send him back to full duty.
2. Decide he needs further hospital treatment.
3. Decide he has a disability which hospital treatment will not cure. If this happens he is sent to a retiring board. This is what happened to Gen. Meyers and to at least 28,000 Army officers since the beginning of the war.

Retiring Boards are located in the field. They consist of both line officers and service doctors. A board has an average of six members.

When the officer up for disability retirement goes before the board he is permitted to present all the evidence and witnesses he wants to try to prove he is or is not fit for duty.

The Board's decision depends upon this question: Can the officer perform the field duties which his rank demands of him? If he can't, will medical treatment ever enable him to?

Take the hypothetical case of an infantry officer wounded and left with a stiff leg. The retiring board might likely find him unfit for duty in the field. But if the same officer were a dentist, for example, and his stiff leg did not interfere with his practice, he likely would be kept on active duty.

Disabled officers put on the inactive rolls are paid a sum equivalent to ¾ of their base pay—plus extras for length of service (except in the case of general officers). They receive this money for the rest of their lives.

The findings of a retiring board are always approved (or disapproved) by the Secretary of the Army.

After retirement an officer can do most anything he wants to. He can take a job, or not. It won't affect his retirement pay. The only thing which might affect it would be his engaging in an activity detrimental to the service. That could result in the service's taking disciplinary action against him and possibly stopping his retirement pay.

The Army found legal authority to withhold Meyers' pay but has not yet found authority to remove him from the retirement rolls.

In other words, although Meyers is not receiving his monthly checks any more, the retirement pay is accruing to his account. The pay has simply been suspended. Whether he will ever get it probably must be settled in the courts.

Civic Club Holds Christmas Party In Tri Towns

By GEORGE DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — A Christmas party featured the December meeting of the Westernport and Luke Civic Club held in the firemen's room of the Westernport City Building.

Preceding the progrm, at the business meeting $5 was donated to the Westernport and Luke Lions Club toward the fund for the purchase of street signs, raincoats and caps for the patrols of the schools and $10 to the United Nations Organization fund for destitute children in Europe.

Refreshments were served in the Library room of the City Building. Mrs. Royland Seaber and Mrs. A. W. Determan were joint hostesses and were assisted by Mrs. David McIntyre, Sr.

There was a lighted Christmas tree with an imitation Santa Claus standing in front of it. Robert Kaiser dressed as a Brownie, collected the Christmas presents and distributed those which were exchanged by the members. The library room was also appropriately decorated for the Christmas season.

WSCS Will Meet

The monthly meeting of the WSCS society will be held Wednesday Dec. 17, 7:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church.

The program will include song by assemblage, "Joy to the World", vocal solo, "O Holy Night," by Miss Yolanda Colabrese, student Potomac State School, Keyser, with piano accompaniment by Miss Toni Dayton; Christmas Carols on vibra bells by Miss Lucille Arthur, with piano accompaniment by Miss Pauline Whiteman; reading, "The Red Stocking," by Mrs. Rymer Perrell; vocal solo to be selected by Miss Colabrese and selection of Christmas carols by Miss Lucille Arthur.

Will Donate Food

Members of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, and the Sunday School are asked to bring nonperishable foods to the church this Sunday, for the underpriveleged families of the Tri-Towns.

The project is under the sponsorship of the Men's Club of the church.

Any person knowing of needy families in the Tri-Towns are requested to call the Times-News office at Westernport or the Piedmont Herald. The names will be turned over to the committee composed of John E. Grindle, Harry Foreman, William McGee and Okey Michael for investigetion.

Reports of the donations received will be made at a meeting of the Men's Club Monday evening at the church.

Plan Christmas Party

The Boy and Girl Scout Troops of the Tri-Towns, which includes Barton, will hold their annual Christmas party Monday night from 7:30 to 10 o'clock at Bruce High School at Westernport. All of the scouters of the troops are also invited.

Browne Kooken will be in charge of decorations; Alton R. Fortney, district chairman, will direct the games and the singing of Christmas Carols will be led by Dr. Donald P. Whitworth. Refreshments will be served.

A similiar party will be held Tuesday night, 7 to 9 in the recreation room of Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church for the cub pack sponsored by Trinity Methodist Church and the Brownie troop sponsored by the Piedmont Parent-Teachers Association that is now being organized. The same leaders will have charge that are conducting the other party and refreshments also will be served.

Fire Damages Store

A fire of undetermined origin in the cellar of the Warnick Feed Store, adjoining the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad in the vicinity of Third Street, Piedmont, early yesterday morning caused slight damage. Some hay and other feed was burned but Frederick Tichnell, owned of the wholesale store said the loss was covered by insurance.

The fire was quickly extinguished by Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, and Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, Piedmont.

To Open Club Rooms

The official opening, for public inspection, of the new club rooms of Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Main Street, will be held Thursday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 o'clock, it is announced.

The modernaires Orchestra will play for dancing.

The firemen purchased the building from Mrs. Norris Repp, Main Street, the former home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, which was gutted by fire the early morning of Feb. 25.

The firemen have rebuilt a part of the building with concrete block material, doing most of the work themselves. The second floor has not been completed. The club room is comfortably furnished with leather-upholstered chairs.

Leroy Frantz is chairman of the building committee which is also composed of Walter Riley and Kenneth Harrison.

Brief Mention

Melvin R. Bobo, Jr., Westernport, who was employed as a stock boy at the G. C. Murphy Company Store at Piedmont has been transferred to their Ligonier Pa. store to begin student training for a manager.

Westernport Council Daughters of America will hold a Christmas party at their regular meeting Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Odd Fellow's Hall, Westernport. Members will exchange gifts.

Mackerel Schools

A school of mackerel is so large it sometimes stretches 10 miles in length and a half mile in width, according to skippers of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Company's trawler fleet.

Nearly 300,000 home fires occurred last year in the United States.

Man Finds Own Initial In Shoulder Of Ham

D. J. Kiser, RFD 2, was sawing a piece of meat off a ham shoulder last night when his wife, Mrs. Bertha Kiser, told him:

"You are cutting your own shoulder."

Faces Vagrancy Charge

Joseph Koelker, this city, held on a vagrancy charge, yesterday was ordered held in default of $100 bond, when he was given a hearing before Magistrate Olive H. Bruce, Jr.

Court records show he was given a suspended six-months sentence on a similar count six years ago. Police have arrested him a number of times on misdemeanor charges, they said.

WHEN the family is small, turkey — the traditional answer to what we shall have for Christmas dinner—may be impractical. But Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without some sort of bird on the table. Duck or chicken become as festive as the tinseled tree if they're stuffed with a dressing that is chock full of crunchy pecans. It's an old southern custom, favored in the states where the pecan crop is important, but equally delicious in any part of the country. Use the giblets, too, and three cups of toasted bread cubes to one-half cup of pecans. Let yourself go on the seasoning, but don't forget the sage and thyme.

Yule Recipe Greeting

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A really unique holiday greeting is being sent to her friends by Mrs. Roger W. Straus, a New Yorker who leads a double life—speaking from a culinary point of view. But unusual as the greeting is it's one many women could duplicate and any friend would give anything to receive: a collection of favorite recipes.

Mrs. Straus devotes a great deal of her time and her remarkable administrative energies to her job as Commissioner for the Metropolitan New York area of the New York State Food Commission. During the war her Commission answered 80,000 requests for food help from women who were trying to cope with rationing and other wartime problems, and set an example that was useful to other communities.

Now she and her colleagues are ready to help families with the really pressing present-day problem of how to maintain good nutrition standards in the face of high food prices and the conservation campaign to aid Europe's hungry.

Before Mrs. Straus took on this current post she had interested herself in and become part owner of a magazine concerned with tales and preparation of wonderful food, Gourmet. And it is from the very special dishes served in her own household that she has chosen the recipes in her holiday greeting. Guests who have come to her house and eaten can now—with the aid of a skillet and a saucepan—conquer!

There is, however, one peculiarity in Mrs. Straus's collection. There is NO GARLIC in any recipe, not even in a salad dressing. Mrs. Strauss says: "I do not believe that garlic was meant for use in our modern society or that it is necessary to use garlic to achieve a subtle flavor when so many other herbs are available. And I don't think that one should unsuspectingly be given garlic to eat! I do believe, however, that there is one place where it should be used and that is in what the French call dishes 'provencale.' Provencale means a sauce highly seasoned with garlic and when a dish is named in this way the eater knows just what he's choosing."

To anyone who wants to send out a recipe greeting Mrs. Straus has a word of persuasion. Make your recipes as explicit as possible. While she loves to cook she is the kind of cook who needs very clear directions, and so she can understand how many women like herself feel.

Mrs. Straus is fortunate in having the help of Anna Stowell who has cooked for the Straus family for over 40 years and who measured and weighed and worried in order to make the recipes accurate. Both of them agree that there's one last word of advice—70 recipes almost proved to be their Waterloo. They suggested less ambition! Any friend, whether it's a childhood crony or a young bride who is to receive the recipe package, will be perfectly happy with a baker's dozen of favorites and they will be more fun than chore to compile.

Apple Pudding

6 apples
½ cup large raisins
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup water
Sprinkle of nutmeg

Wash and core and peel apples. Slice crosswise in ½-inch slices. Lay these in a pottery dish with the raisins. Pour over them the sugar. Dot with butter and sprinkle with nutmeg. Add water and bake at 350 F. till tender. Serve with cream.

Cheese Hors D'Oeuvers Cain Hoy

1 cake snappy cheese
¼ cup flour
¼ lb. butter
1 dash red pepper

Work all ingredients together and form into a long roll about 1 inch in diameter. Wrap in buttered paper and store in icebox until needed. When wanted, slice as many as you wish to use in ½-inch rounds and bake in oven 400 F. for 5 minutes. The roll will keep for at least a week.

Stuffed Beets

Take small red beets (boiled the day before using); scoop them out; chop celery, walnuts, and a few sardellen. Mix with mayonnaise and fill beets. Serve on lettuce.

Cottage Cheese Dip

Take some cottage cheese, mix with fresh horseradish; add Worcester sauce to taste, and a dash of paprika. Serve in a glass bowl with crackers around it so that one may dip the crackers in the bowl. Also, raw cauliflower may be served with this.

Curried Soup

Fry a thinly sliced onion in 2 generous tablespoons butter in a saucepan until yellow, but not brown. Add 2 teaspoons curry powder; Next add enough good consomme to make a sauce of a medium thick consistency. Slice 1 large sour apple into the mixture. Then add 2 tablespoons chutney and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Cook for ½ hour, run through sieve, add 3 tablespoons cooking sherry, thin with cream. This is good hot or cold. If served hot, serve a side dish of boiled rice to be added to the soup. If served cold, put in cups and stand in icebox until very cold.

WHY GET UP NIGHTS DUE TO KIDNEYS?
FLUSH THEM OUT THIS DOCTOR'S WAY

● If you get up nights—have frequent desire to pass your water—but have only scanty passages—yes, and have backache, due to excess acidity in the urine, be glad you're reading this:

Three generations ago Dr. Kilmer, a famous doctor, found hundreds of his patients with this trouble. Painstakingly he made a medicine of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams—Nature's own way to relief. He called it "Swamp-Root" and millions of grateful men and women have taken it—often with amazing results.

Man Finds Own Initial In Shoulder Of Ham

D. J. Kiser, RFD 2, was sawing a piece of meat off a ham shoulder last night when his wife, Mrs. Bertha Kiser, told him:

"You are cutting your own shoulder."

Two West Virginia State Police Resign

Resignation of two West Virginia State Police officers have been announced by Superintendent W. E. Burchett in Charleston.

Sgt. W. L. Wolford, Martinsburg, veteran of 18 years' service stationed at Berkeley Springs, resigned effective at the end of this month for disability reasons.

Sgt. Wolford was assigned to the Keyser detachment of the State Police for several years.

Trooper W. E. Stark, Moundsville, a member of the State Police pistol team, is resigning to return to his family home near Shinnston, where he will look after business affairs. He is a veteran of 12½ years service in the department. He is a veteran of three years Army service during World War II.

School Funds Allocated By West Virginia

Eight nearby West Virginia counties have been mailed checks by the West Virginia Board of School Finances as part of the sixth general distribution for the present fiscal year.

They include Mineral county, $35,000; Grant county, $24,787; Hampshire county, $30,300; Hardy county, $25,000; Morgan county, $5,000; Pendleton, $27,622; Preston county, $80,000 and Tucker county, $40,000.

Faces Vagrancy Charge

Joseph Koelker, this city, held on a vagrancy charge, yesterday was ordered held in default of $100 bond, when he was given a hearing before Magistrate Olive H. Bruce, Jr.

Court records show he was given a suspended six-months sentence on a similar count six years ago. Police have arrested him a number of times on misdemeanor charges, they said.

WHEN the family is small, turkey — the traditional answer to what we shall have for Christmas dinner—may be impractical. But Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without some sort of bird on the table. Duck or chicken become as festive as the tinseled tree if they're stuffed with a dressing that is chock full of crunchy pecans. It's an old southern custom, favored in the states where the pecan crop is important, but equally delicious in any part of the country. Use the giblets, too, and three cups of toasted bread cubes to one-half cup of pecans. Let yourself go on the seasoning, but don't forget the sage and thyme.

Christmas Forbidden!

Did you know that the observance of Christmas was once forbidden in England? Yes, in England, home of the Yule log, the carol-singer, the wassailers.

It happened during the Reformation. Many of the reformers thought that the undue jollity of Christmas day was sacrilegious, so on December 24, 1652, Parliament ordered that "no observance shall be held of the five and twentieth day of December, commonly called Christmas day; nor any solemnity used or exercised in churches upon that day in respect thereof".

This edict was not too popular, as you might suspect. It was not many years later that Christmas was once again regarded as a holiday.

101st Birthday For Cards

Strange as it seems Christmas cards are just a little over a hundred years old! It wasn't until 1846 that the idea of sending cards to friends at Christmas time was originated in England by Sir Henry Cole. These cards were no bigger than the ordinary visiting card, but were distinguished by a small colored design, usually of holly or mistletoe. Although only a thousand were sold the first year, by 1860 sending Christmas cards was a general custom throughout England, and today millions of such greetings are mailed every Yuletide.

In auto-ownership per capita, New Zealand ranks next to the United States.

Yule Recipe Greeting

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A really unique holiday greeting is being sent to her friends by Mrs. Roger W. Straus, a New Yorker who leads a double life—speaking from a culinary point of view. But unusual as the greeting is it's one many women could duplicate and any friend would give anything to receive: a collection of favorite recipes.

Mrs. Straus devotes a great deal of her time and her remarkable administrative energies to her job as Commissioner for the Metropolitan New York area of the New York State Food Commission. During the war her Commission answered 80,000 requests for food help from women who were trying to cope with rationing and other wartime problems, and set an example that was useful to other communities.

Now she and her colleagues are ready to help families with the really pressing present-day problem of how to maintain good nutrition standards in the face of high food prices and the conservation campaign to aid Europe's hungry.

Before Mrs. Straus took on this current post she had interested herself in and become part owner of a magazine concerned with tales and preparation of wonderful food, Gourmet. And it is from the very special dishes served in her own household that she has chosen the recipes in her holiday greeting. Guests who have come to her house and eaten can now—with the aid of a skillet and a saucepan—conquer!

There is, however, one peculiarity in Mrs. Straus's collection. There is NO GARLIC in any recipe, not even in a salad dressing. Mrs. Strauss says: "I do not believe that garlic was meant for use in our modern society or that it is necessary to use garlic to achieve a subtle flavor when so many other herbs are available. And I don't think that one should unsuspectingly be given garlic to eat! I do believe, however, that there is one place where it should be used and that is in what the French call dishes 'provencale.' Provencale means a sauce highly seasoned with garlic and when a dish is named in this way the eater knows just what he's choosing."

To anyone who wants to send out a recipe greeting Mrs. Straus has a word of persuasion. Make your recipes as explicit as possible. While she loves to cook she is the kind of cook who needs very clear directions, and so she can understand how many women like herself feel.

Mrs. Straus is fortunate in having the help of Anna Stowell who has cooked for the Straus family for over 40 years and who measured and weighed and worried in order to make the recipes accurate. Both of them agree that there's one last word of advice—70 recipes almost proved to be their Waterloo. They suggested less ambition! Any friend, whether it's a childhood crony or a young bride who is to receive the recipe package, will be perfectly happy with a baker's dozen of favorites and they will be more fun than chore to compile.

Apple Pudding

6 apples
½ cup large raisins
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup water
Sprinkle of nutmeg

Wash and core and peel apples. Slice crosswise in ½-inch slices. Lay these in a pottery dish with the raisins. Pour over them the sugar. Dot with butter and sprinkle with nutmeg. Add water and bake at 350 F. till tender. Serve with cream.

Cheese Hors D'Oeuvers Cain Hoy

1 cake snappy cheese
¼ cup flour
¼ lb. butter
1 dash red pepper

Work all ingredients together and form into a long roll about 1 inch in diameter. Wrap in buttered paper and store in icebox until needed. When wanted, slice as many as you wish to use in ½-inch rounds and bake in oven 400 F. for 5 minutes. The roll will keep for at least a week.

Stuffed Beets

Take small red beets (boiled the day before using); scoop them out; chop celery, walnuts, and a few sardellen. Mix with mayonnaise and fill beets. Serve on lettuce.

Cottage Cheese Dip

Take some cottage cheese, mix with fresh horseradish; add Worcester sauce to taste, and a dash of paprika. Serve in a glass bowl with crackers around it so that one may dip the crackers in the bowl. Also, raw cauliflower may be served with this.

Curried Soup

Fry a thinly sliced onion in 2 generous tablespoons butter in a saucepan until yellow, but not brown. Add 2 teaspoons curry powder; Next add enough good consomme to make a sauce of a medium thick consistency. Slice 1 large sour apple into the mixture. Then add 2 tablespoons chutney and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Cook for ½ hour, run through sieve, add 3 tablespoons cooking sherry, thin with cream. This is good hot or cold. If served hot, serve a side dish of boiled rice to be added to the soup. If served cold, put in cups and stand in icebox until very cold.

15 Coal Mines Are Sealed In Somerset Co.

MEYERSDALE, Pa. — According to Richard Maize, Uniontown, approximately 15 coal mines in the vicinity of Meyersdale have been sealed under the mine sealing program in Pennsylvania. Maize is secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Mines, and the work, which began in September, was prosecuted to a large extent with the aid of bulldozers. Approximately 70 abandoned mines in Western Pennsylvania have been sealed since the new mine sealing program began, and will be continued through the winter.

Four division offices have been established to handle the million-dollar project which will require eight to 10 years to complete. Offices are located at Meyersdale, Greensburg, Clarion and Curwensville. Twenty-five to 30 mines have been sealed in the Clarion district, and a similar number around Curwensville in Clearfield county.

Thousands of abandoned coal mines in the state will be sealed in order to prevent pollution of streams by acid mine water.

Sportsmen Elect

At the monthly meeting of the Meyersdale Sportsmen's Association held last evening at Laurel Falls, Frank P. Brown was elected president for the ensuing year. Other officers chosen were Stephen Gimble, Jr., vice-president; Gus Tattarelli, secretary, and Harold Hoar, treasurer.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by William Reckner, Salisbury, by moving pictures of wild life, their habits, etc., and also scenes in Cook's Forest, all taken by himself. Delicious refreshments followed the entertainment.

Membership cards for 1948 are being distributed, and an effort is being made to increase the enrollment to considerably over the 200 mark which was the enrollment for the present year just closing.

Christmas Forbidden!

Did you know that the observance of Christmas was once forbidden in England? Yes, in England, home of the Yule log, the carol-singer, the wassailers.

It happened during the Reformation. Many of the reformers thought that the undue jollity of Christmas day was sacrilegious, so on December 24, 1652, Parliament ordered that "no observance shall be held of the five and twentieth day of December, commonly called Christmas day; nor any solemnity used or exercised in churches upon that day in respect thereof".

This edict was not too popular, as you might suspect. It was not many years later that Christmas was once again regarded as a holiday.

101st Birthday For Cards

Strange as it seems Christmas cards are just a little over a hundred years old! It wasn't until 1846 that the idea of sending cards to friends at Christmas time was originated in England by Sir Henry Cole. These cards were no bigger than the ordinary visiting card, but were distinguished by a small colored design, usually of holly or mistletoe. Although only a thousand were sold the first year, by 1860 sending Christmas cards was a general custom throughout England, and today millions of such greetings are mailed every Yuletide.

In auto-ownership per capita, New Zealand ranks next to the United States.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

"Your hat, I say," to Mike Romano.

"What's the matter with it?" asked my favorite detective.

"Nothing," I said. "Looks like any other hat. Only trouble is, it's on. What's the matter, Mike? Been seeing too many movies?"

Billy Rose

Romano balanced 2,000 calories of cherry cheesecake on his fork. "Those Hollywood bums are beginning to wise up a little," he said. "I saw a picture last night where the boys from homicide were all hard-working gents in neat blue serges. And none of that corny name-calling like—"

"Flatfoot?" I suggested innocently.

The crack hit Mike where he walks. He whipped a picture out of his inside coat pocket. "Take a look at this," he said. "Did you ever see a more beautiful pair of arches?"

The picture was an X-ray of Mike's size 12's.

"Not exactly pin-up stuff," I said, "but not bad. What has this got to do with your wearing a snap-brim in a restaurant?"

"The hat," said Mike, "is on account of a smallish gent named Pinkie Hinkle. Until recently he ran a barbershop over in the East 50's. At least that's what the sign on the window said. But his real racket was taking bets on horses. This pinkie was a pretty cute citizen. For years the department wasn't able to pin so much as a Herbert Hoover button on him. Every so often the inspector had him down to headquarters for a chat, but whenever the conversation got around to horses, Pinkie made with the question-mark eyes. He said all he knew about the critters was what he once had read in a Milkman's Journal. Last month the Commissioner himself put me on the case. Pinkie didn't figure to know me because I've always been over on the West Side."

I signaled the waiter to bring the detective another portion of the life-giving cheesecake. "How did you get the bookie to talk?" I asked. "With those brains in your biceps?"

Romano looked hurt. "You ought to know me better than that," he said. "With me it's finesse instead of fury. I had Pinkie picked up and brought down to the stationhouse for questioning. No rough stuff, mind you. The boys just teased him a little and wasted a lot of his time. After they released him, I sent Charlie Jackson of Homicide over to his shop to heckle him some more. When Charlie was through, the little shaver was ready to climb his own barber pole. Little shaver—barber—get it?"

"Sure I get it," I said, "you flat—"

Mike cut in quickly. "An hour after Charlie left, I walked in. 'Trim,' I told Pinkie. 'And no clippers.'

"There was a policeman standing on the other side of the street. 'Turn my chair around,' I said to Pinkie, 'so I don't have to look at that Cossack.'

"'Don't you like cops?' asked the barber.

"By the time I got through telling him, we were buddies. And then he opened up. He was so mad about the teasing that he probably would have confided in J. Edgar Hoover. By the time he got around to shaving the back of my neck, I had the whole layout. A minute later he gave me a tip on the fifth at Hialeah and let me bet a sawbuck to win. I signaled the cop across the street and made the pinch."

"Cute story," I said, "but you've left out the non-detachable hat."

"I was coming to that," sighed Mike. "For the first time in my years, my timing was off. I had made the pinch before Pinkie Hinkle finished combing my hair. The barber refused to let me out of the chair. He said he might be a bookie, but he was still a darned good barber. Nobody was going to walk out of his shop looking like Albert Einstein.

"I said, 'Okay, Pinkie. Slap some stickum on but hurry it up.'

"Well, he slapped something on, all right."

"What was it?" I asked.

"You tell me," said Mike, removing his hat.

15 Coal Mines Are Sealed In Somerset Co.

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—According to Richard Maize, Uniontown, approximately 15 coal mines in the vicinity of Meyersdale have been sealed under the mine sealing program in Pennsylvania. Maize is secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Mines, and the work, which began in September, was prosecuted to a large extent with the aid of bulldozers. Approximately 70 abandoned mines in Western Pennsylvania have been sealed since the new mine sealing program began, and will be continued through the winter.

Four division offices have been established to handle the million-dollar project which will require eight to 10 years to complete. Offices are located at Meyersdale, Greensburg, Clarion and Curwensville. Twenty-five to 30 mines have been sealed in the Clarion district, and a similar number around Curwensville in Clearfield county.

Thousands of abandoned coal mines in the state will be sealed in order to prevent pollution of streams by acid mine water.

Sportsmen Elect

At the monthly meeting of the Meyersdale Sportsmen's Association held last evening at Laurel Falls, Frank P. Brown was elected president for the ensuing year. Other officers chosen were Stephen Gimble, Jr., vice-president; Gus Tattarelli, secretary, and Harold Hoar, treasurer.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by William Reckner, Salisbury, by moving pictures of wild life, their habits, etc., and also scenes in Cook's Forest, all taken by himself. Delicious refreshments followed the entertainment.

Membership cards for 1548 are being distributed, and an effort is being made to increase the enrollment to considerably over the 200 mark which was the enrollment for the present year just closing.

U. S. Public Shows Reluctance To Approve Goods Shipment To Soviet

Lend-Lease Reasons Not Clear Enough

By Dr. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 11 — Demands in Congress for full information about the extent of our lend-lease shipments to Russia are closely in tune with American public attitudes.

Whatever reasons the State Department has for lend-lease exports to Russia—such as the fact that we import useful material from Russia or the need to encourage normal trade—those reasons have not been presented effectively to the general public.

A substantial majority of voters react unfavorably to the idea of our government shipping such products as oil, machinery and industrial items to the Soviets while we are being called upon to help check Communism in Europe by supporting the Marshall Plan.

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and a candidate for the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination, declared last week that in 1947 the United States shipped Russia more electrical machinery and apparatus than to England and France combined. He urged a ban on exports of heavy machinery or potential war material to the Soviets.

The country's attitude toward the issue was probed in a survey conducted just prior to the Congressional questioning which prompted the current publicity on our Russian exports. From coast-to-coast voters were asked two questions. The first was designed to find out haw many American voters think goods are being shipped by our government to Russia. The findings reveal that about half did not know they were.

"Do you happen to know whether the United States government is now shipping oil, machinery and industrial products to Russia?"

Yes, it is	52%
No, it isn't	48

The second question, asked of everyone in the sample, was:

"Would you like to see the United States government stop shipments of oil, machinery and industrial products to Russia, or should we continue to send these things to Russia?"

Stop	71%
Continue	16
Qualified	6
No opinion	7

The principal qualified answers were: "stop until Russia is more cooperative," "send shipments only after we find out how they are being used," and "send a minimum of goods."

Whether the public would have any objections to private manufacturers and business firms selling goods to Russia in the normal course of trade will be studied in a new survey from coast-to-coast.

The Senate Appropriations Committee on December 4 ordered the State Department to submit facts on the amount and kind of 1947 shipments to Russia and her satellite nations. The committee asked for figures on lend-lease shipments as well as all other exports.

Patricia White was so delighted with the attractive artists' colony at Laguna Beach, Cal., where she spent two weeks on location for the picture, that she bought a summer home there.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

"Your hat, I sa.' to Mike Romano.

"What's the matter with it?" asked my favorite detective.

"Nothing," I said. "Looks like any other hat. Only trouble is, it's on. What's the matter, Mike? Been seeing too many movies?"

Billy Rose

Romano balanced 2,000 calories of cherry cheesecake on his fork. "Those Hollywood bums are beginning to wise up a little," he said. "I saw a picture last night where the boys from homicide were all hard-working gents in neat blue serges. And none of that corny name-calling like—"

"Flatfoot?" I suggested innocently.

The crack hit Mike where he walks. He whipped a picture out of his inside coat pocket. "Take a look at this," he said. "Did you ever see a more beautiful pair of arches?"

The picture was an X-ray of Mike's size 12's.

"Not exactly pin-up stuff," I said, "but not bad. What has this got to do with your wearing a snap-brim in a restaurant?"

"The hat," said Mike, "is on account of a smallish gent named Pinkie Hinkle. Until recently he ran a barbershop over in the East 50's. At least that's what the sign on the window said. But his real racket was taking bets on horses. This pinkie was a pretty cute citizen. For years the department wasn't able to pin so much as a Herbert Hoover button on him. Every so often the inspector had him down to headquarters for a chat, but whenever the conversation got around to horses, Pinkie made with the question-mark eyes. He said all he knew about the critters was what he once had read in a Milkman's Journal. Last month the Commisioner himself put me on the case. Pinkie didn't figure to know me because I've always been over on the West Side."

I signaled the waiter to bring the detective another portion of the life-giving cheesecake. "How did you get the bookie to talk?" I asked. "With those brains in your biceps?"

Romano looked hurt. "You ought to know me better than that," he said. "With me it's finesse instead of fury. I had Pinkie picked up and brought down to the stationhouse for questioning. No rough stuff, mind you. The boys just teased him a little and wasted a lot of his time. After they released him, I sent Charlie Jackson of Homicide over to his shop to heckle him some more. When Charlie was through, the little shaver was ready to climb his own barber pole. Little shaver—barber—get it?"

"Sure I get it," I said, "you flat—"

Mike cut in quickly. "An hour after Charlie left, I walked in. 'Trim,' I told Pinkie. 'And no clippers.'

"There was a policeman standing on the other side of the street. 'Turn my chair around,' I said to Pinkie, 'so I don't have to look at that Cossack.'

"'Don't you like cops?' asked the barber.

"By the time I got through telling him, we were buddies. And then he opened up. He was so mad about the teasing that he probably would have confided in J. Edgar Hoover. By the time he got around to shaving the back of my neck, I had the whole layout. A minute later he gave me a tip on the fifth at Hialeah and let me bet a sawbuck to win. I signaled the cop across the street and made the pinch."

"Cute story," I said, "but you've left out the non-detachable hat."

"I was coming to that," sighed Mike. "For the first time in my years, my timing was off. I had made the pinch before Pinkie Hinkle finished combing my hair. The barber refused to let me out of the chair. He said he might be a bookie, but he was still a darned good barber. Nobody was going to walk out of his shop looking like Albert Einstein.

"I said, 'Okay, Pinkie. Slap some stickum on but hurry it up.'

"Well, he slapped something on, all right."

"What was it?" I asked.

"You tell me," said Mike, removing his hat.

His hair was as blue as a Maxfield Parish sky.

Former Resident Westernport Dies In Washington

Fatally Burned When Cigarette Fires Chair

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT—Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Helen Saunders Cole, 44, who was fatally burned after falling asleep smoking a cigarette at her apartment, 3560 13th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., Wednesday.

The wife of Harry G. Cole, who operates a general machine shop in Washington, authorities said Mrs. Cole was burned when an upholstered chair in which she was seated ignited around 6 p. m. She died three hours later in a Washington hospital. Firemen confined the blaze to the chair and a few other pieces of furniture near it. Her husband was at work at the time.

Mrs. Cole was a daughter of William J. and Eugenia Saunders and was a native of Virginia. She lived in Westernport a number of years and graduated from Westernport High School, Class of 1921, and moved to Washington in 1923 about the time of her marriage.

A sister, the late Miss Alberta Saunders taught school for a number of years at Hammond Street School. A brother, William P. Saunders, died August 23, 1946.

Besides her husband, three sisters survive. They are, Mrs. Ruth Creecy, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Bernice Bernadou, Audubon, N. J., and Mrs. Eva C. Childs, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coles, sister-in-law and brother-in-law of the victim, left for Washington yesterday, and Mr. and Mrs. George Lincoln and Mrs. Ray McMarr also expect to attend the funeral which will be held in Washington tomorrow. The body was taken to Hines Funeral Home, there.

Christmas Spirit Is Evidenced In Lonaconing

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING—A joyous Christmas spirit prevailed in the town of Lonaconing Wednesday evening, when Santa Claus made his appearance at 7:30 p. m. to light up the streets with holiday hues.

Santa Claus was aboard Good Will Fire company truck and was introduced by Mayor Alex A. Burt. A community choir sat behind Santa on the squad truck and sang carols at intervals during the journey over the main streets. The Lonaconing City band was on hand to play several selections.

A large group of children and onlookers were lined along the streets during Santa's visit, despite inclement weather. The town had the streets ashed and the sidewalks salted to combat the sleet.

Colored lights with laurel trim have been strung from the First Presbyterian Church, East Main Street, to Union, Jackson and Hanekamp Streets to terminate at the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars home.

A huge tree was lighted Wednesday evening on the VFW veranda and colored lights and laurel decorate the banister to make a pretty Christmas picture.

Santa Claus was also at the VFW home and gave all the youngsters who talked with him a candy-filled boot and an orange. This was made possible through the generous contributions of the community folks in support of the Community decorating fund.

This is the first such occurence that can be remembered by townsfolk of Santa's visit to town to turn on the lights.

The Lonaconing Business Men's Association has announced that the stores will be open Saturday nights until 9 p. m. and open Wednesday afternoons. Stores will remain open every night after December 20 until Christmas.

Nearly all the store windows are decorated with tinsel, wreaths and bells. The Potomac Edison Company office is trimmed with silvery green leaf sprays mounted on the interior walls.

Students Give Program

Students of 10 A section, of which Mrs. Hilda Byers, math instructor, is home room teacher, presented a program of Christmas music, instrumental numbers and novelty presentations.

As a highlight of the assembly, six Marine Corps men from Cumberland recruiting office explained the Civilian Marine Training program and showed a technicolor film on the capture of the island of Tarawa.

"Near You" was played on the piano by Shirley Reidler. "How Numbers Began" was sketched by 10A boys and girls.

"Silent Night" was sung by the assembly. "Nature Plays with Numbers" was presented by Jo Ann Steele.

"Somewhere A Voice Is Calling" was played on the cornet by Lee Smith. "The Mystical Number Seven" was presented by Marguerite Powers.

A tap dance was given by Jo Ann Steele. Billy Johnson conducted "Puzzles, With Consequences".

Mr. Davis announced that tickets will go on sale for the Christmas cantata, "Petit Noel", to be presented by the students on December 18, at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium.

Elizabeth Tipton led the assembly in prayer. Billy Frye announced the program.

Brief Items

A fire in a clothes closet beneath a stairway was extinguished Thursday at 11:25 a. m. by Good Will Fire company at the home of Carl Donald, Harpersville. Slight damage was caused to some clothes. Cause of the blaze was not determined. The fire was detected when Mrs. Donald discovered smoke issuing from the closet.

Election of officers will be held by Good Will Fire company on Wednesday, December 17, at the firemen's hall.

Max Brand, writer of Western stories and author of the Dr. Kildare series in the movies, in 20 years wrote and published more than 25,000,000 words, in books, stories and scenarios.

Magic Show To Be Sponsored By Barton P-TA

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON—A magic show will be presented this afternoon and evening in the auditorium of the Barton High School under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

The matinee will start at 1:45 p. m. and the evening performance is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

A two-hour show will be presented and will consist of magic tricks by a group from Hancock.

Proceeds will be used for projects in the school sponsored by the association.

Gifts Are Mailed

Ladies Auxiliary to the Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, prepared Christmas packages last night at the legion home.

Fifty gifts and 54 books were boxed and will be mailed to the Newton D. Baker Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Following the packaging of gifts, a jingle party was held with tables being decorated in Christmas colors. Gifts were exchanged by members and refreshments were served by Mesdames Louise Lamberson, Ruth Shuhart, Laura Shuhart and Esther O'Rourke and Miss Elsie Wilson.

To Nominate Officers

Star Council No. 37, Jr. O.U.A.M., will hold nomination of officers at their regular meeting this evening at 7:30 in the Odd Fellow's hall.

Will Elect Officers

Election of officers for the coming year will be held by members of Barton Hose Co. No. 1 Monday evening at their regular meeting.

The flight of the goshawk is very rapid. It follows its prey in a straight line, not rising in the air to descend upon it, like the falcons. When baffled by the object of pursuit, it enters a wood and hides itself in some covert, and will perch on a bough and await its reappearance with wonderful patience for many hours.

WCTU To Have Special Program

An educational service will feature the monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at 10 a. m., December 17, in Kingsley Methodist Church.

Rev. Allan B. Fisher will speak for the WCTU on the subject, "What a Methodist Thinks of the New Advanced Movement of Temperance."

Mrs. Anetta Montgomery will speak on "A Slice of Bread or a Glass of Beer," and give a legislative report. A playlet entitled, "The Way Out" will be given by three members and a group of young women will sing carols.

During the short business session, with Mrs. E. W. Yates presiding, petitions will be distributed concerning the Senate bill prohibiting the waste of grain. The public is invited to attend.

U. S. Public Shows Reluctance To Approve Goods Shipment To Soviet

Lend-Lease Reasons Not Clear Enough

By Dr. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 11 — Demands in Congress for full information about the extent of our lend-lease shipments to Russia are closely in tune with American public attitudes.

Whatever reasons the State Department has for lend-lease exports to Russia—such as the fact that we import useful material from Russia or the need to encourage normal trade—those reasons have not been presented effectively to the general public.

A substantial majority of voters react unfavorably to the idea of our government shipping such products as oil, machinery and industrial items to the Soviets while we are being called upon to help check Communism in Europe by supporting the Marshall Plan.

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and a candidate for the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination, declared last week that in 1947 the United States shipped Russia more electrical machinery and apparatus than to England and France combined. He urged a ban on exports of heavy machinery or potential war material to the Soviets.

The country's attitude toward the issue was probed in a survey conducted just prior to the Congressional questioning which prompted the current publicity on our Russian exports. From coast-to-coast voters were asked two questions. The first was designed to find out haw many American voters think goods are being shipped by our government to Russia. The findings reveal that about half did not know they were.

"Do you happen to know whether the United States government is now shipping oil, machinery and industrial products to Russia?"

Yes, it is	52%
No, it isn't	48

The second question, asked of everyone in the sample, was:

"Would you like to see the United States government stop shipments of oil, machinery and industrial products to Russia or should we continue to send these things to Russia?"

Stop	71%
Continue	16
Qualified	6
No opinion	7

The principal qualified answers were: "stop until Russia is more cooperative," "send shipments only after we find out how they are being used," and "send a minimum of goods."

Whether the public would have any objections to private manufacturers and business firms selling goods to Russia in the normal course of trade will be studied in a new survey from coast-to-coast.

The Senate Appropriations Committee on December 4 ordered the State Department to submit facts on the amount and kind of 1947 shipments to Russia and her satellite nations. The committee asked for figures on lend-lease shipments as well as all other exports.

Patricia White was so delighted with the attractive artists' colony at Laguna Beach, Cal., where she spent two weeks on location for the picture, that she bought a summer home there.

Altoona Edwards Play Dukes At Armory Tonight

Salem Defeats Potomac State By 46-40 Score

Alderson-Broaddus Plays Cats Tonight

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

The Salem College Tigers scored their fourth straight cage victory of the season as they edged a young and aggressive Potomac State quintet, 46-40, before some 400 spectators in the college gymnasium at Keyser last night in a West Virginia Basketball Conference tussel.

Hampered by the failure of Kenny Sims to produce, the Cats dropped behind early in the third period before a barrage of Tiger baskets and never were able to overtake the Green and White five which put on an exhibition of freezing the ball in the last four minutes of play in the final chapter.

A new scoring star, big Jim Eaton, kept the Catamounts in the game in the first half with 14-points on seven baskets but the Tigers tied down the Cat center in the second semester and the entire team got only 14 points in the final two periods.

Salem Controls Rebounds

The expert rebound control of guards Gene Brissey and Danny Dantonio were the deciding factors in Salem's victory. Dantonio shared Tiger scoring honors for the night with Nick Okruch, each getting ten markers while the Cats were holding Fritz Wilmer to one basket and seven points.

Dick Finley scored from down under to give Potomac a 2-0 lead as the game opened. Two baskets by Okruch and two free tosses by Wilmer sent Salem in front 6-2 and the Tigers retained that margin until Sims' fielder with seconds to go sliced the count to 14-12, Salem at the quarter.

Baskets by Eaton and Finley midway in the second period cut Salem's lead to 19-18 but Wilmer's twin-pointer, Dantonio's basket-free toss and fielders by Brissey and John Petrisko ran Salem's lead to 28-18 with five minutes left in the half. Eaton sandwiched rebound goals around Gutshall's fielder from near mid-court and the Cats were back in the game at 28-24. Okruch's two foul conversions and Johnson's basket with a second to go left Salem on top, 30-26, at the half.

Gutshall's lay-up and Johnson's free toss cut the Salem bulge to 29 in the first minute of the third quarter then Gutshall connected on a jump shot and the Cats led, 31-30.

Salem quickly recovered with Ben Swager tying the count with a foul conversion and Dantonio followed with a free toss and a other basket and Salem led, 36-31. Johnson's basket, Paul Romano's free toss and Finley's lay-up cut Salem to a 37-35 margin but Paul Carder hooped a fielder and added a gift toss for a 40-35 Salem edge as the final quarter opened.

Baskets by Carder and Swager and gift tosses by Finley and Gutshall moved the score to 44-3 then Swager connected from the side and Salem settled down to freeze the ball with four minutes left. Bill Sestric's basket from outside the foul circle and Bob "Red" Slussar's gift toss concluded the scoring with Salem on top, 46-40.

Play Battlers Tonight

Potomac State plays its second game in two nights when the Cats entertain the Alderson-Broaddus Battlers in the College Gymnasium at 8:30 p. m. It will be the Battlers' opening intercollegiate tilt of the season. A preliminary at 7:00 p. m. will involve two teams in the campus intramural cage league.

Puerto Rican Wins Decision Over Barone

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (AP)—Filberto Osario, Puerto Rican featherweight, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Jumping Joe Barone of Pittsburgh before 1,316 fans tonight in Aragon Gardens.

It was a toe-to-toe scrap without too much advantage, although the experienced Osario outpunched Barone, particularly with a right to the ribs. Osario weighed 126, Barone 125.

REDS GET HUGHES

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies traded pitcher Tommy Hughes to the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Bert Haas and another player to be delivered by next spring, it was announced tonight.

In the event the player named isn't suitable to the Phils, the Reds will settle for a cash consideration in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Hughes, a 28-year-old righthander, made 29 starts for the Phils last season and won only four games while losing 11. His best season was in 1940 when he won 14 and lost 11.

Greg Johnson Reports | Protests Animal Cruelty

Youngstown's Last Visit | Green's In Tough Spot

By C. V. BURNS

Greg Johnson, assistant to Race Secretary Fred Burton at Charles Town, W. Va., says that not only has attendance and wagering been excellent but the daily average is higher than that of the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, one of this country's major race courses.

Johnson, who has served as chartmaker for the Cumberland Fair Association's race meetings for many years, informs us that during the first seven days of the meeting on the West Virginia track, which opened December 1 and closes December 20, a total of 2,360 entries, an average of 337 per day were filed. He adds that a continuance of such a huge filing of entries will create a new American record.

Greg states that horsemen are conceding that Boston Man, owned and trained by H. M. Simpson of Washington, D. C., is the best route runner at Charles Town.

While the Stevens Stable's Flying Raid recently equalled the 4½ furlongs track mark of .43 3-5, the horsemen aren't conceding this filly the championship until she meets and defeats Annie's Dream and Lawless Miss.

Lawless Miss, incidentally, holds two decisions over Annie's Dream in the current meeting.

Aylesbury, a Cumberland-owned thoroughbred, finished in the money twice this week at Charles Town. On Monday Mrs. Mary Knieriem's bread winner galloped home first to return $27.20 for $2. Yesterday Aylesbury came in third.

Ernest A. Blood, who has coached basketball teams for the past 53 years, including the great Passaic, N. J., high school quints of the 1920s (they won 159 straight games over 5½ years) says there are two important principles to be followed by those who play the court game. They are:

1. Stay on the offense—the other team can't score when you have the ball.
2. Never argue with the referee—it's wasted motion.

That point about arguing with the referee is a very important one and should be stressed more thoroughly by coaches of independent and high school quints.

We understand the local betting gentry have been taking it on the chin lately as a result of those Sunday upsets in the professional football leagues.

Two bona fide knockouts were administered last Sunday when the Chicago Bears and the Philadelphia Eagles went down to defeat.

It weighed only 160 pounds and was felled by Lee Frick.

"You never saw such a head in your life," Conservation Officer W. W. Parsons declared.

When the Youngstown Cubs come to town Sunday to play the Dukes at the State Armory we believe it will mark the first visit here for a team from the Ohio city since 1931 when Youngstown held a Middle Atlantic Baseball League franchise for part of that season.

The M. A. loop had 12 teams and was known as Daily's (Elmer Daily was the president) Dozen.

It was also called the Mad-Atlantic League that year because several of the franchises were transferred

PLAYER BLOWS NOSE, TEAM IS PENALIZED

CORSICANA, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Dan Roberts of Corsicana, head linesman, penalized a Hubbard football team five yards here last night in a post season football game when an unidentified Hubbard player blew his nose.

Roberts had dropped his red flag for both teams being offside on a play. The player picked up the flag and casually used it as a handkerchief.

TOUCHDOWN CLUB PROPOSES FIVE RULES CHANGES

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Five changes in the football rules were recommended to the National Collegiate Athletic Association today by directors of the Touchdown Club of America, a football luncheon club, which held its annual meeting at the Yale Club.

The club directors urged that the goal posts be returned to the goal line, with the uprights set back and the bar projected forward by an overhang, and that the free substitution rule be modified to permit replacements only at the beginning of quarters or during charged timeouts or to relieve an injured player.

The club also wants the penalty of half the distance to the goal line restored as the price of slugging, instead of the present 15 yards, and would like to see a fumble made a free ball which could be recovered and advanced by either side. It also urges the restoration of the penalty of five yards and a first down to the offended side in cases of interference with the offensive center.

Johnny Edwards Stars As Maryland Wins

WESTMINSTER, Md., Dec. 11 (AP) —The University of Maryland basketball team, led by forward John Edwards, opened its season tonight by defeating Western Maryland 63-58.

The winning Terrapins were never ahead by more than nine points in a hotly-contested battle which saw the officials call a total of 51 personal and two technical fouls.

Two players from each team went out of the game via the foul route.

Fred Haas Takes One-Stroke Lead In Miami Tourney

Posts 5-Under-Par 65; Ed Furgol Is Second

By WILBUR JENNINGS

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, former national intercollegiate champion, one-putted nine greens today to grab a one-stroke lead with a five under par 65 at the end of 18 holes of play in the 24th annual $10,000 Miami Open Golf Tournament.

Forty-five players went around the 6,310-yard par 70 Miami Springs Club course in regulation figures or better, but national amateur champion Skee Riegel, of Monterrey, Calif., was not among them.

Riegel needed 73 strokes and was out of the tournament as the field of simon pures was cut to 15 for tomorrow's play with Frank Stranahan of Toledo heading the list with a 68.

One stroke back of Haas was Ed Furgol, 28-year-old Detroiter, who like the leader, has never won a major professional tournament.

Sammy Byrd Is Third

Six were grouped at 68 including Glenn Teal, Jacksonville, Fla.; Walt Burkemo, Detroit; Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind.; Jim Milward, Three Lakes, Wis.; Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Stranahan.

Twenty were tied at 69, including Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and veteran Willie Klein of Miami Beach who won the Miami Open back in 1925 and has played in every tourney since.

Sixteen equalled par figures including defending champion Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., national open champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., Henry Cotton, former British Open champion, and Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa.

Thirty-three performers were caught on the course when darkness fell and will conclude their rounds tomorrow.

A downpour of rain in the early afternoon and again near the conclusion of play slowed down the horde of 230 golfers. The top 150 professional and ties and 15 leading amateurs and ties will play tomorrow. All of the known pros made the grade.

Haas, son of the well known New Orleans professional, went out in 33 and back in 32. His drives of 250 yards or better split the middle, and among his nine-one putt greens were two eight-footers. Thirty two years old, he turned professional two years ago.

Death Takes Ed Brook

The death from a heart attack of Ed Brook, 34, popular pro from Winter Haven, Fla., saddened the first round. Brook, member of a Florida golfing family, practiced continuously for three hours yesterday and collapsed last night.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS) — Jack Coffey, graduate manager of athletics, announced today that Ray Elster, of Chicago, a halfback, has been elected captain of the Fordham football team for 1948.

Majors Reject Pacfic Coast League's Bid

$50,000 Is Donated To Legion Baseball

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS)—Those incorrigible upstarts from the Pacific Coast League attempted another "crash" entree into the upper claw-ses of major league baseball society today and wound up out by the scullery entrance.

They were accorded the Bar Harbor Bounce and the Old Colony Club recoil. They essayed the foot-thrust formula at the doorsill, but in the end they were rebuffed by a resolution as stiffly impassive and neutral as a butler's shirt front.

The major league resolution, whose terms were ordained from the first, was drafted at the annual joint meeting of the American and National leagues and its purport left no doubt of the official attitude, namely:

Petition Is Unacceptable

The Pacific Coast League's petition for acceptance as a third major league was unacceptable for purposes of the present.

As for the future, the wording was cheerfully vague, with a pat-on-the-head condescension for growing populations and territorial gains among the lesser privileged outlands.

The Coast League, and others, also were given to understand that, if they ever made the grade, they would be expected to take care of their own territorial reparations. Briefly, the majors would furnish the open door. The other guy would have to provide the open wallet.

That, in the essence, was about all that transpired as baseball's big assembly for 1947 came to its end.

With Commissioner A. B. Chandler presiding, the joint meeting reaffirmed March 1 as the deadline the 16 clubs must observe in entering upon the rigors and antics of spring training.

It also was decided to disburse as much as $50,000 annually in aid to the Ameriran Legion's baseball program, instead of the $20,000 previously made available.

"We Shall Return"—Rowland

The Pacific Coast League later had a few private opinions on the subject of its disbarment. But President Clarence Rowland contented himself with the portentuous announcement:

"This isn't the end, by any means. We shall return."

He didn't add, "again and again and again," though you got the general drift. The Coast League had had its pretensions smacked down for the second time, but there would be a third, a fourth and so on.

The first came at the Chicago meeting two years ago where Rowland and his colleagues were negligently brushed off with the old barside cliche, "go on out and get a reputation."

This time they were told to go forth and get populations, receipts, prestige and a property-damage payoff to any and all plaintiffs in their territory. In case of doubt, the point was made clear somewhat as follows:

"It is further believed that minor leagues, or clubs, applying for major league classification, must assume all responsibility for territorial rights."

Outside of that, though, everything was Jim Dandy.

Romney To Speak At Keyser Dinner

State Gridders Will Be Honored Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 11 — G. Ott Romney, dean of the school of physical education and athletics at West Virginia University, will be the principal speaker at the dinner to be given in honor of Potomac State's football team Saturday at 6:30 p. m. in the Davis Hall dining room.

Fifty-four members of Potomac State's team were honored by the Keyser Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon today at noon.

Coach Joe Bartell of West Liberty College, was the principal speaker. He spoke on the relationship between athletics and the community.

Joe Isn't Through

Louis Says He'll Knock Out Walcott In Return Go Then Retire From Ring

Blames Poor Condition On Fact He "Dried Out"

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis told a reporter for the Bronx Home News today that "win, lose or draw" he would retire from the ring after his return bout with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer at Yankee Stadium.

Louis, who has not left his apartment in upper Manhattan since last Friday night's fight with Walcott, expressed complete confidence that he would win by a knockout the next time he faces the Camden, N. J. veteran.

"I'll be in better shape the next time," Louis declared, adding that he was "very, very weak" in last week's bout.

He said he should have weighed 214 pounds for Walcott instead of 211, and blamed his poor condition on the fact that he "dried out" strenuously the day before the scrap. He admitted that Mannie Seamon, his trainer, had not approved of the drying out.

Joe said he realized early in the fight that he was not in shape when he was unable to work up a sweat. Further proof came, he said, when a cut under his left eye did not bleed.

Commenting on conjecture in the press that he was washed up, Louis said:

"Nobody knows whether I'm through except myself. I know how I feel and I know I'm not finished."

Girls' Basketball League Referees Named By Ramey

Assignments Given To Four Officials

Four well known basketball stars of the past have been appointed as official referees for games in the Allegany County High School Girls' League which opens its season on January 9, Arthur G. Ramey, of the Board of Education announced yesterday.

The appointees are Mrs. Cleo Miller Rice, Mrs. Winnie Troutman Holcomb, Mrs. Kitty McElfish Rotruck and Mrs. May Welsh Smith.

Mrs. Rice is the wife of George Rice, former AHS athlete, and she also played basketball at the Campobello school from where she was graduated in 1930.

Mrs. Holcomb is the wife of Dick Holcomb, one-time AHS grid star, and starred in basketball at Penn Avenue. In a playoff at the armory with Allegany in 1935 Winnie tossed the winning field goal in the last few seconds of play. This was the game about which there was such a controversy as to whether time had expired before the ball had left the player's hands.

The wife of G. M. Rotruck, former athletic luminary at Keyser High School, Kitty McElfish Rotruck was a member of the Allegany sextet that lost to Penn Avenue in the 1935 playoff.

Mrs. Smith was graduated from Fort Hill in 1940 and played basketball there the last year that the girls' cage sport was part of the county athletic program.

Local Cagers Seek 2nd Win In Pro League

Game Set For 9 P. M.; Ohioans Here Sunday

After gaining an even break in their first two starts the Cumberland Dukes will resume warfare in the All-American Basketball League tonight when they play hosts to the Altoona (Pa.) Edwards at the State Armory at 9 o'clock.

The Altoona quint, coached by Charles "Chick" Davies, who is also tutor of Duquesne University's great team, is owned by Eddie Edwards of Pittsburgh and Wy Paris is the business manager. The Pennsylvanians play their home games at Jaffa Mosque, Altoona.

Altoona has played only one game in the newly formed six-club pro circuit and lost 46-41 after a hard battle with the Youngstown (Ohio) Cubs. The latter team has engaged in five games already, winning three and losing two.

Presents Tall Team

The Edwards team is composed of six players that tower six feet or better and two basketeers that are under the six mark. The team members in the order of their height are Stan Wasik, Hank (Bud) Knocke, Hank Zeller, Mike Bystura, Jimmy Atkins, "Red" Mihalic, Bill Voytko and Georgie Haines.

Cumberland opened its league season last Sunday with a 53-51 victory over the Zanesville Pioneers here. On Monday night the Dukes played minus the service of Bob Pence, their scoring ace, and dropped a 66-57 decision to the Puritans at Wheeling, W. Va.

In tonight's preliminary contest at 7:30 o'clock, Lapp's Plumbers, leaders of the YMCA Senior League, will play Coach Robert "Ace" Baker's Cumberland Amvets.

Cubs Come Here Sunday

Saturday night the Dukes will play the Edwards in a return game at Altoona while on Sunday night at 9 o'clock at the local armory Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's club will do battle with the Youngstown Cubs.

In Sunday's prelim at 7:30 the Amvets will play Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, of the Interstate League.

Williams Fights Pellone Tonight

"Ike" Favored To Win Non-Title Ring Duel

By JIM JENNINGS
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS)—Ike Williams, world's lightweight champion, is favored to defeat Tony Pellone, rugged New York welterweight, in a 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

This is a risky prognostication because Pellone is a furore-creating fisticuffer, who has figured in many split decisions and has wrecked rules in every battle.

The fight will be the champion's first clash with a noted welterweight, and Williams probably will spot his rival about eight pounds.

Williams has fought a few shortweight welters with success but his capable managerial crew has steered him clear of much heavier and dangerous boxers such as Pellone, who is recognized as one of the contenders for Ray Robinson's title.

Ike's only loss this year was to Gene Burton, a welterweight who bested Bernie Docusen last Tuesday night. Williams is far superior to Pellone as a skilled boxer and has a better knockout record. Each has been stopped once.

Cleveland Trades Embree To Yanks

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees announced tonight they had traded outfielder Allie Clark to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Charles (Red) Embree.

It was a straight player swap with no cash involved. Embree, a 28-year-old righthander, won 10 and lost eight games for the Indians last year. He appeared in 27 games, pitched six complete games and had an earned run average of 3.15. He walked 67, struck out 56 and allowed 137 hits in 163 innings.

Charles Embree

Clark, promising young flychaser, was brought up by the Yankees from Newark last August and helped the club in its pennant drive by batting .373 in 20 games. He is 24 years old. He hit .334 for the Bears in 110 games. His 127 hits included 27 doubles, nine triples and 23 home runs.

NYU, Oklahoma Win

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(INS)—New York University's basketball team walloped Arkansas, 85 to 62, in Madison Square Garden tonight before 18,400 fans.

In the second game of the doubleheader Oklahoma A. & M. defeated Long Island University by the score of 52-37.

Former Resident Westernport Dies In Washington

Fatally Burned When Cigarette Fires Chair

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT—Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Helen Saunders Cole, 44, who was fatally burned after falling asleep smoking a cigarette at her apartment, 3500 13th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., Wednesday.

The wife of Harry G. Cole, who operates a general machine shop in Washington, authorities said Mrs. Cole was burned when an upholstered chair in which she was seated ignited around 6 p. m. She died three hours later in a Washington hospital. Firemen confined the blaze to the chair and a few other pieces of furniture near it. Her husband was at work at the time.

Mrs. Cole was a daughter of William J. and Eugenia Saunders and was a native of Virginia. She lived in Westernport a number of years and graduated from Westernport High School, Class of 1921, and moved to Washington in 1923 about the time of her marriage.

A sister, the late Miss Alberta Saunders taught school for a number of years at Hammond Street School. A brother, William P. Saunders, died August 23, 1946.

Besides her husband, three sisters survive. They are, Mrs. Ruth Creecy, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Bernice Bernadou, Audubon,N. J., and Mrs. Eva C. Childs, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coles, sister-in-law and brother-in-law of the victim, left for Washington yesterday, and Mr. and Mrs. George Lincoln and Mrs. Ray McMarr also expect to attend the funeral which will be held in Washington tomorrow. The body was taken to Hines Funeral Home, there.

Christmas Spirit Is Evidenced In Lonaconing

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING—A joyous Christmas spirit prevailed in the town of Lonaconing Wednesday evening, when Santa Claus made his appearance at 7:30 p. m. to light up the streets with holiday hues.

Santa Claus was aboard Good Will Fire company truck and was introduced by Mayor Alex A. Burt. A community choir sat behind Santa on the squad truck and sang carols at intervals during the journey over the main streets. The Lonaconing City band was on hand to play several selections.

A large group of children and onlookers were lined along the streets during Santa's visit, despite inclement weather. The town had the streets ashed and the sidewalks salted to combat the sleet.

Colored lights with laurel trim have been strung from the First Presbyterian Church, East Main Street, to Union, Jackson and Hanekamp Streets to terminate at the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars home.

A huge tree was lighted Wednesday evening on the VFW veranda and colored lights and laurel decorate the banister to make a pretty Christmas picture.

Santa Claus was also at the VFW home and gave all the youngsters who talked with him a candy-filled boot and an orange. This was made possible through the generous contributions of the community folks in support of the Community decorating fund.

This is the first such occurence that can be remembered by townsfolk of Santa's visit to town to turn on the lights.

The Lonaconing Business Men's Association has announced that the stores will be open Saturday nights until 9 p. m. and open Wednesday afternoons. Stores will remain open every night after December 20 until Christmas.

Nearly all the store windows are decorated with tinsel, wreaths and bells. The Potomac Edison Company office is trimmed with silvery green leaf sprays mounted on the interior walls.

Students Give Program

Students of 10 A section, of which Mrs. Hilda Byers, math instructor, is home room teacher, presented a program of Christmas music, instrumental numbers and novelty presentations.

As a highlight of the assembly, six Marine Corps men from Cumberland recruiting office explained the Civilian Marine Training program and showed a technicolor film on the capture of the island of Tarawa.

"Near You" was played on the piano by Shirley Reidler. "How Numbers Began" was sketched by 10A boys and girls.

"Silent Night" was sung by the assembly. "Nature Plays with Numbers" was presented by Jo Ann Steele.

"Somewhere A Voice Is Calling" was played on the cornet by Lee Smith. "The Mystical Number Seven" was presented by Marguerite Powers.

A tap dance was given by Jo Ann Steele. Billy Johnson conducted "Puzzles, With Consequences".

Mr. Davis announced that tickets will go on sale for the Christmas cantata, "Petit Noel", to be presented by the students on December 18, at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium.

Elizabeth Tipton led the assembly in prayer. Billy Frye announced the program.

The flight of the goshawk is very rapid. It follows its prey in a straight line, not rising in the air to descend upon it, like the falcons. When baffled by the object of pursuit, it enters a wood and hides itself in some covert, and will perch on a bough and await its reappearance with wonderful patience for many hours.

WCTU To Have Special Program

An educational service will feature the monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at 10 a. m., December 17, in Kingsley Methodist Church.

POLICE WILL PROBE DEATH OF SAGUARO

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 11 (AP) — Anne Arundel county police will investigate the death of race horse Saguaro at a Laurel track Nov. 21 after testimony of a hearing before the state racing commission is received.

County police chief John Souers said today Lt. Wilbur C. Wade of the Ferndale station had been assigned to the case.

Albert H. McCarthy, president of the local SPCA, said the matter was also being investigated by the state association and would be handled on a state-wide basis.

The racing commission heard testimony that the race horse was shot in the hindquarters with a shotgun loaded with rock salt at the Laurel track starting gate. The horse bolted and ran into a fence, breaking his leg and had to be destroyed.

As a result, Maurice Peters, ex-jockey, trainer of the horse, and Frank Buehler, a horse owner, were barred from the Maryland tracks.

Altoona Edwards Play Dukes At Armory Tonight

Salem Defeats Potomac State By 46-40 Score

Alderson-Broaddus Plays Cats Tonight

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

The Salem College Tigers scored their fourth straight cage victory of the season as they edged a young and aggressive Potomac State quintet, 46-40, before some 400 spectators in the college gymnasium at Keyser last night in a West Virginia Basketball Conference tussel.

Hampered by the failure of Kenny Sims to produce, the Cats dropped behind early in the third period before a barrage of Tiger baskets and never were able to overtake the Green and White five which put on an exhibition of freezing the ball in the last four minutes of play in the final chapter.

A new scoring star, big Jim Eaton, kept the Catamounts in the game in the first half with 14-points on seven baskets but the Tigers tied down the Cat center in the second semester and the entire team got only 14 points in the final two periods.

Salem Controls Rebounds

The expert rebound control of guards Gene Brissey and Danny Dantonio were the deciding factors in Salem's victory. Dantonio shared Tiger scoring honors for the night with Nick Okruch, each getting ten markers while the Cats were holding Fritz Wilmer to one basket and seven points.

Dick Finley scored from down under to give Potomac a 2-0 lead as the game opened. Two baskets by Okruch and two free tosses by Wilmer sent Salem in front 6-2 and the Tigers retained that margin until Sims' fielder with seconds to go sliced the count to 14-12, Salem at the quarter.

Baskets by Eaton and Finley midway in the second period cut Salem's lead to 19-18 but Wilmer's twin-pointer, Dantonio's basket-free toss and fielders by Brissey and John Petrisko ran Salem's lead to 28-18 with five minutes left in the half. Eaton sandwiched rebound goals around Gutshall's fielder from near mid-court and the Cats were back in the game at 28-24. Okruch's two foul conversions and Johnson's basket with a second to go left Salem on top, 30-26, at the half.

Gutshall's lay-up and Johnson's free toss cut the Salem bulge to 29 in the first minute of the third quarter then Gutshall connected on a jump shot and the Cats led, 31-30.

Salem quickly recovered with Ben Swager tying the count with a foul conversion and Dantonio followed with a free toss and a other basket and Salem led, 36-31. Johnson's basket, Paul Romano's free toss and Finley's lay-up cut Salem to a 37-35 margin but Paul Carder hooped a fielder and added a gift toss for a 40-35 Salem edge as the final quarter opened.

Baskets by Carder and Swager and gift tosses by Finley and Gutshall moved the score to 44-3 then Swager connected from the side and Salem settled down to freeze the ball with four minutes left. Bill Sestric's basket from outside the foul circle and Bob "Red" Slussar's gift toss concluded the scoring with Salem on top, 46-40.

Play Battlers Tonight

Potomac State plays its second game in two nights when the Cats entertain the Alderson-Broaddus Battlers in the College Gymnasium at 8:30 p. m. It will be the Battlers' opening intercollegiate tilt of the season. A preliminary at 7:00 p. m. will involve two teams in the campus intramural cage league.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS—Members of the Maryland and West Virginia Hunting Club, organized in 1943 by Guy Kline, Jr., 17 Boone Street, killed eleven deer last week during the six-day open season in the two states. Eight of the animals are shown hanging up and the head of another is held by Clyde Shobe. In five years club members have bagged 34 bucks, starting with four in 1943, and six, five, eight and 11 in the four succeeding seasons. The largest deer (second from left) was killed by Ferman Barton and weighed 178 pounds. The club has leased 720 acres on the South Branch near Romney. Those in the picture, left to right, are: Front Row — John W. Barton, Harry J. Barton, Charles Feison of Lima, Ohio; Clyde Shobe and Ralph Shobe. Second Row: Harmon Barton, Ferman Barton, Frank Barton of Lima, Ohio; John H. Murphy, Guy Kline, Sr., Sam Skelly and Michael Skelly. Other members missing from the picture are Roy Richardson, Frostburg, and John Dorsey.

Majors Reject Pacfic Coast League's Bid

$50,000 Is Donated To Legion Baseball

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS)—Those incorrigible upstarts from the Pacific Coast League attempted another "crash" entree into the upper claw-ses of major league baseball society today and wound up out by the scullery entrance.

They were accorded the Bar Harbor Bounce and the Old Colony Club recoil. They essayed the foot-thrust formula at the doorsill, but in the end they were rebuffed by a resolution as stiffly impassive and neutral as a butler's shirt front.

The major league resolution, whose terms were ordained from the first, was drafted at the annual joint meeting of the American and National leagues and its purport left no doubt of the official attitude, namely:

Petition Is Unacceptable

The Pacific Coast League's petition for acceptance as a third major league was unacceptable for purposes of the present.

As for the future, the wording was cheerfully vague, with a pat-on-the-head condescension for growing populations and territorial gains among the lesser privileged outlands.

The Coast League, and others, also were given to understand that, if they ever made the grade, they would be expected to take care of their own territorial reparations. Briefly, the majors would furnish the open door. The other guy would have to provide the open wallet.

That, in the essence, was about all that transpired as baseball's big assembly for 1947 came to its end.

With Commissioner A. B. Chandler presiding, the joint meeting reaffirmed March 1 as the deadline the 16 clubs must observe in entering upon the rigors and antics of spring training.

It also was decided to disburse as much as $50,000 annually in aid to the Ameriran Legion's baseball program, instead of the $20,000 previously made available.

"We Shall Return"—Rowland

The Pacific Coast League later had a few private opinions on the subject of its disbarment. But President Clarence Rowland contented himself with the portentuous announcement:

"This isn't the end, by any means. We shall return."

He didn't add, "again and again and again," though you got the general drift. The Coast League had had its pretensions smacked down for the second time, but there would be a third, a fourth and so on.

The first came at the Chicago meeting two years ago where Rowland and his colleagues were negligently brushed off with the old barside cliche, "go on out and get a reputation."

This time they were told to go forth and get populations, receipts, prestige and a property-damage payoff to any and all plaintiffs in their territory. In case of doubt, the point was made clear somewhat as follows:

"It is further believed that minor leagues, or clubs, applying for major league classification, must assume all responsibility for territorial rights."

Outside of that, though, everything was Jim Dandy.

Local Cagers Seek 2nd Win In Pro League

Game Set For 9 P. M.; Ohioans Here Sunday

After gaining an even break in their first two starts the Cumberland Dukes will resume warfare in the All-American Basketball League tonight when they play hosts to the Altoona (Pa.) Edwards at the State Armory at 9 o'clock.

The Altoona quint, coached by Charles "Chick" Davies, who is also tutor of Duquesne University's great team, is owned by Eddie Edwards of Pittsburgh and Wy Paris is the business manager. The Pennsylvanians play their home games at Jaffa Mosque, Altoona.

Altoona has played only one game in the newly formed six-club pro circuit and lost 46-41 after a hard battle with the Youngstown (Ohio) Cubs. The latter team has engaged in five games already, winning three and losing two.

Presents Tall Team

The Edwards team is composed of six players that tower six feet or better and two basketeers that are under the six mark. The team members in the order of their height are Stan Wasik, Hank (Bud) Knocke, Hank Zeller, Mike Bystura, Jimmy Atkins, "Red" Mihalic, Bill Voytko and Georgie Haines.

Cumberland opened its league season last Sunday with a 53-51 victory over the Zanesville Pioneers here. On Monday night the Dukes played minus the service of Bob Pence, their scoring ace, and dropped a 66-57 decision to the Puritans at Wheeling, W. Va.

In tonight's preliminary contest at 7:30 o'clock, Lapp's Plumbers, leaders of the YMCA Senior League, will play Coach Robert "Ace" Baker's Cumberland Amvets.

Greg Johnson Reports Youngstown's Last Visit

Protests Animal Cruelty — Green's In Tough Spot

By C. V. BURNS

Greg Johnson, assistant to Race Secretary Fred Burton at Charles Town, W. Va., says that not only has attendance and wagering been excellent but the daily average is higher than that of the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, one of this country's major race courses.

Johnson, who has served as chartmaker for the Cumberland Fair Association's race meetings for many years, informs us that during the first seven days of the meeting on the West Virginia track, which opened December 1 and closes December 20, a total of 2,360 entries, an average of 337 per day were filed. He adds that a continuance of such a huge filing of entries will create a new American record.

Greg states that horsemen are conceding that Boston Man, owned and trained by H. M. Simpson of Washington, D. C., is the best route runner at Charles Town.

While the Stevens Stable's Flying Raid recently equalled the 4½ furlongs track mark of :43 3-5, the horsemen aren't conceding this filly the championship until she meets and defeats Annie's Dream and Lawless Miss.

Lawless Miss, incidentally, holds two decisions over Annie's Dream in the current meeting.

Aylesbury, a Cumberland-owned thoroughbred, finished in the money twice this week at Charles Town. On Monday Mrs. Mary Knieriem's bread winner galloped home first to return $27.20 for $2. Yesterday Aylesbury came in third.

Ernest A. Blood, who has coached basketball teams for the past 53 years, including the great Passaic, N. J., high school quints of the 1920s (they won 159 straight games over 5½ years) says there are two important principles to be followed by those who play the court game. They are:

1. Stay on the offense—the other team can't score when you have the ball.
2. Never argue with the referee—it's wasted motion.

That point about arguing with the referee is a very important one and should be stressed more thoroughly by coaches of independent and high school quints.

We understand the local betting gentry have been taking it on the chin lately as a result of those Sunday upsets in the professional football leagues.

Two bona fide knockouts were administered last Sunday when the Chicago Bears and the Philadelphia Eagles went down to defeat.

A 32 point buck was killed by a hunter west of Martinsburg, W. Va., last Saturday, according to information from the West Virginia town.

It weighed only 160 pounds and was felled by Lee Frick.

"You never saw such a head in your life," Conservation Officer W. W. Parsons declared.

When the Youngstown Cubs come to town Sunday to play the Dukes at the State Armory we believe it will mark the first visit here for a team from the Ohio city since 1931 when Youngstown held a Middle Atlantic Baseball League franchise for part of that season.

The M. A. loop had 12 teams and was known as Daily's (Elmer Daily was the president) Dozen.

It was also called the Mad-Atlantic League that year because several of the franchises were transferred

PLAYER BLOWS NOSE, TEAM IS PENALIZED

CORSICANA, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Dan Roberts of Corsicana, head linesman, penalized a Hubbard football team five yards here last night in a post season football game when an unidentified Hubbard player blew his nose.

Roberts had dropped his red flag for both teams being offside on a play. The player picked up the flag and casually used it as a handkerchief.

TOUCHDOWN CLUB PROPOSES FIVE RULES CHANGES

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Five changes in the football rules were recommended to the National Collegiate Athletic Association today by directors of the Touchdown Club of America, a football luncheon club, which held its annual meeting at the Yale Club.

The club directors urged that the goal posts be returned to the goal line, with the uprights set back and the bar projected forward by an overhang, and that the free substitution rule be modified to permit replacements only at the beginning of quarters or during charged timeouts or to relieve an injured player.

The club also wants the penalty of half the distance to the goal line restored as the price of slugging, instead of the present 15 yards, and would like to see a fumble made a free ball which could be recovered and advanced by either side. It also urges the restoration of the penalty of five yards and a first down to the offended side in cases of interference with the offensive center.

Johnny Edwards Stars As Maryland Wins

WESTMINSTER, Md., Dec. 11 (AP) —The University of Maryland basketball team, led by forward John Edwards, opened its season tonight by defeating Western Maryland 63-58.

The winning Terrapins were never ahead by more than nine points in a hotly-contested battle which saw the officials call a total of 51 personal and two technical fouls.

Two players from each team went out of the game via the foul route.

Fred Haas Takes One-Stroke Lead In Miami Tourney

Posts 5-Under-Par 65; Ed Furgol Is Second

By WILBUR JENNINGS

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, former national intercollegiate champion, one-putted nine greens today to grab a one-stroke lead with a five under par 65 at the end of 18 holes of play in the 24th annual $10,000 Miami Open Golf Tournament.

Forty-five players went around the 6,310-yard par 70 Miami Springs Club course in regulation figures or better, but national amateur champion Skee Riegel, of Monterrey, Calif., was not among them.

Riegel needed 73 strokes and was out of the tournament as the field of simon pures was cut to 15 for tomorrow's play with Frank Stranahan of Toledo heading the list with a 68.

One stroke back of Haas was Ed Furgol, 28-year-old Detroiter, who like the leader, has never won a major professional tournament.

Sammy Byrd Is Third

Six were grouped at 68 including Glenn Teal, Jacksonville, Fla.; Walt Burkemo, Detroit; Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind.; Jim Milward, Three Lakes, Wis.; Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Stranahan.

Twenty were tied at 69, including Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and veteran Willie Klein of Miami Beach who won the Miami Open back in 1925 and has played in every tourney since.

Sixteen equalled par figures including defending champion Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., national open champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., Henry Cotton, former British Open champion, and Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa.

Thirty-three performers were caught on the course when darkness fell and will conclude their rounds tomorrow.

A downpour of rain in the early afternoon and again near the conclusion of play slowed down the horde of 230 golfers. The top 150 professional and ties and 15 leading amateurs and ties will play tomorrow. All of the known pros made the grade.

Haas, son of the well known New Orleans professional, went out in 33 and back in 32. His drives of 250 yards or better split the middle, and among his nine-one putt greens were two eight-footers. Thirty two years old, he turned professional two years ago.

Death Takes Ed Brook

The death from a heart attack of Ed Brook, 34, popular pro from Winter Haven, Fla., saddened the first round. Brook, member of a Florida golfing family, practiced continuously for three hours yesterday and collapsed last night.

Fifty-four members of Potomac State's team were honored by the Keyser Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon today at noon.

Girls' Basketball League Referees Named By Ramey

Assignments Given To Four Officials

Four well known basketball stars of the past have been appointed as official referees for games in the Allegany County High School Girls' League which opens its season on January 9, Arthur G. Ramey, of the Board of Education announced yesterday.

The appointees are Mrs. Cleo Miller Rice, Mrs. Winnie Troutman Holcomb, Mrs. Kitty McElfish Rotruck and Mrs. May Welsh Smith.

Mrs. Rice is the wife of George Rice, former AHS athlete, and she also played basketball at the Campobello school from where she was graduated in 1930.

Mrs. Holcomb is the wife of Dick Holcomb, one-time AHS grid star, and starred in basketball at Penn Avenue. In a playoff at the armory with Allegany in 1935 Winnie tossed the winning field goal in the last few seconds of play. This was the game about which there was such a controversy as to whether time had expired before the ball had left the player's hands.

The wife of G. M. Rotruck, former athletic luminary at Keyser High School, Kitty McElfish Rotruck was a member of the Allegany sextet that lost to Penn Avenue in the 1935 playoff.

Mrs. Smith was graduated from Fort Hill in 1940 and played basketball there the last year that the girls' cage sport was part of the county athletic program.

In announcing the appointments Ramey stated that efforts are being made to secure the services of a representative from the National Society for Women's Athletics to conduct a clinic on rules and interpretations before the league season gets under way next month.

All games will be played on Friday afternoons at 3:45 o'clock.

Assignments for referees are as follows:

FIRST HALF

Jan. 9—Central at Beal, Rotruck and Smith. Allegany at Fort Hill, Rice and Holcomb.
Jan. 16—Beall at Bruce, Holcomb and Smith. Fort Hill at Central, Rice and Rotruck.
Jan. 23—Bruce at Allegany, Rice and Smith. Beall at Fort Hill, Rotruck and Holcomb.
Jan. 30—Central at Bruce, Rice and Rotruck. Allegany at Beall, Holcomb and Smith.

Mar. 6—Bruce at Central, Rotruck and Rice. Beall at Allegany, Holcomb and Smith.
Mar. 13—Fort Hill at Bruce, Holcomb and Rice. Central at Allegany, Rotruck and Smith.

Williams Fights Pellone Tonight

"Ike" Favored To Win Non-Title Ring Duel

By JIM JENNINGS

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS)—Ike Williams, world's lightweight champion, is favored to defeat Tony Pellone, rugged New York welterweight, in a 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

This is a risky prognostication because Pellone is a furore-creating fisticuffer, who has figured in many split decisions and has wrecked rules in every battle.

The fight will be the champion's first clash with a noted welterweight, and Williams probably will spot his rival about eight pounds.

Williams has fought a few shortweight welters with success but his capable managerial crew has steered him clear of much heavier and dangerous boxers such as Pellone, who is recognized as one of the contenders for Ray Robinson's title.

Ike's only loss this year was to Gene Burton, a welterweight who bested Bernie Docusen last Tuesday night. Williams is far superior to Pellone as a skilled boxer and has a better knockout record. Each has been stopped once.

Cleveland Trades Embree To Yanks

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees announced tonight they had traded outfielder Allie Clark to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Charles (Red) Embree.

It was a straight player swap with no cash involved. Embree, a 28-year-old right-hander, won 10 and lost eight games for the Indians last year. He appeared in 27 games, pitched six complete games and had an earned run average of 3.15. He walked 67, struck out 56 and allowed 137 hits in 163 innings.

Charles Embree

Clark, promising young flychaser, was brought up by the Yankees from Newark last August and helped the club in its pennant drive by batting .373 in 20 games. He is 24 years old. He hit .334 for the Bears in 110 games. His 127 hits included 27 doubles, nine triples and 23 home runs.

NYU, Oklahoma Win

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(INS)—New York University's basketball team walloped Arkansas, 85 to 62, in Madison Square Garden tonight before 18,400 fans.

In the second game of the doubleheader Oklahoma A. & M. defeated Long Island University by the score of 52-37.

VFW Cops Double Bill In Shuffleboard Loop

The Cumberland VFW won a double-header in the Shuffleboard League of Allegany County last night, defeating the Purple Heart, 103-57, and the Goodfellowship Club, 87-72.

Cresaptown Tavern gained an even break in two matches, losing to Burns' Tavern, Westerport, 87-68, and winning over the Devon Club of Luke, 111-78.

Puerto Rican Wins Decision Over Barone

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (AP)—Filberto Osario, Puerto Rican featherweight, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Jumping Joe Barone of Pittsburgh before 1,316 fans tonight in Aragon Gardens.

It was a toe-to-toe scrap without too much advantage, although the experienced Osario outpunched Barone, particularly with a right to the ribs. Osario weighed 126, Barone 125.

REDS GET HUGHES

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies traded pitcher Tommy Hughes to the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Bert Haas and another player to be delivered by next spring, it was announced tonight.

In the event the player named isn't suitable to the Phils, the Reds will settle for a cash consideration in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Hughes, a 28-year-old righthander, made 29 starts for the Phils last season and won only four games while losing 11. His best season was in 1940 when he won 14 and lost 11.

Rawlings To Face Lewistown Boxer

Four Inter-City Bouts Arranged For Monday

Roy Rawlings, hard-hitting welterweight of St. Mary's Athletic Club, will swap punches with Arky Klinger of the Lewistown (Pa.) Athletic Club in one of the three-round bouts in St. Mary's amateur fistic carnival Monday night at the State Armory, Matchmaker Bobby Green announced last night.

Other tentative pairings announced by Green bring together Bill Mann, Diamond A. C. middleweight and George Carstetter, of Lewistown; Jack Klosterman, Diamond A. C. welterweight, and Elmer Rothrock of Lewistown, and Homer Boone, Lewistown 145-pounder and Randall "Skeets" Starkey.

Clarence Jenkins of St. Mary's will oppose Mike Leslie of the Royale A. C. and Bill Lafferty of St. Mary's and Melvin Washington of the Royale A. C. will throw leather at each other.

Two more bouts will be added to the program.

The show will get under way at 8:15 p. m.

Joe Isn't Through

Blames Poor Condition On Fact He "Dried Out"

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis told a reporter for the Bronx Home News today that "win, lose or draw" he would retire from the ring after his return bout with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer at Yankee Stadium.

Louis, who has not left his apartment in upper Manhattan since last Friday night's fight with Walcott, expressed complete confidence that he would win by a knockout the next time he faces the Camden, N. J. veteran.

"I'll be in better shape the next time," Louis declared, adding that he was "very, very weak" in last week's bout.

He said he should have weighed 214 pounds for Walcott instead of 211, and blamed his poor condition on the fact that he "dried out" strenuously the day before the scrap. He admitted that Mannie Seamon, his trainer, had not approved of the drying out.

Joe said he realized early in the fight that he was not in shape when he was unable to work up a sweat. Further proof came, he said, when a cut under his left eye did not bleed.

Commenting on conjecture in the press that he was washed up, Louis said:

"Nobody knows whether I'm through except myself. I know how I feel and I know I'm not finished."

The Pro Football Peak

In spite of the rather jolting financial beating professional football has taken this season, it is now approaching its most artistic peak.

On Sunday, at the Yankee Stadium, the Yankees and the Browns battle for the A.A.C. title. Here are two of the best teams football has ever known, in any league or at any time.

On the same date, Professor Greasy Neale's Eagles meet the Green Bay Packers in an attempt to gain a tie in the Eastern section of the National League with dour Jock Sutherland's Steelers, as the Cardinals and the Bears settle the argument for the Western title.

The new league has the better break. It settles its argument on Sunday, before some 70,000 spectators, if the weather is decent.

The older league may have to wait until December 28th unless the Packers start plucking the Eagles' feathers. A Philadelphia victory would mean that the Eagles and Steelers would play off on December 21st, with the winner meeting the victor of the Cardinal-Bear game, just a few hours before the old year rolls out and the new year rolls in.

There is something about this situation we don't like at all, and it is all weather. Late December, this far north of the Mason and Dixon line, usually has the type of weather that sends duck and geese hurrying south, and both duck and geese can handle zero weather, or even 20 above, better than I can.

These games on Sunday will find six of football's greatest teams in action—Browns and Yankees—Cardinals and Bears—Eagles and Packers. They are all packed with talent. Sanders, Young, Van Buren, Trippi, Harder, Luckman, McAfee, why go on? All great football players in three brilliant games.

Luckman is the one the Cardinals have to stop. Van Buren is the one the Packers have to handle. In the Brown-Yankee game, both teams have five or six men who can break up a ball game—as they proved two weeks ago in a 28-28 finish.

I still like the Browns by a slight shade. Not by much with such scoring threats on each side or in each camp.

The New Season

Now we come to the final stages of the football season of 1947. What has happened? I think I can tell you. Both leagues have taken one of the worst financial meatings I've ever seen in sport. I mean a beating that has run into millions.

I doubt that three clubs have made any money. The Dodgers, Rockets, Boston Yankees, Detroit Lions, Los Angeles Rams and Dons, Baltimore Colts, on and on, have lost about six million dollars. I know Detroit is over $600,000 out and other teams are over $500,000 in the red.

Tim Mara told me that more has been lost in professional football than any other sport. I think Tim is right.

Professional football can never compete with college football. I have been trying to explain this quaint idea to Mickey McBride, owner of the Cleveland Browns, probably the best team in pro football.

Mickey couldn't understand, with all the millions he has made, that I could name 30 college teams, or 40 college teams, that could murder his Browns at the gate. He agreed with Paul Brown that college football was on the ropes.

If anyone of the two is on the ropes, it is pro football. Don't ever worry about college football. It will throttle pro football any time they clash in the same spot.

In Los Angeles, college against pro there were three games. Southern California meeting U. C. L. A. and Notre Dame played to over 200,000 spectators who paid in over $700,000. The pros played to less than 80,000 spectators who paid in less than $200,000. Ohio State, as I recall it, won only two games. Yet Ohio State played week by week to crowds of 72,000 to 76,000. Ohio State, with a bad year, dollar for dollar, outdrew the Browns 2 to 1. The Cleveland Browns lost only one game.

It is my opinion that this is a nation that looks to college football. There is a big place for pro football, but college football is the dominating factor, if college football doesn't go overboard. College football has tradition and 400 teams. Pro football can never have over 16 major teams.

The two leagues must either get together, or both leagues fold up. At first there were 21 teams in the National League, at present only Green Bay, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants remain of the original setup. These three could cash important checks at various banks. The others couldn't. They were broke.

The new league, with Brooklyn, Chicago, and one of two others, is swimming in red, just as the National League is. "Only the game fish swims upstream"—but how far upstream can he keep swimming in the red? Not very far.

POLICE WILL PROBE DEATH OF SAGUARO

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 11 (AP)—Anne Arundel county police will investigate the death of race horse Saguaro at a Laurel track Nov. 21 after testimony of a hearing before the state racing commission is received.

County police chief John Souers said today Lt. Wilbur C. Wade of the Ferndale station had been assigned to the case.

Albert H. McCarthy, president of the local SPCA, said the matter was also being investigated by the state association and would be handled on a state-wide basis.

The racing commission heard testimony that the race horse was shot in the hindquarters with a shotgun loaded with rock salt at the Laurel track starting gate. The horse bolted and ran into a fence, breaking his leg and had to be destroyed.

As a result, Maurice Peters, ex-jockey, trainer of the horse, and Frank Buehler, a horse owner, were barred from the Maryland tracks.

Christmas Carol Service Will Be Given On Tuesday

Program For Annual Event Is Announced

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The program of the annual Christmas Carol Service to be held Tuesday evening, December 16 at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium, under direction of Dr. Maurice Matteson will be as follows:

Prelude, piano duo, "Now Comes the Gentle Savior," Mrs. Matteson and George Menser; processional, "Sing O Heavens," Wilma Robertson and a triple quartet from the Maryland Singers, consisting of Jeanne Mehrling, Mrs. Gowans, Shirley Mueller, Doris Crichton, Dorothy Wilson, Adrian Anderson, Francis Thomas, John Nickel, William Kildow, James German and Allen Williams; Christmas reading, William Crable.

"What a Child Is This," Archie Ledbetter, tenor; "Ave Maria," Doris Lee Smith, Shirley Mueller, Ruth Robinson and the Maryland Singers; "Nazareth," Donald Thorp, bass; piano duo, "Sheep May Safely Graze," Clara Sigler and Ruth Robinson; "Jesu Bambino," Martha Fratz, soprano and chorus; "In Lonely Midnight," Ina Nie Watson, alto; "The Song the Angels Sang," Ronald Uhl, tenor and chorus.

Christmas Ballad, Triple quartet; "I Wonder As I Wander," Mrs. Francis Lawler, soprano, member of the faculty; "The Virgin's Lullaby," Mary Francis Comer, soprano; "Panis Angelicus," Joan Menser, alto, and chorus; "In Old Judea," Robert Smith, baritone; "Gloria In Excelsus Deo," Don Llewellyn, accompanied by the Maryland Singers and the Recessional.

With many of the singers appearing in appropriate costumes and a stage setting carrying out the Yuletide theme, the service is expected to compare favorably with the best Christmas services given at the college in past years. Charles Kershner, president of The Maryland Singers, will be the student director.

Blair Mellott Dies

Blair M. Mellott, 51, a retired railroader, died yesterday at noon at his home in Consolidated Village, near Frostburg, after an illness of four weeks.

He was a native of Bucks Valley, Pa., a son of Daniel and Sarah Mellott, and served with Company G, 115th Infantry during World War I.

He was a member of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Local 322, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Good Fellowship Club and Frostburg Local 348, Loyal Order of Moose.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hovatter Mellott; five stepsons, Gordon, Jack, Christie, Robert and Donald Hovatter, all at home, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Clevenger, Lynchburg, Va.

A funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at the home by Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church and burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Hours Announced

Postmaster Michael J. Byrnes announced today that the Frostburg postoffice will be open Saturday, December 13, from 8 a. m., to 5 p. m., instead of the regular Saturday hours of 8 a. m., until noon. The longer hours this Saturday will apply to every department of the postoffice for the convenience of giving the public additional time for mailing letters and packages and transacting other business at the office. Postmaster Byrnes asks that patrons of the office take advantage of the longer Saturday hours.

Will Sing Carols

The Maryland Singers of Frostburg State College, pursuant to an annual custom, will visit Georges Creek schools this year and sing Christmas Carols. The program for today includes a visit to Bruce High School, Westernport, at 9 a. m., and St. Peter's Parochial School at 10 a. m. From Westernport they will go to Lonaconing and render a concert at Central High School, commencing at 11:10 a. m.

Special Services Arranged

The First Methodist Church has announced special services for Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Watson E. Holley, will preach his Christmas sermon at the morning service which begins at 10:45. His subject will be, "God Dwelling With His People." The choir will sing, "The Three Polish Carols" and the Men's Chorus will sing "There Were Shepherds Abiding."

Christmas Carols by the Hour of Charm All-Girl Orchestra and Choir will feature the Tower Music from the church at 5 p. m. The morning choir will broadcast from 7 to 7:20 p. m. over the chimes at the church. The Intermediate Fellowship and the Senior Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p. m.

The church service at 7:30 p. m. will be given over to those who love to sing and to those who love to listen. It will be a Christmas Carol service. The Junior Choir will sing two special numbers, "What Child Is This" and "Angels We Have Heard On High." Miss Margaret Jones is the director of the Junior Choir and Mrs. Thelma Rephann is the organist. The morning choir will sing several selections.

Sportsmen Elect

The Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen's Association, meeting Tuesday evening in Firemen's Hall, Water Street, elected Henry R. Yates, president to serve for the ensuing year. Henry Rank was elected vice-president; Rudolph Nickel, secretary and William Stewart.

Fred Crowe, the retiring president, presided at the meeting and gave a brief summary of the year's activities of the association. Crowe served as president of the club in 1941 and 1947. Yates, an employe of the Potomac Edison Company, served as president in 1944.

Following his election Yates outlined some projects he would like to see carried out by the group next year, including a predator and vermin drive. It was decided to conduct a campaign among the merchants in January to secure prizes for winners of the vermin contest in various classes. The association started the campaign by offering a fine fishing reel.

Paul Weber, Cumberland; Fred Crowe and Paul Carpenter, this city, were appointed a committee to make plans for the event which is also to include a window display of mounted animals of various kinds.

Three Join Guard

Three new men joined Company D, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, following the drill Tuesday in the temporary armory in St. Michael's Hall. The new recruits are Matthew Skidmore, Eugene Seibert and John H. Smith, all of Frostburg.

The drill this week was devoted almost entirely to first aid instruction and close drill exercises. The men also inspected the new equipment which arrived last week and were informed that additional equipment would be received next week.

Company D will hold a dance tonight at the Century Club in honor of Miss Patricia Frost, winner of the Miss National Guard Contest. All members of the national guard and candidates are asked to attend the dance.

Frostburg Briefs

Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, has erected a large Christmas tree in front of the Honor Roll at the corner of West Main and Water Streets. The tree, a gift from James Tennant, Borden Road, a prominent merchant of the city, will be decked with Christmas lights next week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tomlinson, Mechanic Street, announce the birth Wednesday morning of a son in Miners' Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hillegas, 117 Washington Street, announce the birth of a daughter Tuesday in Miners' Hospital.

The Pro Football Peak

In spite of the rather jolting financial beating professional football has taken this season, it is now approaching its most artistic peak.

On Sunday, at the Yankee Stadium, the Yankees and the Browns battle for the A.A.C. title. Here are two of the best teams football has ever known, in any league or at any time.

On the same date, Professor Greasy Neale's Eagles meet the Green Bay Packers in an attempt to gain a tie in the Eastern section of the National League with dour Jock Sutherland's Steelers, as the Cardinals and the Bears settle the argument for the Western title.

The new league has the better break. It settles its argument on Sunday, before some 70,000 spectators, if the weather is decent.

The older league may have to wait until December 28th unless the Packers start plucking the Eagles' feathers. A Philadelphia victory would mean that the Eagles and Steelers would play off on December 21st, with the winner meeting the victor of the Cardinal-Bear game, just a few hours before the old year rolls out and the new year rolls in.

There is something about this situation we don't like at all, and it is all weather. Late December, this far north of the Mason and Dixon line, usually has the type of weather that sends duck and geese hurrying south, and both duck and geese can handle zero weather, or even 20 above, better than I can.

These games on Sunday will find six of football's greatest teams in action—Browns and Yankees—Cardinals and Bears—Eagles and Packers. They are all packed with talent. Sanders, Young, Van Buren, Trippi, Harder, Luckman, McAfee, why go on? All great football players in three brilliant games.

Luckman is the one the Cardinals have to stop. Van Buren is the one the Packers have to handle. In the Brown-Yankee game, both teams have five or six men who can break up a ball game—as they proved two weeks ago in a 28-28 finish.

I still like the Browns by a slight shade. Not by much with such scoring threats on each side or in each camp.

The New Season

Now we come to the final stages of the football season of 1947. What has happened? I think I can tell you. Both leagues have taken one of the worst financial meatings I've ever seen in sport. I mean a beating that has run into millions.

I doubt that three clubs have made any money. The Dodgers, Rockets, Boston Yankees, Detroit Lions, Los Angeles Rams and Dons, Baltimore Colts, on and on, have lost about six million dollars. I know Detroit is over $600,000 out and other teams are over $500,000 in the red.

Tim Mara told me that more has been lost in professional football than any other sport. I think Tim is right.

Professional football can never compete with college football. I have been trying to explain this quaint idea to Mickey McBride, owner of the Cleveland Browns, probably the best team in pro football.

Mickey couldn't understand, with all the millions he has made, that I could name 30 college teams, or 40 college teams, that could murder his Browns at the gate. He agreed with Paul Brown that college football was on the ropes.

If anyone of the two is on the ropes, it is pro football. Don't ever worry about college football. It will throttle pro football any time they clash in the same spot.

In Los Angeles, college against pro there were three games. Southern California meeting U. C. L. A. and Notre Dame played to over 200,000 spectators who paid in over $700,000. The pros played to less than 80,000 spectators who paid in less than $200,000. Ohio State, as I recall it, won only two games. Yet Ohio State played week by week to crowds of 72,000 to 76,000. Ohio State, with a bad year, dollar for dollar, outdrew the Browns 2 to 1. The Cleveland Browns lost only one game.

It is my opinion that this is a nation that looks to college football. There is a big place for pro football, but college football is the dominating factor, if college football doesn't go overboard. College football has tradition and 400 teams. Pro football can never have over 16 major teams.

The two leagues must either get together, or both leagues fold up. At first there were 21 teams in the National League, at present only Green Bay, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants remain of the original setup. These three could cash important checks at various banks. The others couldn't. They were broke.

The new league, with Brooklyn, Chicago, and one of two others, is swimming in red, just as the National League is. "Only the game fish swims upstream"—but how far upstream can he keep swimming in the red? Not very far.

Tentative Plans For Christmas Parade In Keyser Are Outlined

To Feature Arrival Of Santa Claus

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER—Tentative plans for a Christmas parade to be held Wednesday, December 17, 7 p. m. were made at a special meeting of the Keyser Business and Professional Association Wednesday night.

The parade, if held, will feature the arrival of Santa Claus and the initial public appearance of the recently organized Keyser Municipal Band under the direction of Warren Kolkhurst.

A committee appointed at Wednesday night's meeting, composed of M. E. Minnich, Edgell Grayson, Ralph O. Martin, J. C. Shay and Glenn O. Workman, representing the Association of Keyser business and professional men, met with Mayor Freeland Thursday morning requesting that free parking during holiday shopping days be granted. After much discussion it was announced by Mayor Freeland that motorists would have free parking in the meter district from December 17 through December 24, but requested that a two-hour parking limit be observed to keep traffic moving.

Stores in Keyser will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. beginning December 15 and the schedule will be followed through December 23. All business establishments will close at 6 p. m. Chrihtmas eve.

Will Give Cantata

A cantata, "The Babe of Bethlehem," by Harvey B. Gaul, will be presented at the annual Christmas Musical Program of the Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday afternoon, December 14, 4 p. m. in the church on Davis Street.

The cantata, in four parts, will be sung by the choir of the church, under the direction of Leonard G. Withers, head of the Music Department of Potomac State School.

Both the men's and women's chorus will be featured during the services, as well as several soloists, including Mrs. Carlyle Kauffman, Mrs. Clifford Gainer, William Loy, Billy Rogers, Robert L. Fisher, Jr., and Warren Kolkhorst.

W. S. C. S. Holds Meeting

The November Division of the W. S. C. S. met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Stephen, West Piedmont Street, Wednesday evening. Devotionals were read by Mrs. C. Condron; Meditations on Christmas and how we can have a world peace by Mrs. Condron; study book chapter by Mrs. Gallion and several Christmas hymns were given by Mrs. Herndon accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gallion.

Those present answered the roll call by giving verses from Luke. A Bible was presented by the group to Mrs. Condron for her work in the division.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses—Mrs. Stephen, Mrs. John Day and Mrs. Forest Cosner.

Hold Christmas Party

The Keyser Business and Professional Women's Club held its annual Christmas party Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Madeline Martin, 39 North Main Street.

The house was gaily decorated in the Christmas motif.

Miss Daisy Goldsboroupgh, guest speaker for the evening, interpreted the Christmas story of "The Littlest Angel," by Charles Tazewell. Recordings of Christmas music followed the reading of the Club Collect in unison. Miss Alma Peters, president, spoke briefly to the group, reminding them of the annual contribution to the Chines Nursing Fund, which is made each year at this time.

Following the gift exchange, refreshments were served which included individual cocoanut cakes centered with tiny red and green lighted candles. Assisting the hostess with the serving were Mesdames Dan Huffman, Mildred Thompson, Carl Peters, and Harry Coffman. Others present were Mesdames Arnold Childers, Vernon Twigg, Homer Hott, A. A. P. Neel, Marguerite Haines and Myrtle Harrison and Misses Daisy Goldsborough, Alma Peters, Madalyn Bazzle and Josephine Bolyard.

Blair Mellott Dies

Blair M. Mellott, 51, a retired railroader, died yesterday at noon at his home in Consolidated Village, near Frostburg, after an illness of four weeks.

He was a native of Bucks Valley, Pa., a son of Daniel and Sarah Mellott, and served with Company G, 115th Infantry during World War I.

He was a member of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Local 322, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Good Fellowship Club and Frostburg Local 348, Loyal Order of Moose.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hovatter Mellott; five stepsons, Gordon, Jack, Christie, Robert and Donald Hovatter, all at home, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Clevenger, Lynchburg, Va.

A funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at the home by Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church and burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Hours Announced

Postmaster Michael J. Byrnes announced today that the Frostburg postoffice will be open Saturday, December 13, from 8 a. m., to 5 p. m., instead of the regular Saturday hours of 8 a. m., until noon. The longer hours this Saturday will apply to every department of the postoffice for the convenience of giving the public additional time for mailing letters and packages and transacting other business at the office. Postmaster Byrnes asks that patrons of the office take advantage of the longer Saturday hours.

Will Sing Carols

The Maryland Singers of Frostburg State College, pursuant to an annual custom, will visit Georges Creek schools this year and sing Christmas Carols. The program for today includes a visit to Bruce High School, Westernport, at 9 a. m., and St. Peter's Parochial School at 10 a. m. From Westernport they will go to Lonaconing and render a concert at Central High School, commencing at 11:10 a. m.

Special Services Arranged

The First Methodist Church has announced special services for Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Watson E. Holley, will preach his Christmas sermon at the morning service which begins at 10:45. His subject will be, "God Dwelling With His People." The choir will sing, "The Three Polish Carols" and the Men's Chorus will sing "There Were Shepherds Abiding."

Christmas Carols by the Hour of Charm All-Girl Orchestra and Choir will feature the Tower Music from the church at 5 p. m. The morning choir will broadcast from 7 to 7:20 p. m. over the chimes at the church. The Intermediate Fellowship and the Senior Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p. m.

The church service at 7:30 p. m. will be given over to those who love to sing and to those who love to listen. It will be a Christmas Carol service. The Junior Choir will sing two special numbers, "What Child Is This" and "Angels We Have Heard On High." Miss Margaret Jones is the director of the Junior Choir and Mrs. Thelma Rephann is the organist. The morning choir will sing several selections.

Sportsmen Elect

The Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen's Association, meeting Tuesday evening in Firemen's Hall, Water Street, elected Henry R. Yates, president to serve for the ensuing year. Henry Rank was elected vice-president; Rudolph Nickel, secretary and William Stewart.

Fred Crowe, the retiring president, presided at the meeting and gave a brief summary of the year's activities of the association. Crowe served as president of the club in 1941 and 1947. Yates, an employe of the Potomac Edison Company, served as president in 1944.

Following his election Yates outlined some projects he would like to see carried out by the group next year, including a predator and vermin drive. It was decided to conduct a campaign among the merchants in January to secure prizes for winners of the vermin contest in various classes. The association started the campaign by offering a fine fishing reel.

Paul Weber, Cumberland; Fred Crowe and Paul Carpenter, this city, were appointed a committee to make plans for the event which is also to include a window display of mounted animals of various kinds.

Three Join Guard

Three new men joined Company D, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, following the drill Tuesday in the temporary armory in St. Michael's Hall. The new recruits are Matthew Skidmore, Eugene Seibert and John H. Smith, all of Frostburg.

The drill this week was devoted almost entirely to first aid instruction and close drill exercises. The men also inspected the new equipment which arrived last week and were informed that additional equipment would be received next week.

Company D will hold a dance tonight at the Century Club in honor of Miss Patricia Frost, winner of the Miss National Guard Contest. All members of the national guard and candidates are asked to attend the dance.

Frostburg Briefs

Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, has erected a large Christmas tree in front of the Honor Roll at the corner of West Main and Water Streets. The tree, a gift from James Tennant, Borden Road, a prominent merchant of the city, will be decked with Christmas lights next week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tomlinson, Mechanic Street, announce the birth Wednesday morning of a son in Miners' Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hillegas, 117 Washington Street, announce the birth of a daughter Tuesday in Miners' Hospital.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11—(INS)—Al Jolson goes to Louis B. Mayer at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Yes, I mean it. L. B. himself signed the deal with Al for the sequel to "The Jolson Story," which was originally to have been made at Columbia.

Eve Arden

Incidents in the life of the popular "mammy" singer not already incorporated in "The Jolson Story" will be shown in the sequel. L. B., who is very enthusiastic over signing Jolson, has assigned Edwin Knopf to produce and a director will be chosen in a few days.

Gene Kelly is the M-G-M Jolson, with Jolson, of course, singing his own numbers. I wonder why a newcomer wasn't chosen as Larry Parks was in the original story. Seems to me it would be a great chance both for the studio and for an actor.

Tyrone Power is getting restless. He wants to return to work after his three months of globe trotting—or should I say, sky trotting? So, "That Old Magic" will be started before many days, with Ida Lupino as his co-star.

It's good to see Ida these days, she's so happy. She has a little happiness coming to her, and I hope that she will find it with Collier Young.

I don't know him well, but everyone has such nice things to say about him, and in a town where there is so much criticism, that means something.

If Eleanor Powell and Glenn Ford ever had any troubles when he first got out of the service, they're all over now. They miss each other very much since Eleanor has been on public appearances—and that's for sure.

I like Rand Brooks sense of humor in tossing a "premiere" in honor of his 11th "Hopalong Cassidy" movie. It's been a long time between premieres for Rand (his last was "Gone With the Wind"). And after four years in the service, he decided to crack out with a special showing of his latest "Cassidy."

With searchlights scanning the skies, two little negro boys announcing his guests over a loud speaker, and the ladies wearing their mink or ermine coats, Rand staged his shindig at General Service Studios last night.

Refreshments were served on a sound stage after the movie, with Vic Mature, his good friend, officiating at the buffet table.

Chatter in Hollywood: Over the weekend, William Arlington, a wealthy man from Montreal, Canada, will fly in to ask Eve Arden to marry him. Eve has never met Arlington.

So far, Arlington has sent Eve such gifts as a stone marten stole, a gold wrist watch, and a pair of diamond clips, all of which were promptly returned. But Arlington is determined and believes if you don't succeed at first, try, try again.

When "Gentleman's Agreement" opened in New York the criticisms were what most producers dream about and seldom get. There wasn't a dissenting vote in the lot.

I came home to the same enthusiasm. I have already told Darryl Zanuck in print how good I think "Gentleman's Agreement" is, and what a fine thing he has done for the whole industry in making a picture of this type, but I want to say it again after seeing it a second time.

Well, come voting time for the Academy awards, this will be the one to beat. Seems to me we have some excellent performances to choose from this year, but as is my custom, I will not say what picture should win the Academy prize, or what stars—but I have my own opinion, and since I belong to the Academy I'll vote that way.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: That was Luther Adler, Sylvia Sidney's ex, with Audrey Totter. They were at a table for two at Jay's at the beach.

Ran into Van and Evie Johnson in Adrian's, Christmas shopping. Merle and Lucien Ballard were there at the same time. The Johnson baby is due in January and they are hoping for a little girl. Merle and Lucien leave for Sun Valley next week. Seems there will be a big delegation there during the holidays.

Deborah Kerr's baby is expected the 20th and she thinks it's going to be a little girl.

One of the sights in the Beverly Hills hotel cocktail lounge today was Rudy Vallee and Evelyn Knight drinking large, foaming glasses of milk.

Errol Flynn had a visitor today, the Princess Behar of Hyderabad, India. Remember, she was sent to this country to get the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar home, but he had already fled.

That's all today.

Tentative Plans For Christmas Parade In Keyser Are Outlined

To Feature Arrival Of Santa Claus

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER—Tentative plans for a Christmas parade to be held Wednesday, December 17, 7 p. m. were made at a special meeting of the Keyser Business and Professional Association Wednesday night.

The parade, if held, will feature the arrival of Santa Claus and the initial public appearance of the recently organized Keyser Municipal Band under the direction of Warren Kolkhurst.

A committee appointed at Wednesday night's meeting, composed of M. E. Minnich, Edgell Grayson, Ralph O. Martin, J. C. Shay and Glenn O. Workman, representing the Association of Keyser business and professional men, met with Mayor Freeland Thursday morning requesting that free parking during holiday shopping days be granted. After much discussion it was announced by Mayor Freeland that motorists would have free parking in the meter district from December 17 through December 24, but requested that a two-hour parking limit be observed to keep traffic moving.

Stores in Keyser will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. beginning December 15 and the schedule will be followed through December 23. All business establishments will close at 6 p. m. Chrihtmas eve.

Will Give Cantata

A cantata, "The Babe of Bethlehem," by Harvey B. Gaul, will be presented at the annual Christmas Musical Program of the Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday afternoon, December 14, 4 p. m. in the church on Davis Street.

The cantata, in four parts, will be sung by the choir of the church, under the direction of Leonard G. Withers, head of the Music Department of Potomac State School.

Both the men's and women's chorus will be featured during the services, as well as several soloists, including Mrs. Carlyle Kauffman, Mrs. Clifford Gainer, William Loy, Billy Rogers, Robert L. Fisher, Jr., and Warren Kolkhorst.

W. S. C. S. Holds Meeting

The November Division of the W. S. C. S. met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Stephen, West Piedmont Street, Wednesday evening. Devotionals were read by Mrs. C. Condron; Meditations on Christmas and how we can have a world peace by Mrs. Condron; study book chapter by Mrs. Gallion and several Christmas hymns were given by Mrs. Herndon accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gallion.

Those present answered the roll call by giving verses from Luke. A Bible was presented by the group to Mrs. Condron for her work in the division.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses—Mrs. Stephen, Mrs. John Day and Mrs. Forest Cosner.

Hold Christmas Party

The Keyser Business and Professional Women's Club held its annual Christmas party Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Madeline Martin, 39 North Main Street.

The house was gaily decorated in the Christmas motif.

Miss Daisy Goldsboroupgh, guest speaker for the evening, interpreted the Christmas story of "The Littlest Angel," by Charles Tazewell. Recordings of Christmas music followed the reading of the Club Collect in unison. Miss Alma Peters, president, spoke briefly to the group, reminding them of the annual contribution to the Chines Nursing Fund, which is made each year at this time.

Following the gift exchange, refreshments were served which included individual cocoanut cakes centered with tiny red and green lighted candles. Assisting the hostess with the serving were Mesdames Dan Huffman, Mildred Thompson, Carl Peters, and Harry Coffman. Others present were Mesdames Arnold Childers, Vernon Twigg, Homer Hott, A. A. P. Neel, Marguerite Haines and Myrtle Harrison and Misses Daisy Goldsborough, Alma Peters, Madalyn Bazzle and Josephine Bolyard.

Sen. Capehart To "Meet The Press"; Fight On Airways

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Now that the Louis-Walcott fight is history—although the sports boys still are discussing it avidly—the ABC ringside microphone will be a tingling with details about another event Friday night at the usual 10 o'clock spot.

It will be a scheduled 10-rounder between Ike Williams, lightweight champ, and Tony Peloone, welterweight. However, the title is not involved because of the overweight status of the event.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana has agreed to meet the questions in Meet the Press on MBS at 10. These programs generally cover a wide range of subjects, that being entirely at the discretion of the panel of four newspapermen.

Norman Thomas, a frequent broadcaster, will be back on the air via CBS from Chicago at 11:15 to give his opinion on the question "Must the Marshall Plan Mean Inflation?" . . . Another Foster Parents Plan broadcast is scheduled for MBS at 1:30 p. m. This one is titled "Children of War."

George Allen, former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the Truman Administration, is to guest with Leave It To the Girls on MBS at 8:30. The feminine panel of this program is now made up of Eloise McElhone, Madge Evans, Austine Gassini and Maggi McNellis, while Ted Malone of the ABC daytime broadcasting does the moderating.

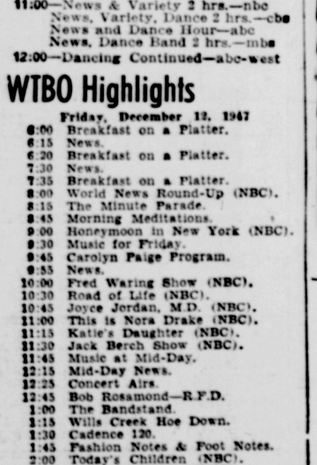
SALLY'S SALLIES



"I don't know why, but whatever they're selling I'm going to buy."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Matrimony Gains Headway

There has been a great whoop and holler about the prevalence on the air of murder programs. In the midst of this fuss, another and far more socially acceptable theme has been gaining a good deal of quiet headway. I speak for matrimony. There are now at least ten husband-and-wife programs on the air that I know about (and probably dozens of others that I don't know about) and more are coming along every day.

John Crosby

The popularity of marriage as such is hardly news but I can't recall a period in the previous history of show business where it had great market value as entertainment. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, I admit, have been happily married for a couple of decades but in most of the plays in which they have appeared they have not been married and have, in fact, misbehaved rather flagrantly. I don't propose to draw any sweeping conclusions from the current popularity of connubial bliss; I just think it's significant.

The newest husband-and-wife program is "Red Hook 31," a transcribed, fifteen-minute show on the Mutual Broadcasting System (1:15 p. m. Mon.-Fri., except in New York where it is broadcast Sunday mornings at 8:30). It is, so far as I know, the first network ad lib husband-and-wife show, which alone gives it some historic interest. On "Red Hook 31" Woody Klose and his wife Virginia, a couple of city people from New York, discuss the problems of farm life which they are embracing for the first time with more enthusiasm than ability.

Their farm is situated in Red Hook, Dutchess County, New York. (Their telephone number is Red Hook 31 which explains the title.) Once a day, the Kloses, an engaging and intelligent couple, talk over their plans and prospects in the kitchen of their farm home. Their misadventures are of the sort that Betty MacDonald discussed with such relish in "The Egg and I" with, of course, several large modifications. Dutchess County, has been severely disciplined by water, gas, electricity and other prosaic conveniences as well as by several centuries of intensive settlement, and it's not at all comparable to the fastnesses of Oregon.

These talks are likely to be friendly arguments between husband and wife about who is the best maker of coffee, about Woody's skill or lack of it as a paper-hanger or about Woody's complete innocence in the matter of agriculture. Like all people new to the country, they have trouble with the pump and the drains and the roof of the barn. This may be rather mild stuff for the average listener but it holds a certain professional fascination for me. I'm living in the country too where these small problems are immediate and urgent.

In fact, speaking as an expert in this line, I'm forced to remark that the Kloses' attitude toward a pump that stubbornly refuses to produce water is so extraordinarily good-natured that I find it hard to believe. The reason for this good-nature is that the Kloses are really speaking of mishaps that took place years ago. Actually the couple has lived in the country a long time and are re-living on this show some of their early adventures. They probably gained the upper hand with the pump long ago and consequently can speak of its early failings with nostalgia. All I can say is that faulty pumps may be pretty funny in retrospect, but when you have one currently on your hands, the humor, Klose, is grim. Grim.

Three of the Kloses' young boys appear on the program now and then but are sensibly suppressed so that their few observations are not objectionable. Occasionally, the Kloses bring to the microphone some of their farm neighbors who provide an earthy charm much more appealing than the professional charm of important guest stars. I particulary liked Ma Fraley, a neighboring farm wife, who made some acid and sensible remarks about city people who choose to live in the country, several of which sounded as if they were directed at me.

The Klose program is nothing to get excited about but it is a step forward in the husband and wife industry in several respects. For one thing, the Kloses stick pretty close to the average problems of marriage and the home in place of the usual chatter about celebrities and nightclubs. In the second, there is a faint but discernible story line.

The only reason for going into the Kloses at such length is because the husband-and-wife radio team is a social prenomenon of our time and I think we are going to get a lot more of it. As daytime programs go, this sort of thing is infinitely preferable to soap opera or give-away shows. In fact, I think the average housewife if she were exposed to the Kloses or any other married couple long enough could become just as absorbed in the Klose drainage problem as she is in the current wave of poisoning going on in "Joyce Jordan, M. D." The Klose mishaps are smaller but they are human, credible and digestible and they have a certain quality of suspense all their own.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11—(INS)—Al Jolson goes to Louis B. Mayer at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Yes, I mean it. L. B. himself signed the deal with Al for the sequel to "The Jolson Story," which was originally to have been made at Columbia.

Eve Arden

Incidents in the life of the popular "mammy" singer not already incorporated in "The Jolson Story" will be shown in the sequel. L. B., who is very enthusiastic over signing Jolson, has assigned Edwin Knopf to produce and a director will be chosen in a few days.

Gene Kelly is the M-G-M Jolson, with Jolson, of course, singing his own numbers. I wonder why a newcomer wasn't chosen as Larry Parks was in the original story. Seems to me it would be a great chance both for the studio and for an actor.

Tyrone Power is getting restless. He wants to return to work after his three months of globe trotting—or should I say, sky trotting? So, "That Old Magic" will be started before many days, with Ida Lupino as his co-star.

It's good to see Ida these days, she's so happy. She has a little happiness coming to her, and I hope that she will find it with Collier Young.

I don't know him well, but everyone has such nice things to say about him, and in a town where there is so much criticism, that means something.

If Eleanor Powell and Glenn Ford ever had any troubles when he first got out of the service, they're all over now. They miss each other very much since Eleanor has been on public appearances—and that's for sure.

I like Rand Brooks sense of humor in tossing a "premiere" in honor of his 11th "Hopalong Cassidy" movie. It's been a long time between premieres for Rand (his last was "Gone With the Wind"). And after four years in the service, he decided to crack out with a special showing of his latest "Cassidy."

With searchlights scanning the skies, two little negro boys announcing his guests over a loud speaker, and the ladies wearing their mink or ermine coats, Rand staged his shindig at General Service Studios last night.

Refreshments were served on a sound stage after the movie, with Vic Mature, his good friend, officiating at the buffet table.

Chatter in Hollywood: Over the weekend, William Arlington, a wealthy man from Montreal, Canada, will fly in to ask Eve Arden to marry him. Eve has never met Arlington.

So far, Arlington has sent Eve such gifts as a stone marten stole, a gold wrist watch, and a pair of diamond clips, all of which were promptly returned. But Arlington is determined and believes if you don't succeed at first, try, try again.

When "Gentleman's Agreement" opened in New York the criticisms were what most producers dream about and seldom get. There wasn't a dissenting vote in the lot.

I came home to the same enthusiasm. I have already told Darryl Zanuck in print how good I think "Gentleman's Agreement" is, and what a fine thing he has done for the whole industry in making a picture of this type, but I want to say it again after seeing it a second time.

Well, come voting time for the Academy awards, this will be the one to beat. Seems to me we have some excellent performances to choose from this year, but as is my custom, I will not say what picture should win the Academy prize, or what stars—but I have my own opinion, and since I belong to the Academy I'll vote that way.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: That was Luther Adler, Sylvia Sidney's ex, with Audrey Totter. They were at a table for two at Jay's at the beach.

Ran into Van and Evie Johnson in Adrian's, Christmas shopping. Merle and Lucien Ballard were there at the same time. The Johnson baby is due in January and they are hoping for a little girl. Merle and Lucien leave for Sun Valley next week. Seems there will be a big delegation there during the holidays.

Deborah Kerr's baby is expected the 20th and she thinks it's going to be a little girl.

One of the sights in the Beverly Hills hotel cocktail lounge today was Rudy Valee and Evelyn Knight drinking large, foaming glasses of milk.

Errol Flynn had a visitor today, the Princess Behar of Hyderabad, India. Remember, she was sent to this country to get the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar home, but he had already fled.

That's all today.

Sen. Capehart To "Meet The Press"; Fight On Airways

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Now that the Louis-Walcott fight is history—although the sports boys still are discussing it avidly—the ABC ringside microphone will be a tingling with details about another event Friday night at the usual 10 o'clock spot.

It will be a scheduled 10-rounder between Ike Williams, lightweight champ, and Tony Peloone, welterweight. However, the title is not involved because of the overweight status of the event.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana has agreed to meet the questions in Meet the Press on MBS at 10. These programs generally cover a wide range of subjects, that being entirely at the discretion of the panel of four newspapermen.

Norman Thomas, a frequent broadcaster, will be back on the air via CBS from Chicago at 11:15 to give his opinion on the question "Must the Marshall Plan Mean Inflation?" . . . Another Foster Parents Plan broadcast is scheduled for MBS at 1:30 p. m. This one is titled "Children of War."

George Allen, former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the Truman Administration, is to guest with Leave It To the Girls on MBS at 8:30. The feminine panel of this program is now made up of Eloise McElhone, Madge Evans, Austine Gassini and Maggi McNellis, while Ted Malone of the ABC daytime broadcasting does the moderating.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Matrimony Gains Headway

There has been a great whoop and holler about the prevalence on the air of murder programs. In the midst of this fuss, another and far more socially acceptable theme has been gaining a good deal of quiet headway. I speak for matrimony. There are now at least ten husband-and-wife programs on the air that I know about (and probably dozens of others that I don't know about) and more are coming along every day.

John Crosby

The popularity of marriage as such is hardly news but I can't recall a period in the previous history of show business where it had great market value as entertainment. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, I admit, have been happily married for a couple of decades but in most of the plays in which they have appeared they have not been married and have, in fact, misbehaved rather flagrantly. I don't propose to draw any sweeping conclusions from the current popularity of connubial bliss; I just think it's significant.

The newest husband-and-wife program is "Red Hook 31," a transcribed, fifteen-minute show on the Mutual Broadcasting System (1:15 p. m. Mon.-Fri., except in New York where it is broadcast Sunday mornings at 8:30). It is, so far as I know, the first network ad lib husband-and-wife show, which alone gives it some historic interest. On "Red Hook 31" Woody Klose and his wife Virginia, a couple of city people from New York, discuss the problems of farm life which they are embracing for the first time with more enthusiasm than ability.

Their farm is situated in Red Hook, Dutchess County, New York. (Their telephone number is Red Hook 31 which explains the title.) Once a day, the Kloses, an engaging and intelligent couple, talk over their plans and prospects in the kitchen of their farm home. Their misadventures are of the sort that Betty MacDonald discussed with such relish in "The Egg and I" with, of course, several large modifications. Dutchess County, has been severely disciplined by water, gas, electricity and other prosaic conveniences as well as by several centuries of intensive settlement, and it's not at all comparable to the fastnesses of Oregon.

These talks are likely to be friendly arguments between husband and wife about who is the best maker of coffee, about Woody's skill or lack of it as a paper-hanger or about Woody's complete innocence in the matter of agriculture. Like all people new to the country, they have trouble with the pump and the drains and the roof of the barn. This may be rather mild stuff for the average listener but it holds a certain professional fascination for me. I'm living in the country too where these small problems are immediate and urgent.

In fact, speaking as an expert in this line, I'm forced to remark that the Kloses' attitude toward a pump that stubbornly refuses to produce water is so extraordinarily good-natured that I find it hard to believe. The reason for this good-nature is that the Kloses are really speaking of mishaps that took place years ago. Actually the couple has lived in the country a long time and are re-living on this show some of their early adventures. They probably gained the upper hand with the pump long ago and consequently can speak of its early failings with nostalgia. All I can say is that faulty pumps may be pretty funny in retrospect, but when you have one currently on your hands, the humor, Klose, is grim. Grim.

Three of the Kloses' young boys appear on the program now and then but are sensibly suppressed so that their few observations are not objectionable. Occasionally, the Kloses bring to the microphone some of their farm neighbors who provide an earthy charm much more appealing than the professional charm of important guest stars. I particulary liked Ma Fraley, a neighboring farm wife, who made some acid and sensible remarks about city people who choose to live in the country, several of which sounded as if they were directed at me.

The Klose program is nothing to get excited about but it is a step forward in the husband and wife industry in several respects. For one thing, the Kloses stick pretty close to the average problems of marriage and the home in place of the usual chatter about celebrities and nightclubs. In the second, there is a faint but discernible story line.

The only reason for going into the Kloses at such length is because the husband-and-wife radio team is a social prenomenon of our time and I think we are going to get a lot more of it. As daytime programs go, this sort of thing is infinitely preferable to soap opera or give-away shows. In fact, I think the average housewife if she were exposed to the Kloses or any other married couple long enough could become just as absorbed in the Klose drainage problem as she is in the current wave of poisoning going on in "Joyce Jordan, M. D." The Klose mishaps are smaller but they are human, credible and digestible and they have a certain quality of suspense all their own.

For instance, Hagerstown was in the league at the start of the season, but Joe Cambria later moved the franchise to Youngstown, Ohio. We believe that the same franchise moved to several other cities before the season ended. We do know that Erie and Altoona were in the league but they were not among the original starters.

Col. Henry S. Barrett, of Baltimore, who visited Cumberland on numerous occasions during the war in the role of Maryland's civilian defense leader, is now president of the Maryland Anti-Vivisection Society.

As a lover of animals he is deeply stirred by the brutal shotgun shooting of the horse Saguaro at Laurel and by the brutal manner in which a deer was killed in Washington county.

The deer had to be shot six times before it was killed.

The first shot broke both front legs and it started to crawl away on its stumps.

In his complaint of this cruelty to animals, Col. Barrett concludes: "If that isn't cruelty to animals, I don't know what it is. The man who did the shooting should never be allowed to shoot at deer again."

Reports to the effect that the reason for the cancellation of the opening Interstate Basketball League at Westernport on Wednesday night was because members of the Piedmont team didn't have passports to cross the bridge into Maryland have been denied by both clubs.

Albert "Bobby" Green, one of Cumberland's most popular professional fighters of bygone days, will try to put the boxing game back on an even keel next Monday when he presents an amateur card at the State Armory.

Green is matchmaker for St. Mary's Athletic Club and he opened the current season with a darned good show in St. Mary's hall in September.

The last two shows held here by other clubs were punk and its going to take several good shows to drive away that awful odor and bring the fans out like last season.

The 1946-47 season was one of the best ever enjoyed here by amateur clubs. During the nine months' period, October 7 through June 30, shows were held on 20 different nights. The paid attendance was 11,553 and gate receipts $14,029.80... The AAU's share was close to $1,000.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, until the 22nd day of December, 1947, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., for One (1) new Six Cylinder two-door sedan, equipped with heater, and One (1) new one-ton Pickup Truck, for use in the Water Department of Cumberland.
The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland hereby reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Pupil Withdrawals Cause For Concern Dr. Kopp Asserts

Four Objectives Listed For Study

The number of students withdrawing from classes in Alegany County schools, especially from junior and senior classes, is cause for grave concern, and "deserves our most careful study," Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

A new program known as Pupil Personnel Service has been set up to replace the old attendance department, and make a thorough study of the condition, Dr. Kopp told teachers of the county schools in a bulletin.

The first responsibility for school attendance rests with the school itself, he declared, as he called attention to four objectives which deserve study in an effort to halt the "mortality rate" in Allegany County Schools. He listed objectives as:

Objectives Listed

2—Co-operation with Guidance and Counseling programs.

3—Participation in the Child Study Program.

"It's a sad mistake," Dr. Kopp emphasized," when a pupil is withdrawn for the reason that school can do nothing more for him or because the problem will be solved by eliminating him."

When the school finds itself unable to effect a satisfactory adjustment, the services of the Pupil Personnel Department are available for what assistance can be given, he told teachers.

However, Dr. Kopp pointed out, the Personnel Service is not a cure-all. The school should utilize its own resources, he declared, and attempt to remove the cause. In all cases, the teachers were told, "be they problems of attendance or of some other maladjustment, teachers and principals should endeavor to note the early "danger signals," which are indicative of approaching difficulties.

In revealing his concern, Dr. Kopp explained, that in the future no withdrawals from classes will be accepted, for reasons other than the "natural causes," without first being investigated thoroughly.

Would Enlist Aid

Some causes go beyond anything that the school can do in the way of remedial measures, he declared, but added, in each community, however, there are other agencies and some of them can be counted on to lend assistance to effect corrections. When such conditions exist, the Pupil Personnel Service will enlist the assistance of these agencies, Kopp asserted.

In summing up the reasons for many of the withdrawals, Dr. Kopp listed the most common as "reaching the age of 16," "mental incapacity," or "quitting to go to work." All of these he declared are poor reasons for any student to be withdrawn or to withdraw.

For those who have reached the age of 16 and can legally withdraw, he said "we would like to have some interview made by the Guidance Counselor or the Visiting Teachers first in an effort to use the 'moral suasion' to have the pupil continue in school." It may be that a change of program, he said, or some other such move would be helpful in saving the pupil.

As for the mentally incapacitated, Dr. Kopp said, there is no one who cannot learn something useful if the pupil is kept in school.

Not infrequently, rumors are circulated around the school to the effect that a student is thinking of withdrawing. When such a rumor does exist, preventive steps may be effective in saving the pupil, he asserted, adding the school has a responsibility for the initial steps in the program.

AFA SQUADRON PLANS REUNION OF AIRMEN

The Greater Cumberland Squadron, Air Forces Association, met last night at the Knights of Columbus Hall, and made plans for a meeting of all former Air Forces personnel of this area, on January 8, at the VFW home here.

Willis Robboson and Bruce Reuschel, of the Knuckle Busters Club of Central YMCA, airplane model builders were guests at the meeting. The Squadron agreed to adopt the model club as one of its projects and will cooperate with the junior fliers in their program.

A letter was received from Brig. Gen. Thomas McDonald, from Wright's Field, asking that he be made an associate member of the local squadron. Gen. McDonald is a former resident of Cumberland and expressed his interest in the work the newly formed Squadron is doing here in the interest of aviation.

There was considerable discussion on the local Airport question, and the Squadron plans to offer several suggestions to the Municipal Airport Commission and the Mayor and City Council, in the hope that activity in aviation here can be increased to the financial benefit of the city, and to the interest and benefit of the comunity as a whole.

According to the Collector on Jan. 1, 1948, partnership returns (Form 1065), fiduciary returns (Form 1041) and corporation returns (Form 1120) will be mailed.

Third Education Meeting Planned For January 9

Dr. Benjamin To Be Main Speaker

The third general professional educational meeting of Allegany County School principals and teachers will be held January 9, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, school superintendent, who named Dr. Harold J. Benjamin, dean of College Education at the University of Maryland, as the principal speaker.

In announcing the program, Dr. Kopp said that in light of the emphasis which is being placed on the importance of an educational program it is significant that Dr. Benjamin has chosen as a topic "Teachers Make the Program."

Both high and elementary schools through the county will be closed in time to permit teachers to attend the meeting at 2:30 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium. Principals have also been invited to attend a dinner that night at the Ali Ghan Country Club at which Dr. Benjamin will speak. The talk will be followed by a forum discussion.

Inasmuch as the one-third mark has been passed in the 1947-48 school term, Dr. Kopp informed the teachers, it would be well for all to review rather critically the achievements accomplished to date.

Particular significance should come from the fact that an experimental approach to a better administration of schools, through the freeing of principals for classroom instruction is being reviewed.

Dr. Benjamin will be making his first trip to Allegany County as a speaker, according to Dr. Kopp, who told the teachers his acceptance is regarded highly since he is considered a "dynamic thinker and an effective speaker."

The previous professional meeting held during the present term of school . . . one at the opening of school and one on September 18 . . . were devoted to visual education and problems of administration, according to Dr. Kopp. He explained that the January meeting will also follow along those lines.

Flat Rental Basis Agreed Upon For Bus Terminal

The Potomac Edison Company, operator of the Blue Ridge Bus Lines, will rent the Southern Hotel property as a bus terminal and sub-lease facilities to seven other bus firms who operate in this area, on the basis of flat rental agreed upon at a conference Wednesday in Hagerstown.

All terms of the contract between PE and Frank B. Vandegrift, owner of the hotel property, have been agreed upon except for minor details, and John T. Fey, attorney for Vandegrift, said building contractors will complete remodeling at the hotel in 30 to 60 days and the terminal then will be ready for operation.

The hotel firm will retain rental rights for the building, other than a ticket office, waiting rooms and the parking area adjacent to the building, which will be used as a depot by buses.

The dance hall in the hotel will be remodeled as a ticket office and waiting room, and a restaurant will be located in the front of the structure. The parking lot will accommodate 25 or 30 buses and exits to both North Mechanic and North Centre Streets will be provided.

Bids have been received from two concerns for operation of a restaurant in connection with the terminal, one from the Union News Company and one from William L. Sheehe, operator of the present restaurant at the Frederick Street terminal, according to Fey.

Henry W. Price, district manager of Potomac Edison, and A. F. McDonald, Hagerstown, PE vice president in charge of transportation, represented the bus line in negotiations with Fey and Vandegrift.

Weatherholt was rated first by the Civil Service Commission, Conlon second and Schafer third. Schafer is a Republican and the other two Democrats.

CLUB MENACED BY EARLY FIRE

What appeared to be a bad fire broke out early this morning at the Cristoforo Colombo Social Club, 110 North Mechanic Street.

Smoke was rolling from between the third floor and the roof and one fireman said it "looks pretty bad."

Central firemen were called about 1:40 a. m. and within a few minutes called for help.

Mt. Savage Pair Held On $1,000 Bonds In Robbery

Joyner And Kirby Sign Confessions

Two 21-year-old Mt. Savage men were ordered held under $1,000 bond each yesterday when they were given preliminary hearings in Magistrates Court on charges of robbing a local truck driver of between $375 and $400 in the early morning of October 15.

Charles W. Kirby and Lemuel M. Joyner, arrested Tuesday, both appeared in court briefly and told Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., that they had confessed to the robbery of Victor Lepley, 11 Frederick Street, as he parked his truck at a service station on North Mechanic Street.

Police said Joyner admitted his part in the robbery when he was taken into custody, but Kirby continued to deny all knowledge of the felony until yesterday when he was taken to the office of the State's Attorney.

Yesterday, however, according to authorities, Kirby signed a confession admitting that he approached Lepley as he parked his truck and "stuck my hand in my pocket to make him think I had a gun" informed the victim "this is a hold-up."

Kirby, police said, stated that Joyner went through Lepley's pockets and removed a wallent, which he stuck in Kirby's pocket, Joyner, according to the confession, received "about $30" and Kirby kept the balance of the money.

The two men implicated in the robbery, told police they met in Mt. Savage on the afternoon before the robbery and came to Cumberland where they visited several beer taverns. About 11:30 p. m., Kirby told police, they walked to the city limits at North Mechanic Street, and after standing there for a time, saw Lepley parking his truck.

Both men admitted they knew Lepley, but said they did not think he had recognized them. They were committed to Allegany County Jail in default of the bonds.

The pair was arrested by Trooper William McElfish, and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya, after two months of investigation.

Highways In Good Condition Now

Both State Police and the State Roads Commission reported Allegany County roads in "good shape" last night after sleet, snow and freezing rain made highway travel hazardous late Wednesday.

Roads generally are clear in Garrett and Washington Counties although they are icy in spots on the mountain, State Police reported, adding that chains are no longer necessary.

Most of the highway ice that disappeared yesterday was "chewed" by automobiles after State Roads Commission crews applied cinders, but pedestrians were out of luck because the weather did not warm up enough to cause melting.

The official weather observer reported only a one-degree variation in temperature yesterday, the mercury rising to 32 degrees—the freezing point—in the afternoon from an overnight low of 31. By 9:30 last night it had dropped back to 31.

The forecast for today is for warmer and continued moderately cold weather.

Plans Made By Five Civic Clubs To "Man" Salvation Army Kettles

To Solicit Funds On December 20

Preliminary plans for five civic organizations to "man" five Salvation Army kettles on Saturday December 20 were made at a meeting in the Citadel yesterday afternoon.

Maj. Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army here and representatives of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Exchange and Junior Association of Commerce, held a conference at which several details of soliciting funds to be used by the Salvation Army in its Christmas work were worked out.

It was decided that the various clubs will "man" the kettles on Baltimore Street on Dec. 20 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. with clubs soliciting at the same kettle throughout the day. The members of the clubs will work in shifts and at least two persons will be at the kettle at all times.

The clubs will "man" kettles at the following places:

LIONS CLUB—in front of Murphy's Store; KIWANIS CLUB—in front of People's Drug Store; ROTARY CLUB—in front of Cumberland Cloak and Suit Company Store; EXCHANGE CLUB—in front of Rosenbaum's Store and the JAYCEES, in front of Field's Millinery Store.

Signs showing the name of the club, which will also call attention to the Salvation Army Christmas work, will be placed at each kettle.

Members of the various clubs are making plans to present special attractions at their kettle to attract the attention of shoppers. Singing of Chrismas carols by individuals, quartets, choruses, etc will be a feature.

Other officers who will serve during 1948 will be Henry Price, vice chairman; Lloyd Rawlings, secretary, both re-elected, and E. Fred Avers, treasurer.

Members of the advisory board will be F. H. Ankeney, James A. Avirett, Forest Brown, Frank Carpenter, W. K. Edwards, W. J. Edwards, Fred W. Eiler, Thomas B. Finan, Dr. A. H. Hawkins, Victor Heisey

Dr. Emmett L. Jones, David Kauffman, Charles L. Kopp, Lynn Lashley, Herbert E. Martin, Adolph Blunk, Dr. C. L. Owens, J. G. Patterson, G. A. Schwartzenbach, III, Dr. H. Hall Sharp, Harold W. Smith, William M. Somerville, A. J. Weber and Robert W. Young.

The board heard reports on the general work of the Salvation Army here by Major Elmer Wall, commander of the Citadel, and on the activities of the Outpost by Capt. Lynn Wiseman.

The enlarged Christmas program planned by the Salvation Army for the Cumberland area was presented for approval of the advisory board.

Grade Students Benefit By New Dental Program

Kopp Announces Modified Plans

A modified dental health program in Allegany County schools will result in the children in grades one and two receiving closer attention and more complete examinations, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The program which was reviewed recently by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, County Health Officer, Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the division of oral hygiene, and the superintendent of schools, was announced yesterday to teachers in the county.

The schedule initially calls for dental examinations in the first two elementary grades and then as far as possible in the remaining grades of elementary school.

Corrective work will be limited to children of the first two grades and then to emergency care in grades beyond that limit. The new program defines emergency work as cases of pain, extreme discomfort, or an acute infectious condition.

The selection of patients will be based by nurses on financial inability to secure corrections from private practitioners and on a ration of the nature of the aid required.

The new program further outlines practices to develop the more preventive phases and proposes that the past practice of according a small amount of time to each school in a nursing district be modified to the extent that each school be accorded dental clinic service either twice every three years or once every two years.

Depending on the amount of time available, however, dental examinations will be continued on an annual basis without promise of clinic service in the schools.

With the eventual availability of additional personnel the program will be expanded to give more corrective service and administer preventive measures through dental hygienists.

Corriganville Youth Is Still Unconscious

Critically injured in an automobile acident Sunday 11 miles south of Bedford, Pa., on Route 220, Roland Uplinger, 18, Corriganville, remained in a critical condition and unconscious for the fifth day yesterday at Timmons Hospital, Bedford. His skull was fractured when the car in which he was riding upset.

Leslie Bohrer, North Mechanic Street, listed by Pennsylvania police as the driver, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving too fast for conditions at a hearing before Justice of the Peace John Anderson, near Bedford, Sunday and paid a fine and costs totaling $13.00. State Police said, adding that further charges are pending the outcome of Uplinger's injuries.

Spur Bottling Works Franchise Is Sold By Renshaw To Malamphy Co.

Richard T. Renshaw, 1819 Bedford Street, who established the Spur Bottling Works here several months ago, said yesterday he has entered into an agreement with Edward Wolfe, operator of Malamphy Bottling Works, 218 Williams Street, for the sale of his franchise, good will and contracts, and has sold his equipment, trucks, bottles, etc., to a firm in Trenton, N. J.

Renshaw said he had an opportunity to liquidate the business at a time when it would prove advantageous to him to do so, and Wolfe said that Renshaw has established his product in the local trade to a point where he considers it an excellent addition to his present business.

The Malamphy Bottling Company was established by the late M. J. Malamphy in 1876, and in 1902 was taken over by the founder's brother-in-law E. L. Gooding. Wolfe, a nephew of Gooding, took over the business in September 1946, soon after returning from service in the Army. He was overseas 32 months.

Wolfe said he is employing some of Renshaw's salesmen and drivers, and stated that his organization, like Renshaw's will continue 100 per cent World War Veterans employes.

James Alfred Avirett, attorney, is handling the details of the sale, and said yesterday that in his opinion, both Renshaw and Wolfe have made a very satisfactory arrangements, beneficial to both. Renshaw said his plans for the future are uncertain, but he expects to enter some other business.

He said last night the sale of equipment to the Trenton, N. J. firm is effective at once, as is also the transfer of goodwill, franchise, distributorship, etc., to Wolfe. He stated he also plans to dispose of the bottling plant building, a 50 by 100 foot concrete block structure, at 116 Euclid Place, formerly the old King Barrell Factory building, which was remodeled into the bottling plant.

Teachers Forbidden To Take Gifts From Students In Allegany County

"A Christmas present for teacher," is taboo in Allegany County public schools, and Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, called principals' and teachers' attention to existing regulations to that effect yesterday.

Many years ago, Dr. Kopp said, on account of certain abuses and undesirable practices, the Board of Education passed a regulation forbidding the giving of Christmas presents to teachers by school children. Many embarrassing situations brought about the regulation, he informed the teachers.

Yesterday, Dr. Kopp recalled the regulation after announcing that "reports that have come to my office through parents whose children have been asked to contribute as much as a dollar for a teachers' gift," have led him to believe that the regulation is being violated.

"It thus seems necessary," Dr. Kopp explained, "to remind principals of the regulation which is on record and to ask teachers to see that it is put into practice."

Dr. Kopp explained later, that while he knows the children get a thrill out of giving presents to their teachers, he is opposed to the practice, because many children cannot afford to contribute and are thus embarrassed, or because many of the teachers are overlooked and also embarrassed.

When such practices are in effect, he stated, one student is trying to outdo another and one class is trying to make a better showing than another, causing an undesirable situation.

In making the announcement, Dr. Kopp said he is assuming that matters have developed in certain quarters to such an extent that gifts have already been purchased. In order that children may not be embarrassed, he declared, matters shall be allowed to stand as they are in certain schools, but in the future the practice is to be discontinued. Dr. Kopp did not name the schools he was referring to.

WHY YOUNG MEN SHOULD JOIN THE NATIONAL GUARD

By BETTIE MARIE BARNETT
Fort Hill High School

Editor's Note—More than a score of high school students in Allegany and Garrett Counties submitted entries in Mountain District American Legion Essay Contest, on the subject, "Why Young Men Should Join the National Guard."

The first prize of $25 was awarded to Miss Betty Marie Barnett, 223 Baltimore Avenue, student at Fort Hill High School. Her essay, chosen the best by the judges, follows:

"Every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government, owes not only a proportion of his property but even of his personal services to the defense of it."

We owe our existence as a nation to the tradition of service of our citizens. It was an army of citizen soldiers that George Washington led to victory in the American Revolution. At the end of that war, the first Congress asked General Washington to give his views on what the military policy of the ne wnation should be. The above quotation was his answer. The Father of our country knew the need of a Guard. It was not then known as the National Guard of today but that was where the idea was born.

Today the New National Guard gives every man an opportunity to give that personal service to his country and at the same time to advance himself. Not only do we need the National Guard as a defense for our country, but in National Guards all over the United States, men are being given the opportunity to study and learn the things that will help them advance in their cilivian jobs. They are finding fellowship which is a part of America itself. The National Guard makes a strong United States by helping to keep her men strong, physically and mentally, by providing every sport and recreation.

They also learn leadership, which is a quality this country needs. Democracy calls for leaders,—strong, clean, well-educated, who can guide our noble country to high hills of freedom in the years to come.

It is a privilege to belong to the National Guard. It is an honor to serve your country; no one should forget this fact. If we want to keep the peace, we must have a strong National Guard. Only while we remain strong enough to protect ourselves and other peaceful countries from aggressive nations will there be peace in this world. The National Guard is vital to our national defense and the defense of other weakened nations.

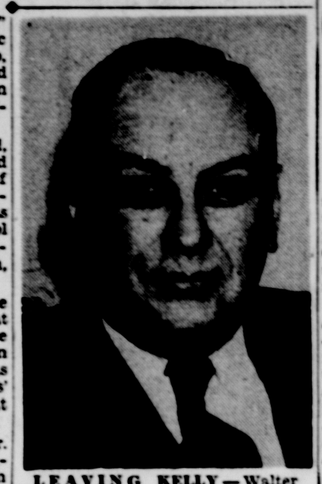
The pay is also a help to those who belong to the Guard, remuneration being based on the new Army pay scale. All veterans can obtain the same rank held on discharge.

I wonder how many of us have stopped to think what may have happened in World War II if it had not been for our National Guard? America was a country quite unprepared for wor except for ---"Our National Guard." If we had not had those brave men to go ahead while we were training an unprepared citizenry, this war might, indeed, have ended quite differently.

Need we ask why young men should join the National Guard? To serve one's country is rich reward at any time; to serve one's self at the same time is a dauble satisfaction. America is as strong as her people are strong, and the National Guard truly insures that strength.

Police, Firemen Will Nominate Officers

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will nominate officers for the annual election at the monthly meeting to be held December 15 in the squad room of the Public Safety Building, Frederick Street, according to an announcement by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, secretary.



LEAVING KELLY—Walter Schack, a member of the engineering department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, has resigned effective December 19 to become assistant general manager of the Cumberland Home Insulation Company, starting December 22.

Schack Leaving Kelly Tire Co.

Walter Schack, 17 North Allegany Street, a member of the engineering department at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, has resigned effective December 19 to become assistant general manager of the Cumberland Home Insulation Company, starting December 22.

Schack came to Cumberland May 5, 1942, as one of four original key men with Mauran, Russell, Crowell and Mullgardt, architects and engineers of St. Louis, Mo., who served in the capacity of architect, engineer, management for conversion of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company to the Allegany Ordnance Plant.

After working with Mauran, Russell, Crowell and Mullgardt at both the Pinto and Kelly plants, Schack became associated with the Kelly Engineering Company which operated the ordinance plant.

When the Kelly plant returned to tire production Schack joined the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company staff.

Schack attended Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and has received training in the construction field in design, supervision, inspection, sales and contact work.

Labor Group Will Ask Passage Of Eviction Measure

An ordinance to require that until June 1, 1949, landlords give tenants 120 days notice before termination of tenancies, except in certain cases, will be presented for action of the Mayor and City Council, the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, reported last night.

The proposed ordinance, according to William Boyd Coleman, vice president of the labor council, would supplement an ordinance submitted to the city fathers this week which calls for municipal rent control upon the expiration of Federal controls February 29, 1948.

Union officials said they believe the emergency resulting from the acute housing shortage makes both of the ordinances necessary.

Union officials pointed out that the eviction ordinance would offer protections similar to those now offered by the Federal rent bill except that tenants would have 120 days to find a new home under the city law.

Coleman said he will present the suggested legislation formally to the Mayor and Council Monday.

Both the eviction and rent control ordinances would become effective simultaneously when Federal controls end if the council passes the measures, union officials said.

The Rent Control ordinance, although not a direct duplicate, is very similar to the ordinance passed in Baltimore city last June, Coleman said.

Scholastic Press Group Will Meet

BALTIMORE, Dec. 11 —(AP)—At least 22 faculty advisors of the Maryland Scholastic Press Association will meet here Saturday at 10 a. m. to take action on furthering the organization of the group.

President James C. Leonhart, director of publications at Baltimore City College, said the advisors will designate committees to draw up a constitution for the association, work for increased membership and to plan for next year's news writing tournament.

At the writing tournament held last month at College Park, Kenwood High School, of Raspeburg took first place over 29 other schools participating.

Miss Mary E. Murray of Allegany High School, Cumberland, is the association director.

Airport Proposals Will Be Given Council Monday

Graham Reconsiders Withdrawing Offer

A summary of bids submitted to the Airport Commission for operation of the city airport will be presented to the Mayor and City Council on Monday for consideration, Edmund S. Burke, chairman of the commission, said last night.

Meeting Wednesday night, the commission was unable to reach a decision on which of four bids submitted should be recommended to the Mayor and Council, and Burke announced that a summary of the bids would be submitted to the city officials along with the report the commission was unable to reach a decision.

Burke said last night that he already has conveyed this information to T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, and that the latter will present the information to the Mayor and Council on Monday.

Because of a split vote by the commission Wednesday, William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of Cumberland Airways, Inc., who had submitted a proposed offer which would provide the city with an estimated income of $5,000 annually, withdrew his proposal, but yesterday he advised Shires that he was not withdrawing.

In another development yesterday Valley Airways, York, Pa., announced through its attorney, Thomas B. Finan, that its guarantee proposal will be raised.

Graham told Shires he had been hasty in withdrawing and said he felt the Mayor and Councils should have the opportunity of considering in full all proposals. He said he is willing to post bond to provide assurance of the fulfillment of his proposed contract.

Finan said he is sending a letter for Valley Airways to the Mayor and Council offering a yearly guarantee of $3,250 instead of the previous $2,000 for the first year and $2,500 for the second. A choice for the city to take five per cent of the gross, if the latter figure is higher, remains.

While the Airport Commission did not arrive at a recommendation to be submitted to the Mayor and Council, the commission did oppose by a four to two vote city management of the airport.

It is likely, however, that the city will consider this possibility along with proposals of Cumberland Airways, Inc., Valley Airways, French School of Aviation, Inc., Baltimore, and Jenkins-Dela Grange Corporation, Cumberland.

The club proposes to promote friendship among business women of the community and intends to assist in other activities in the business field charter membership announced last night.

Prominent men and women of the community will be invited to address the membership at its meeting and various phases of the business world will be on the main topics of discussion for the members.

As a further aid the organization will attempt to develop Christian character through physical and social activities. Membership in the organization is open to all girls between the ages of 18 and 25.

This December To Date Is Piker When Compared To Last 35 Years

December, of course, is only a little more than one-third past, but to date the month is pretty much of a piker as far as warmth, cold, precipitation and snowfall are concerned in a comparison with official weather records of the past 35 years.

Starting with heat first, the warmest day so far this month is 61, recorded December 8, but this is 15 degrees lower than the record maximum temperature recorded December 5 and 6 in 1916.

Of the 35-year period in which records have been kept, there have been warmer days in 20 than the 61 recorded here on Monday. Two years have had December maximums of 61, and 13 have not had a maximum reading that high.

In the cold category, the lowest reading registered this month so far is 11, recorded December 1, and this figure is 17 degrees higher than the record December low of four below zero registered December 26, 1914 and 16 degrees lower than the five below registered December 20, 1942, and December 30, 1917.

Four years have had a low mark of 11, six have not been that cold and 25 have been colder.

To date, including the .03 of an inch of rain, snow and sleet from Wednesday, the total for this month amounts to .32. This com-

Income Tax Adjustment Regulation Is Pointed Out By Comptroller

Attention is called to a regulation on income tax adjustments by James J. Lacy, state comptroller, which he said should be of interest to a number of firms and individuals in Western Maryland.

The regulation provides that if "the Federal income tax payable by any taxpayer, subject to the jurisdiction of the State of Maryland is increased by any authorized department or agency of the Federal Government, or any changes are required by any such department or agency in the method of reporting income on the Federal income tax return of any such taxpayer, detailed information setting forth the amount of, and reason for the tax increases, or the nature of such change, must be submitted to the Comptroller within 30 days after knowledge thereof is acquired by the taxpayer."

Edward V. Welsh, field representative for Maryland, said the regulation simply means that taxpayers who have had to pay additional Federal income tax because of increased earnings, or taxpayers who have had Federal income tax liens placed against them, must also make arrangements to pay the additional state income tax due because of increased earnings etc.

Welsh, who is at the Algonquin Hotel, said he will furnish any information desired, regarding Maryland Income tax, and any forms or details needed may be obtained from him Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

from city to city before the campaign closed.

For instance, Hagerstown was in the league at the start of the season, but Joe Cambria later moved the franchise to Youngstown, Ohio. We believe that the same franchise moved to several other cities before the season ended. We do know that Erie and Altoona were in the league but they were not among the original starters.

What a season that was!

Col. Henry S. Barrett, of Baltimore, who visited Cumberland on numerous occasions during the war in the role of Maryland's civilian defense leader, is now president of the Maryland Anti-Vivisection Society.

As a lover of animals he is deeply stirred by the brutal shotgun shooting of the horse Saguaro at Laurel and by the brutal manner in which a deer was killed in Washington county.

He sums up the deer case as follows:

The deer had to be shot six times before it was killed.

The first shot broke both front legs and it started to crawl away on its stumps.

The second shot broke the hind leg below the joint.

The third shot broke its hip.

The fourth shot hit it in the back.

The fifth shot knocked off an antler.

The sixth shot penterated the deer's jaw and it went down for good.

In his complaint of this cruelty to animals, Col. Barrett concludes: "If that isn't cruelty to animals, I don't know what it is. The man who did the shooting should never be allowed to shoot at deer again."

Reports to the effect that the reason for the cancellation of the opening Interstate Basketball League at Westernport on Wednesday night was because members of the Piedmont team didn't have passports to cross the bridge into Maryland have been denied by both clubs.

Sammy Adragna must have received a trouncing from Charley Fusari in that fight at Pittsburgh Monday night.

Carl Hughes of the Press, wrote: "Up to the seventh round the Carnegie Clouter was no more in the fight than the spectators in the tenth row.

"Fusari, the good-looking blond, who got many a low whistle from the women in the crowd, gave Sammy his worst defeat since he hit the big time."

Albert "Bobby" Green, one of Cumberland's most popular professional fighters of bygone days, will try to put the boxing game back on an even keel next Monday when he presents an amateur card at the State Armory.

Green is matchmaker for St. Mary's Athletic Club and he opened the current season with a darned good show in St. Mary's hall in September.

The last two shows held here by other clubs were punk and its going to take several good shows to drive away that awful odor and bring the fans out like last season.

The 1946-47 season was one of the best ever enjoyed here by amateur clubs. During the nine months' period, October 7 through June 30, shows were held on 20 different nights. The paid attendance was 11,553 and gate receipts $14,029.80... The AAU's share was close to $1,000.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, until the 22nd day of December, 1947, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., for One (1) new Six Cylinder two-door sedan, equipped with heater, and One (1) new one-ton Pickup Truck, for use in the Water Department of Cumberland.

The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland hereby reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Pupil Withdrawals Cause For Concern Dr. Kopp Asserts

Four Objectives Listed For Study

The number of students withdrawing from classes in Alegany County schools, especially from junior and senior classes, is cause for grave concern, and "deserves our most careful study," Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

A new program known as Pupil Personnel Service has been set up to replace the old attendance department, and make a thorough study of the condition, Dr. Kopp told teachers of the county schools in a bulletin.

The first responsibility for school attendance rests with the school itself, he declared, as he called attention to four objectives which deserve study in an effort to halt the "mortality rate" in Allegany County Schools. He listed objectives as:

Objectives Listed

1—Satisfactory adjustment of a pupil in school, at home, and in his total environment.

2—Co-operation with Guidance and Counseling programs.

3—Participation in the Child Study Program.

4—Co-operation with community agencies which have a child welfare program.

"It's a sad mistake," Dr. Kopp emphasized," when a pupil is withdrawn for the reason that school can do nothing more for him or because the problem will be solved by eliminating him."

When the school finds itself unable to effect a satisfactory adjustment, the services of the Pupil Personnel Department are available for what assistance can be given, he told teachers.

However, Dr. Kopp pointed out, the Personnel Service is not a cure-all. The school should utilize its own resources, he declared, and attempt to remove the cause. In all cases, the teachers were told, "be they problems of attendance or of some other maladjustment, teachers and principals should endeavor to note the early "danger signals," which are indicative of approaching difficulties.

In revealing his concern, Dr. Kopp explained, that in the future no withdrawals from classes will be accepted, for reasons other than the "natural causes," without first being investigated thoroughly.

Would Enlist Aid

Some causes go beyond anything that the school can do in the way of remedial measures, he declared, but added, in each community, however, there are other agencies and some of them can be counted on to lend assistance to effect corrections. When such conditions exist, the Pupil Personnel Service will enlist the assistance of these agencies, Kopp asserted.

In summing up the reasons for many of the withdrawals, Dr. Kopp listed the most common as "reaching the age of 16," "mental incapacity," or "quitting to go to work." All of these he declared are poor reasons for any student to be withdrawn or to withdraw.

For those who have reached the age of 16 and can legally withdraw, he said "we would like to have some interview made by the Guidance Counselor or the Visiting Teachers first in an effort to use the 'moral suasion' to have the pupil continue in school." It may be that a change of program, he said, or some other such move would be helpful in saving the pupil.

As for the mentally incapacitated, Dr. Kopp said, there is no one who cannot learn something useful if the pupil is kept in school.

Not infrequently, rumors are circulated around the school to the effect that a student is thinking of withdrawing. When such a rumor does exist, preventive steps may be effective in saving the pupil, he asserted, adding the school has a responsibility for the initial steps in the program.

Income Tax Blanks In Mail

In the envelopes are individual income tax return blanks (Form 1040) for the year 1947. Thousands of them will be received here before December 15.

According to the Collector on Jan. 1, 1948, partnership returns (Form 1065), fiduciary returns (Form 1041) and corporation returns (Form 1120) will be mailed.

Third Education Meeting Planned For January 9

Dr. Benjamin To Be Main Speaker

The third general professional educational meeting of Allegany County School principals and teachers will be held January 9, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, school superintendent, who named Dr. Harold J. Benjamin, dean of College Education at the University of Maryland, as the principal speaker.

In announcing the program, Dr. Kopp said that in light of the emphasis which is being placed on the importance of an educational program it is significant that Dr. Benjamin has chosen as a topic "Teachers Make the Program."

Both high and elementary schools through the county will be closed in time to permit teachers to attend the meeting at 2:30 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium. Principals have also been invited to attend a dinner that night at the Ali Ghan Country Club at which Dr. Benjamin will speak. The talk will be followed by a forum discussion.

Inasmuch as the one-third mark has been passed in the 1947-48 school term, Dr. Kopp informed the teachers, it would be well for all to review rather critically the achievements accomplished to date.

Particular significance should come from the fact that an experimental approach to a better administration of schools, through the freeing of principals for classroom instruction is being reviewed.

Dr. Benjamin will be making his first trip to Allegany County as a speaker, according to Dr. Kopp, who told the teachers his acceptance is regarded highly since he is considered a "dynamic thinker and an effective speaker."

The previous professional meeting held during the present term of school . . . one at the opening of school and one on September 18 . . . were devoted to visual education and problems of administration, according to Dr. Kopp. He explained that the January meeting will also follow along those lines.

Flat Rental Basis Agreed Upon For Bus Terminal

The Potomac Edison Company, operator of the Blue Ridge Bus Lines, will rent the Southern Hotel property as a bus terminal and sub-lease facilities to seven other bus firms who operate in this area, on the basis of flat rental agreed upon at a conference Wednesday in Hagerstown.

All terms of the contract between PE and Frank B. Vandegrift, owner of the hotel property, have been agreed upon except for minor details, and John T. Fey, attorney for Vandegrift, said building contractors will complete remodeling at the hotel in 30 to 60 days and the terminal then will be ready for operation.

The hotel firm will retain rental rights for the building, other than a ticket office, waiting rooms and the parking area adjacent to the building, which will be used as a depot by buses.

The dance hall in the hotel will be remodeled as a ticket office and waiting room, and a restaurant will be located in the front of the structure. The parking lot will accommodate 25 or 30 buses and exits to both North Mechanic and North Centre Streets will be provided.

Bids have been received from two concerns for operation of a restaurant in connection with the terminal, one from the Union News Company and one from William L. Sheehe, operator of the present restaurant at the Frederick Street terminal, according to Fey.

Henry W. Price, district manager of Potomac Edison, and A. F. McDonald, Hagerstown, PE vice president in charge of transportation, represented the bus line in negotiations with Fey and Vandegrift.

AFA SQUADRON PLANS REUNION OF AIRMEN

The Greater Cumberland Squadron, Air Forces Association, met last night at the Knights of Columbus Hall, and made plans for a meeting of all former Air Forces personnel of this area, on January 8, at the VFW home here.

Willis Robboson and Bruce Reuschel, of the Knuckle Busters Club of Central YMCA, airplane model builders were guests at the meeting. The Squadron agreed to adopt the model club as one of its projects and will cooperate with the junior fliers in their program.

A letter was received from Brig. Gen. Thomas McDonald, from Wright's Field, asking that he be made an associate member of the local squadron. Gen. McDonald is a former resident of Cumberland and expressed his interest in the work the newly formed Squadron is doing here in the interest of aviation.

There was considerable discussion on the local Airport question, and the Squadron plans to offer several suggestions to the Municipal Airport Commission and the Mayor and City Council, in the hope that activity in aviation here can be increased to the financial benefit of the city, and to the interest and benefit of the comunity as a whole.

What appeared to be a bad fire broke out early this morning at the Cristoforo Colombo Social Club, 110 North Mechanic Street.

Central firemen were called about 1:40 a. m. and within a few minutes called for help.

Mt. Savage Pair Held On $1,000 Bonds In Robbery

Joyner And Kirby Sign Confessions

Two 21-year-old Mt. Savage men were ordered held under $1,000 bond each yesterday when they were given preliminary hearings in Magistrates Court on charges of robbing a local truck driver of between $375 and $400 in the early morning of October 15.

Charles W. Kirby and Lemuel M. Joyner, arrested Tuesday, both appeared in court briefly and told Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., that they had confessed to the robbery of Victor Lepley, 11 Frederick Street, as he parked his truck at a service station on North Mechanic Street.

Police said Joyner admitted his part in the robbery when he was taken into custody, but Kirby continued to deny all knowledge of the felony until yesterday when he was taken to the office of the State's Attorney.

Yesterday, however, according to authorities, Kirby signed a confession admitting that he approached Lepley as he parked his truck and "stuck my hand in my pocket to make him think I had a gun" informed the victim "this is a hold-up."

Kirby, police said, stated that Joyner went through Lepley's pockets and removed a wallent, which he stuck in Kirby's pocket, Joyner, according to the confession, received "about $30" and Kirby kept the balance of the money.

The two men implicated in the robbery, told police they met in Mt. Savage on the afternoon before the robbery and came to Cumberland where they visited several beer taverns. About 11:30 p. m., Kirby told police, they walked to the city limits at North Mechanic Street, and after standing there for a time, saw Lepley parking his truck.

Both men admitted they knew Lepley, but said they did not think he had recognized them. They were committed to Allegany County Jail in default of the bonds.

The pair was arrested by Trooper William McElfish, and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya, after two months of investigation.

Highways In Good Condition Now

Both State Police and the State Roads Commission reported Allegany County roads in "good shape" last night after sleet, snow and freezing rain made highway travel hazardous late Wednesday.

Roads generally are clear in Garrett and Washington Counties although they are icy in spots on the mountain, State Police reported, adding that chains are no longer necessary.

Pedertrians were having a tough time of it, however, on some Cumberland sidewalks, with walking on the slippery surface more dangerous last night than riding.

Hospitals reported treating several persons for minor injuries suffered in falls.

Most of the highway ice that disappeared yesterday was "chewed" by automobiles after State Roads Commission crews applied cinders, but pedestrians were out of luck because the weather did not warm up enough to cause melting.

The official weather observer reported only a one-degree variation in temperature yesterday, the mercury rising to 32 degrees—the freezing point—in the afternoon from an overnight low of 31. By 9:30 last night it had dropped back to 31.

The forecast for today is for warmer and continued moderately cold weather.

Plans Made By Five Civic Clubs To "Man" Salvation Army Kettles

To Solicit Funds On December 20

Preliminary plans for five civic organizations to "man" five Salvation Army kettles on Saturday December 20 were made at a meeting in the Citadel yesterday afternoon.

Maj. Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army here and representatives of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Exchange and Junior Association of Commerce, held a conference at which several details of soliciting funds to be used by the Salvation Army in its Christmas work were worked out.

It was decided that the various clubs will "man" the kettles on Baltimore Street on Dec. 20 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. with clubs soliciting at the same kettle throughout the day. The members of the clubs will work in shifts and at least two persons will be at the kettle at all times.

The clubs will "man" kettles at the following places:

LIONS CLUB—in front of Murphy's Store; KIWANIS CLUB—in front of People's Drug Store; ROTARY CLUB—in front of Cumberland Cloak and Suit Company Store; EXCHANGE CLUB—in front of Rosenbaum's Store and the JAYCEES, in front of Field's Millinery Store.

Signs showing the name of the club, which will also call attention to the Salvation Army Christmas work, will be placed at each kettle.

Members of the various clubs are making plans to present special attractions at their kettle to attract the attention of shoppers. Singing of Chrismas carols by individuals, quartets, choruses, etc will be a feature.

The enlarged Christmas program planned by the Salvation Army for the Cumberland area was presented for approval of the advisory board.

Grade Students Benefit By New Dental Program

Kopp Announces Modified Plans

A modified dental health program in Allegany County schools will result in the children in grades one and two receiving closer attention and more complete examinations, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The program which was reviewed recently by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, County Health Officer, Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the division of oral hygiene, and the superintendent of schools, was announced yesterday to teachers in the county.

The schedule initially calls for dental examinations in the first two elementary grades and then as far as possible in the remaining grades of elementary school.

Corrective work will be limited to children of the first two grades and then to emergency care in grades beyond that limit. The new program defines emergency work as cases of pain, extreme discomfort, or an acute infectious condition.

The selection of patients will be based by nurses on financial inability to secure corrections from private practitioners and on a ration of the nature of the aid required.

The new program further outlines practices to develop the more preventive phases and proposes that the past practice of according a small amount of time to each school in a nursing district be modified to the extent that each school be accorded dental clinic service either twice every three years or once every two years.

Depending on the amount of time available, however, dental examinations will be continued on an annual basis without promise of clinic service in the schools.

With the eventual availability of additional personnel the program will be expanded to give more corrective service and administer preventive measures through dental hygienists.

Corriganville Youth Is Still Unconscious

Critically injured in an automobile acident Sunday 11 miles south of Bedford, Pa., on Route 220, Roland Uplinger, 18, Corriganville, remained in a critical condition and unconscious for the fifth day yesterday at Timmons Hospital, Bedford. His skull was fractured when the car in which he was riding upset.

Leslie Bohrer, North Mechanic Street, listed by Pennsylvania police as the driver, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving too fast for conditions at a hearing before Justice of the Peace John Anderson, near Bedford, Sunday and paid a fine and costs totaling $13.00, State Police said, adding that further charges are pending the outcome of Uplinger's injuries.

Spur Bottling Works Franchise Is Sold By Renshaw To Malamphy Co.

Richard T. Renshaw, 1819 Bedford Street, who established the Spur Bottling Works here several months ago, said yesterday he has entered into an agreement with Edward Wolfe, operator of Malamphy Bottling Works, 218 Williams Street, for the sale of his franchise, good will and contracts, and has sold his equipment, trucks, bottles, etc., to a firm in Trenton, N. J.

Renshaw said he had an opportunity to liquidate the business at a time when it would prove advantageous to him to do so, and Wolfe said that Renshaw has established his product in the local trade to a point where he considers it an excellent addition to his present business.

The Malamphy Bottling Company was established by the late M. J. Malamphy in 1876, and in 1902 was taken over by the founder's brother-in-law E. L. Gooding. Wolfe, a nephew of Gooding, took over the business in September 1946, soon after returning from service in the Army. He was overseas 32 months.

Wolfe said he is employing some of Renshaw's salesmen and drivers, and stated that his organization, like Renshaw's will continue 100 per cent World War Veterans employes.

James Alfred Avirett, attorney, is handling the details of the sale, and said yesterday that in his opinion, both Renshaw and Wolfe have made a very satisfactory arrangements, beneficial to both. Renshaw said his plans for the future are uncertain, but he expects to enter some other business.

He said last night the sale of equipment to the Trenton, N. J. firm is effective at once, as is also the transfer of goodwill, franchise, distributorship, etc., to Wolfe. He stated he also plans to dispose of the bottling plant building, a 50 by 100 foot concrete block structure, at 116 Euclid Place, formerly the old King Barrell Factory building, which was remodeled into the bottling plant.

Teachers Forbidden To Take Gifts From Students In Allegany County

"A Christmas present for teacher," is taboo in Allegany County public schools, and Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, called principals' and teachers' attention to existing regulations to that effect yesterday.

Many years ago, Dr. Kopp said, on account of certain abuses and undesirable practices, the Board of Education passed a regulation forbidding the giving of Christmas presents to teachers by school children. Many embarrassing situations brought about the regulation, he informed the teachers.

Yesterday, Dr. Kopp recalled the regulation after announcing that "reports that have come to my office through parents whose children have been asked to contribute as much as a dollar for a teachers' gift," have led him to believe that the regulation is being violated.

"It thus seems necessary," Dr. Kopp explained, "to remind principals of the regulation which is on record and to ask teachers to see that it is put into practice."

Dr. Kopp explained later, that while he knows the children get a thrill out of giving presents to their teachers, he is opposed to the practice, because many children cannot afford to contribute and are thus embarrassed, or because many of the teachers are overlooked and also embarrassed.

When such practices are in effect, he stated, one student is trying to outdo another and one class is trying to make a better showing than another, causing an undesirable situation.

In making the announcement, Dr. Kopp said he is assuming that matters have developed in certain quarters to such an extent that gifts have already been purchased. In order that children may not be embarrassed, he declared, matters shall be allowed to stand as they are in certain schools, but in the future the practice is to be discontinued. Dr. Kopp did not name the schools he was referring to.

WHY YOUNG MEN SHOULD JOIN THE NATIONAL GUARD

By BETTIE MARIE BARNETT
Fort Hill High School

Editor's Note—More than a score of high school students in Allegany and Garrett Counties submitted entries in Mountain District American Legion Essay Contest, on the subject, "Why Young Men Should Join the National Guard."

The first prize of $25 was awarded to Miss Betty Marie Barnett, 223 Baltimore Avenue, student at Fort Hill High School. Her essay, chosen the best by the judges, follows:

"Every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government, owes not only a proportion of his property but even of his personal services to the defense of it."

We owe our existence as a nation to the tradition of service of our citizens. It was an army of citizen soldiers that George Washington led to victory in the American Revolution. At the end of that war, the first Congress asked General Washington to give his views on what the military policy of the ne wnation should be. The above quotation was his answer. The Father of our country knew the need of a Guard. It was not then known as the National Guard of today but that was where the idea was born.

Today the New National Guard gives every man an opportunity to give that personal service to his country and at the same time to advance himself. Not only do we need the National Guard as a defense for our country, but in National Guards all over the United States, men are being given the opportunity to study and learn the things that will help them advance in their cilivian jobs. They are finding fellowship which is a part of America itself. The National Guard makes a strong United States by helping to keep her men strong, physically and mentally, by providing every sport and recreation.

They also learn leadership, which is a quality this country needs. Democracy calls for leaders,—strong, clean, well-educated, who can guide our noble country to high hills of freedom in the years to come.

It is a privilege to belong to the National Guard. It is an honor to serve your country; no one should forget this fact. If we want to keep the peace, we must have a strong National Guard. Only while we remain strong enough to protect ourselves and other peaceful countries from aggressive nations will there be peace in this world. The National Guard is vital to our national defense and the defense of other weakened nations.

The pay is also a help to those who belong to the Guard, remuneration being based on the new Army pay scale. All veterans can obtain the same rank held on discharge.

I wonder how many of us have stopped to think what may have happened in World War II if it had not been for our National Guard? America was a country quite unprepared for wor except for ---"Our National Guard." If we had not had those brave men to go ahead while we were training an unprepared citizenry, this war might, indeed, have ended quite differently.

Need we ask why young men should join the National Guard? To serve one's country is rich reward at any time; to serve one's self at the same time is a dauble satisfaction. America is as strong as her people are strong, and the National Guard truly insures that strength.

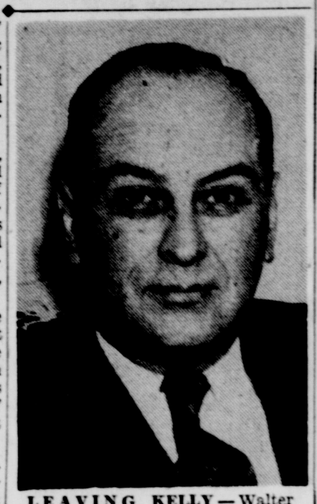
The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will nominate officers for the annual election at the monthly meeting to be held December 15 in the squad room of the Public Safety Building, Frederick Street, according to an announcement by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, secretary.



LEAVING KELLY—Walter Schack, a member of the engineering department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, has resigned effective December 19 to become assistant general manager of the Cumberland Home Insulation Company, starting December 22.

Schack Leaving Kelly Tire Co.

Walter Schack, 17 North Allegany Street, a member of the engineering department at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, has resigned effective December 19 to become assistant general manager of the Cumberland Home Insulation Company, starting December 22.

Schack came to Cumberland May 5, 1942, as one of four original key men with Mauran, Russell, Crowell and Mullgardt, architects and engineers of St. Louis, Mo., who served in the capacity of architect, engineer, management for conversion of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company to the Allegany Ordnance Plant.

After working with Mauran, Russell, Crowell and Mullgardt at both the Pinto and Kelly plants, Schack became associated with the Kelly Engineering Company which operated the ordinance plant.

When the Kelly plant returned to tire production Schack joined the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company staff.

Schack attended Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and has received training in the construction field in design, supervision, inspection, sales and contact work.

Labor Group Will Ask Passage Of Eviction Measure

An ordinance to require that until June 1, 1949, landlords give tenants 120 days notice before termination of tenancies, except in certain cases, will be presented for action of the Mayor and City Council, the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, reported last night.

The proposed ordinance, according to William Boyd Coleman, vice president of the labor council, would supplement an ordinance submitted to the city fathers this week which calls for municipal rent control upon the expiration of Federal controls February 29, 1948.

Union officials said they believe the emergency resulting from the acute housing shortage makes both of the ordinances necessary.

Union officials pointed out that the eviction ordinance would offer protections similar to those now offered by the Federal rent bill except that tenants would have 120 days to find a new home under the city law.

Coleman said he will present the suggested legislation formally to the Mayor and Council Monday.

Both the eviction and rent control ordinances would become effective simultaneously when Federal controls end if the council passes the measures, union officials said.

The Rent Control ordinance, although not a direct duplicate, is very similar to the ordinance passed in Baltimore city last June, Coleman said.

Scholastic Press Group Will Meet

BALTIMORE, Dec. 11 —(AP)—At least 22 faculty advisors of the Maryland Scholastic Press Association will meet here Saturday at 10 a. m. to take action on furthering the organization of the group.

President James C. Leonhart, director of publications at Baltimore City College, said the advisors will designate committees to draw up a constitution for the association, work for increased membership and to plan for next year's news writing tournament.

At the writing tournament held last month at College Park, Kenwood High School, of Raspeburg took first place over 29 other schools participating.

Miss Mary E. Murray of Allegany High School, Cumberland, is the association director.

Airport Proposals Will Be Given Council Monday

Graham Reconsiders Withdrawing Offer

A summary of bids submitted to the Airport Commission for operation of the city airport will be presented to the Mayor and City Council on Monday for consideration, Edmund S. Burke, chairman of the commission, said last night.

Meeting Wednesday night, the commission was unable to reach a decision on which of four bids submitted should be recommended to the Mayor and Council, and Burke announced that a summary of the bids would be submitted to the city officials along with the report the commission was unable to reach a decision.

Burke said last night that he already has conveyed this information to T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, and that the latter will present the information to the Mayor and Council on Monday.

Because of a split vote by the commission Wednesday, William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of Cumberland Airways, Inc., who had submitted a proposed offer which would provide the city with an estimated income of $5,000 annually, withdrew his proposal, but yesterday he advised Shires that he was not withdrawing.

In another development yesterday Valley Airways, York, Pa., announced through its attorney, Thomas B. Finan, that its guarantee proposal will be raised.

Graham told Shires he had been hasty in withdrawing and said he felt the Mayor and Councils should have the opportunity of considering in full all proposals. He said he is willing to post bond to provide assurance of the fulfillment of his proposed contract.

Finan said he is sending a letter for Valley Airways to the Mayor and Council offering a yearly guarantee of $3,250 instead of the previous $2,000 for the first year and $2,500 for the second. A choice for the city to take five per cent of the gross, if the latter figure is higher, remains.

While the Airport Commission did not arrive at a recommendation to be submitted to the Mayor and Council, the commission did oppose by a four to two vote city management of the airport.

It is likely, however, that the city will consider this possibility along with proposals of Cumberland Airways, Inc., Valley Airways, French School of Aviation, Inc., Baltimore, and Jenkins-Dela Grange Corporation, Cumberland.

This December To Date Is Piker When Compared To Last 35 Years

December, of course, is only a little more than one-third past, but to date the month is pretty much of a piker as far as warmth, cold, precipitation and snowfall are concerned in a comparison with official weather records of the past 35 years.

Starting with heat first, the warmest day so far this month is 61, recorded December 8, but this is 15 degrees lower than the record maximum temperature recorded December 5 and 6 in 1916.

Of the 35-year period in which records have been kept, there have been warmer days in 20 than the 61 recorded here on Monday. Two years have had December maximums of 61, and 13 have not had a maximum reading that high.

In the cold category, the lowest reading registered this month so far is 11, recorded December 1, and this figure is 17 degrees higher than the record December low of four below zero registered December 26, 1914 and 16 degrees lower than the five below registered December 20, 1942, and December 30, 1917.

Four years have had a low mark of 11, six have not been that cold and 25 have been colder.

Precipitation this month is far below the total for most years, but is running nip and tuck with the lowest rainfall ever measured.

To date, including the .03 of an inch of rain, snow and sleet from Wednesday, the total for this month amounts to .32. This com-

Income Tax Adjustment Regulation Is Pointed Out By Comptroller

Attention is called to a regulation on income tax adjustments by James J. Lacy, state comptroller, which he said should be of interest to a number of firms and individuals in Western Maryland.

The regulation provides that if "the Federal income tax payable by any taxpayer, subject to the jurisdiction of the State of Maryland is increased by any authorized department or agency of the Federal Government, or any changes are required by any such department or agency in the method of reporting income on the Federal income tax return of any such taxpayer, detailed information setting forth the amount of, and reason for the tax increases, or the nature of such change, must be submitted to the Comptroller within 30 days after knowledge thereof is acquired by the taxpayer."

Edward V. Welsh, field representative for Maryland, said the regulation simply means that taxpayers who have had to pay additional Federal income tax because of increased earnings, or taxpayers who have had Federal income tax liens placed against them, must also make arrangements to pay the additional state income tax due because of increased earnings etc.

Welsh, who is at the Algonquin Hotel, said he will furnish any information desired, regarding Maryland Income tax, and any forms or details needed may be obtained from him Wednesday and Thursday of each week.
